Johnson, 2013-02-11 Economic Evidence and Changing Nature of Urban Space in Late Antique Rome by Paul Johnson is an innovative study that focuses upon the relationship between the importation of amphora borne foodstuffs their distribution and discard within the City and what this tells us about changing uses of urban space between the 3rd and 6th centuries AD There have been a number of archaeological studies of late antique Rome in recent years most notably Roma dall antichit all alto Medioevo I and II as well as a long tradition of studies that have focused upon the pattern of imports to the City However the relationship between imported foodstuffs and the City as an urban unit has not been so well served Landscapes and Cities John R. Patterson, 2006-10-19 This book investigates the relationships between city and countryside in Italy in the early Empire using evidence from archaeology literary texts and inscriptions It stresses the diversity of situations across Italy with a focus on individual towns and regions as well as on the broader picture BOOK JACKET Household and City Organization at Olynthus Nicholas Cahill, 2008-10-01 Olynthus an ancient city in northern Greece was preserved in an exceptionally complete state after its abrupt sacking by Phillip II of Macedon in 348 B C and excavations in the 1920s and 1930s uncovered more than a hundred houses and their contents In this book Nicholas Cahill analyzes the results of the excavations to reconstruct the daily lives of the ancient Greeks the organization of their public and domestic space and the economic and social patterns in the city Cahill compares the realities of daily life as revealed by the archaeological remains with theories of ideal social and household organization espoused by ancient Greek authors Describing the enormous variety of domestic arrangements he examines patterns and differences in the design of houses in the occupations of owners and in the articulations between household and urban economies the value of land and other aspects of ancient life throughout the city He thus challenges the traditional view that the Greeks had one standard household model and approach to city planning He shows how the Greeks reconciled conflicting demands of ideal and practice for instance between egalitarianism and social inequality or between the normative roles of men and women and roles demanded by economic necessities The book which is extensively illustrated with plans and photographs is supported by a Web site containing a database of the architecture and finds from the excavations linked to plans of the site
