Transformative Religious Experience A Phenomenological Understanding Of Religious Conversion:

Transformative Religious Experience Joshua Iyadurai, 2015-04-30 What makes a priest of one religion become a preacher of another religion How could a person embrace a religion suddenly that he or she had up to then opposed Why would young women risk their reputation and endanger their lives for the sake of newfound faith How could an alcoholic detest a sip of wine all of a sudden What drives an atheist to become an ardent worshiper of God How could an intelligent person relate to God as to an adult human being Transformative Religious Experience answers these questions with fascinating narratives of conversion These narratives together show how the transforming effects of conversion permeate the daily lives of converts in a multireligious context Joshua Iyadurai analyzes psychologically the mystical turning point in the conversion process and finds that the divine human encounter entails a cognitive restructuring a new set of beliefs values and desires replaces previously held religious beliefs values and desires By drawing insights from the fields of psychology sociology anthropology and theology Iyadurai develops an interdisciplinary step model from a phenomenological perspective to explain the conversion process that incorporates the religious practices and social psychological factors while giving a central place to religious experience a Familiar Land James A. Blumenstock, 2020-04-28 Throughout history many Christians have existed on the margins of society deviants and strangers in lands they call home To survive they have had to construct alternate identities that not only make sense of their religious experiences and beliefs but also equip them to successfully negotiate their social worlds In Thailand a nation where social identities are thoroughly intertwined with Buddhist religious adherence Christians must come to terms with such a marginalized existence By leaving Buddhism and adopting what is considered a foreign faith Christian converts become deviants to normal Thai identity and belonging In response they have discovered creative solutions for traversing this complex terrain of marginalization This book presents a deep exploration of the phenomenon of marginalization as experienced by Thai Christian converts In it readers will follow participants through the heights of transformative religious experience the lows of severe social displacement the tensions of managing two disparate lifeworlds and two conflicting selves and the comfort and joy of finding a new place to call home In the end the reader will gain deep insight into what it is like to successfully navigate a minority religious identity on the margins of society
