English Language-Mediated Settings and Educational Inequalities Prashneel Ravisan Goundar,2025-03-17 In this book Goundar explores how educational inequalities are responsible for the way students perform in English language mediated school settings He seeks to establish an explicit connection between language testing and educational inequalities at the higher education level With its focus on higher education this research is a fresh reminder of the need to continuously revisit and unsettle inequalities that are embedded in education systems In the South Pacific context this study reveals the current issues including medium of instruction challenges lack of teaching and learning resources teacher shortages and language barriers Goundar s research seeks new answers to the problem of academic English language skills faced by undergraduate students Since English is a second language for the majority of students in Fiji and as the quality of education varies between urban and rural schools this cumulatively impacts students acquisition of English skills and consequently their university performance The important questions posed and addressed in this book are as follows What are the language implications of colonisation on education in the South Pacific What resources and learning opportunities are provided in schools to promote equal access to education content for students from non English speaking backgrounds How do students from different schooling backgrounds in Fiji cope with an English language mediated university learning environment Do educational inequalities manifest in the performance of students from all schooling backgrounds or are they confined to specific sociocultural zones Drawing on a unique dataset from a context in the Global South this book provides new insights for a more holistic approach to examining academic language proficiency and the use of language testing English Language mediated Settings and Educational Inequalities Language Education Policy Agendas in the South Pacific is suitable for postgraduate students in language policy and planning multilingual language policies for schools medium of instruction studies and language testing and South Pacific studies

Research Methods in Language Policy and Planning Francis M. Hult, David Cassels Johnson, 2015-04-27 This is the first volume exclusively devoted to research methods in language policy and planning LPP Each chapter is written by a leading language policy expert and provides a how to guide to planning studies as well as gathering and analyzing data Covers a broad range of methods making it easily accessible to and useful for transdisciplinary researchers working with language policy in any capacity Will serve as both a foundational methods text for graduate students and novice researchers and a useful methodological reference for experienced LPP researchers Includes a series of guidelines for public engagement to assist scholars as they endeavor to incorporate their work into the public policy process

‘The Village and the World’ Martin Mills, Nicole Mockler, Meghan Stacey, Becky Taylor, 2023-05-29 It has been argued that too much research is conducted for the world of education research and not enough for the village of particular educational institutions like schools In this edited book the authors reflect on what it means for teachers to be engaged in and with educational research What is happening in the village of schools and how is that related to what is happening in the world of educational research What might the distinction between the village and the world mean today and is it still a useful one The chapters in this book explore the prospects of teacher research in an age in which educational data proliferates often used for accountability and surveillance purposes and in which instrumentalist notions of evidence based practice dominate They consider contexts ranging from Initial Teacher Education through to ongoing teacher professional learning in schools This volume concludes with an argument for turning the conversation from research as an add on to something that can be should be and arguably is a central feature of the everyday work of teaching. It aims to envision positive futures for the kinds of villages and worlds that may be possible when enabling meaningful and rich research with, for, and by teachers. This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Teaching Education.
