

Green man in the garden

poem by Charles Causley | illustrated by Gregory Myers

Green man in the garden
Staring from the tree,
Why do you look so long and hard
Through the pane at me?

Your eyes are dark as holly,
Of sycamore your horns,
Your bones are made of elder-branch,
Your teeth are made of thorns.

Your hat is made of ivy-leaf,
Of bark your dancing shoes,
And evergreen and green and green
Your jacket and shirt and trows.

"Leave your house and leave your land
And throw away the key,
And never look behind," he creaked,
"And come and live with me."

I bolted up the window,
I bolted up the door,
I drew the blind that I should find
The green man never more.

But when I softly turned the stair
As I went up to bed,
I saw the green man standing there.
"Sleep well, my friend," he said.

To the Green Man Mark Jarman, 2004 This collection leaps into the dangerous currents where poetry and religion meet and enlivens the lexicon of traditional American Christian belief by testing its doctrines and language against contemporary experience Beyond the wonderful music of his lines what makes To the Green Man such an important and memorable book is its enactment of a spiritual struggle to be at once at home in the world and astonished by it Alan Shapiro Mark Jarman is a professor of English at Vanderbilt University in Nashville His book The Black Riviera won the Poets Prize and Questions for Ecclesiastes was a finalist for the National Book Critics Circle Award and won the Lenore Marshall Poetry Prize The

Walking With the Green Man Bob Curran, 2007-03-05 Almost since the dawn of time the image of the Green Man the carved enigmatic head surrounded by leaves and foliage has both intrigued and mystified viewers and folklorists alike Appearing in churches taverns and even on stately buildings the carving seems shrouded in supernatural obscurity Is it merely a fertility symbol or is it something much deeper which calls for a response from us all Though it seems a predominantly Celtic icon does the concept of the Green Man also appear in other places and in other cultures What is its relevance for the world today In an absorbing new book Dr Bob Curran traces the many strands that make up this enigmatic image Tracing its origins from prehistoric times he explores its significance in the medieval world and discusses its development in the modern world He also investigates the image's psychological appeal which has allowed it to continue down through the ages and pulling from a variety of sources its impact upon other cultures in various parts of the world From heroic archetypes such as Robin Hood to Demigods such as Herne the Hunter from the King of the Woods to the Jack in the Green Walking With the Green Man examines the interconnection of man and Nature throughout history Whether as a man amongst the trees a man of the trees or a symbol of Nature used to express secrets and solidarity the Green Man's visage is traced throughout lands and cultures Walking With the Green Man will appeal to all those who are interested in the image of the Green Man as an example of symbolic art as well as to those who are interested in folklore and the interplay between folklore and culture It is a fascinating study which not only examines the history of the icon but also its development within human perception

Green Man, Earth Angel Tom Cheetham, 2012-02-01 Green Man Earth Angel explores the central role of imagination for understanding the place of humans in the cosmos Tom Cheetham suggests that lives can only be completely whole if human beings come to recognize that the human and natural worlds are part of a vast living network and that the material and spiritual worlds are deeply interconnected Central to this reimagining is an examination of the place of language in human life and art and in the worldview that the prophetic religions Judaism Christianity and Islam presuppose If human language is experienced only as a subset of a vastly more than human whole then it is not only humans who speak but also God and the world with all its creatures If humans internal poetry and creative imaginations are part of a greater conversation then language can have the vital power to transform the human soul and the soul of the world itself
