popular by Pema Chodron and Chogyam Trungpa. For many centuries Indian and Tibetan Buddhists have employed this collection of pithy penetrating Dharma slogans to develop compassion, equanimity, lovingkindness and joy for others. Known as the lojong or mind training teachings, these slogans have been the subject of deep study, contemplation and commentary by many great masters. In this volume Traleg Kyabgon offers a fresh translation of the slogans as well as in-depth new commentary of each. After living among and teaching Westerners for over twenty years, his approach is uniquely insightful into the ways that the slogans could be misunderstood or misinterpreted within our culture. Here he presents a refreshing and clarifying view which seeks to correct points of confusion.

Indestructible Truth Reginald A. Ray, 2002-07-23 One of the most thorough yet accessible introductions to the Tibetan Buddhist worldview ever published. The author presents complex and sophisticated teachings and practices in nontechnical language using engaging stories and personal anecdotes to illustrate his points. Indestructible Truth presents Tibetan Buddhism in its traditional form but also shows how the Tibetan traditions are applicable to the problems and challenges of modern life in the West. In Indestructible Truth, Tibetan Buddhism is introduced not as an exotic religion but rather as an expression of human spirituality that is having a profound impact on the modern world. In addition, it presents the point of view of meditation and the practice of the spiritual life, paying special attention to contemplative practice and meditation as taught in the Kagyu and Nyingma schools.

Religious Identity and the Problem of Historical Foundation Judith Frishman, Willemien Otten, Gerard Rouwhorst, 2004-02-01 The essays collected in this book deal with the question how throughout the history of Christianity Christian communities have tried to construct their identity by anchoring their views in authoritative and normative sources. The main focus is upon the problem of historical foundation through textual traditions, but other authoritative sources, role of religious leaders, ritual traditions are taken into consideration as well. The book takes as its point of departure the fact that with the rise of modernity the former dependence of western church and society on authoritative sources was called into question Ever since appeal to such sources is no longer self evident at times it is even regarded as problematic Based on this radical change brought about by modernity the book is divided in two main parts The first part deals with the question how Christian churches and confessions Roman Catholic and Protestant confronted modernity and which role was played by authoritative sources in the tradition to the modern era Special attention will be paid to the way in which Judaism reacted to many of the same impulses both societal and religious ones The second part deals with the premodern period from early Christianity to the post Reformation era and focuses on the role authoritative traditions textual or otherwise have played in providing various Christian communities with a relative stable identity The aim of the book is to elucidate processes resulting in the formation of authoritative traditions as well as the effects of these traditions on the identity of Christian and Jewish communities In addition the book attempts to clarify the various ways in which Christian and Jewish communities have reacted to the growing suspicion authoritative traditions aroused in the western world since the rise of modernity
