enterprises to successfully cope with these challenges Workplace learning is a steadily growing field of educational research but it lacks so far a scholastic canon there is rather a diversity of research approaches This volume reflects this diversity by bringing together researchers from different countries and different theoretical backgrounds presenting their current research on topics that all are relevant for understanding presages processes and outcomes of workplace learning Hence this volume is of relevance for researchers as well as practitioners in the field and policy makers

Capable Workplace

Learning Len Cairns, John Stephenson, 2009-01-01 Capable Workplace Learning is about Capable people Capable Organisations and an underlying belief in the applicability of the concept of Capability to Work Place and Learning In this book Cairns and Stephenson present a case for the development of human Capability in life in work and in the lifespace They trace the development of the Capability concept arguing that it embraces and goes beyond competence They draw on over 35 years of experience of direct involvement in enhancing adult Capability through education at all levels Capability they also argue applies as much to organisations and working practices as it does to the individuals involved and call for synergy between organisational and personal capability Further the book presents a case that learning through work whereby people utilise their work experiences and activities as the opportunity process place and content of what they are learning whilst they are working has they suggest established itself as a creditable way of looking at the knowledge development we all encounter and engage with whilst working The authors explore a range of examples of Capable practice in business and higher education and present a number of portraits of individuals whose lifework personifies the Capability at work concept In addition they suggest governments should go beyond the rather narrow aspiration of raising skills levels to encouraging more people to experience formulating and solving the problem of their own development

Improving Workplace

Learning by Teaching Literature Christine Angela Eastman, 2016-04-19 This book investigates the integration of literary writing into work based or business writing It proposes ways of how to help people with considerable work experience use literature to engage with the problems they face in their work Many people like to read for pleasure but their skills in reading could always be improved This book makes an original contribution to the fields of education work based learning and business by encouraging students to explore history memoir fiction and non fiction to model their own writing and widen their knowledge beyond the work place and their customary reading Inside are onsite experiments with fiction and non fiction prose that show how people in the workplace respond and grow from contact with significant literature and culture that relates broadly to their work As a Coaching Master s student observes I have not been a prolific reader It has been a weakness and a gap I have probably read more in the last year during the project course than I have read in the past twenty years So that says something My ability to attend to what in a book has weight or relevance has markedly improved In the past I banked largely on my opinions because not being a prolific reader I had to It can be incredibly empowering to see that there are so many assets outside of my own mind When something comes up now I tend to weigh it I am more specific about
