Patents for Development Nefissa Chakroun,2016-05-27 When submitting patent applications patentees are disclosing huge amounts of technical knowledge that can be utilised for development This book investigates whether it is possible to execute the disclosed technologies just by reading the patent application Nefissa Chakroun argues that while TRIPS Agreement obliges inventors to disclose full and complete disclosure patent information users lack the capacity to fully utilise such information for their economic development Scrutinising the disclosure and the development function of the patent system the book offers a critical analysis of the disclosure requirements of the patent system and an in depth examination of ways of accessing and retrieving patent information Chakroun articulates proposals for strengthening the disclosure and methods for enhancing retrieval and exploitation of the technological knowledge including an integrated policy on how patent information could be better utilised for development A plea for patent information as a significant source for development this book is not only a valuable contribution to the literature but designed for policymakers at international and national levels to address core issues related to the exploitation of patent information for incremental innovation
