To Be A Hero Literature And Thought:

Evil: A History in Modern French Literature and Thought Damian Catani, 2013-02-14 In this original interdisciplinary approach to evil in French literature Damian Catani links literary depictions of evil with cultural events to chart a history of the concept in some of the most important texts in modern literature Beginning with Balzac and Baudelaire Catani covers the restoration and the Second Empire before interpreting how Catholic stereotypes of the evil feminine and new scientific theories impacted the work of Lautréamont and Zola Moving into the twentieth century evil is then explored in terms of the Self power knowledge and politics through readings of Proust Celine Sartre and Foucault By seamlessly bringing together aesthetic philosophical historical and ideological concerns to read key French writers from the 18th to the 21st century this study argues why a broader treatment of literary evils is vital to understanding our contemporary moral and political climate

The Mirror of Literature, Amusement, and Instruction Thomas Byerly, John Timbs, 1838 The Mirror of Literature, Amusement, and Instruction, 1837 Containing original essays historical narratives biographical memoirs sketches of society topographical descriptions novels and tales anecdotes select extracts from new and expensive works the spirit of the public journals discoveries in the arts and sciences useful domestic hints etc etc etc The Victorian Frame of Mind, 1830-1870 Walter E. Houghton, 2014-10-29 It is now forty years Walter Houghton writes since Lytton Strachey decided that we knew too much about the Victorian era to view its culture as a whole Recently the tide has turned and the Victorians have been the subject of sympathetic period pieces critical and biographical works and extensive studies of their age but the Victorian mind itself remains blurred for us a bundle of various and often paradoxical ideas and attitudes Mr Houghton explores these ideas and attitudes studies their interrelationships and traces their simultaneous existence to the general character of the age His inquiry is the more important because it demonstrates that to look into the Victorian mind is to see some of the primary sources of the modern mind The Mirror of Literature, Amusement, and Instruction: containing Original Essays, 1838 A Study of Vladimir Nabokov's Cosmopolitan Literary Thoughts Wang Xiaoling, 2024-12-16 This book explores Vladimir Nabokov's literary thoughts which blend Russian traditions American values European heritage and multiculturalism manifesting the cosmopolitan character of his writings and aesthetic ideas Nabokov's literary thoughts and writings inherit the legacies of various cultural traditions This book explores four major facets of Nabokov's intellectual and artistic origins Russianness Americanness Europeanness and multiculturalism It discusses his affinity with major trends in twentieth century literary theory including Russian formalism Bakhtinian poetics New Criticism aestheticism psychoanalysis feminism postcolonialism and cultural identity It also shows how Nabokov developed these ideas in his own unique way In addition this study provides a cross cultural overview of his reception and influence in China comparing his works and thoughts with several Chinese authors This further illustrates the cosmopolitanism of his literary thought and the inclusiveness of his concept of world literature This study helps to better understand Nabokov's ideas and writings in a broader context and also to discover innovative approaches to the communication integration and complementarity of Western and Eastern literatures and cultures This book will appeal to literature scholars students and anyone interested in Nabokov studies literary theory American literature world literature and comparative literature

The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1857 The German Mind as Reflected in Their Literature from 1870 to 1914 Fanny Johnson, 1922 Thinking and Learning through Children's Literature Miriam G. Martinez, Junko Yokota, Charles Temple, 2017-04-18 Much of teachers attention these days is focused on having students read closely to ferret out the author's intended meaning and the devices used to convey that meaning But we cannot forget to guide students to have moving engagements with literature because they need to make strong personal connections to books of merit if they are to become the next generation of readers literate people with awareness of and concern for the diversity of human beings around them and in different times and places Fortunately guiding both students personal engagement with literature and their close reading to appreciate the author's message and craft are not incompatible goals This book enthusiastically and intelligently addresses both imperatives first surveying what is gained when students are immersed in literature then celebrating and explicating the main features of literature students need to understand to broaden their tastes and deepen their engagement at the same time they meet external standards then presenting a host of active methods for exploring all major genres of children's books and finally presenting suggestions for interdisciplinary teaching units grounded in literature Created by noted leaders in the fields of children's literature and literacy the book is enlivened by recurring features such as suggested reading lists issues for discussion links to technology and annotations of exemplary books

The Cambridge Companion to Nineteenth-Century American Literature and Politics John D. Kerker, 2025-03-13 This volume addresses the political contexts in which nineteenth century American literature was conceived consumed and criticized It shows how a variety of literary genres and forms such as poetry drama fiction oratory and nonfiction engaged with political questions and participated in political debate

Saturday Review of Literature, 1924 Does Literature Think? Stathis Gourgouris, 2003 What is the process by which literature might provide us with access to knowledge and what sort of knowledge might this be The question is not simply whether literature thinks but whether literature thinks theoretically whether it has a capacity without the external aid of analytical methods that have determined Western philosophy and science since the Enlightenment to theorize the conditions of the world from which it emerges and to which it addresses itself Suspicion about literature's access to knowledge is ancient at least as old as Plato's notorious expulsion of the poets from the city in the Republic With full awareness of this classical background and in dialogue with a broad range of twentieth century thinkers Gourgouris examines a range of literary texts from Sophocles Antigone to Don DeLillo's The Names as he traces out his argument that literature possesses an intrinsic theoretical capacity to make sense of the nonpropositional
