Identity and Experience at the India-Bangladesh Border Debdatta Chowdhury, 2018-06-28 The effects of the partition of India in 1947 have been more far reaching and complex than the existing partition narratives of violence and separation reveal. The immediacy of the movement of refugees between India and the newly formed state of Pakistan overshadowed the actual effect of the drawing of the border between the two states. The book is an empirical study of border narratives across the India Bangladesh border specifically the West Bengal part of India's border with Bangladesh. It tries to move away from the perpetrator state victim civilian framework usually used in the studies of marginal people and looks at the kind of agencies that the border people avail themselves of. Instead of looking at the border as the periphery the book looks at it as the line of convergence and negotiations the centre of the people who survive it every day. It shows that various social political and economic identities converge at the borderland and is modified in unique ways by the spatial specificity of the border thus forming a border identity and a border consciousness. Common sense of the civilians and the state machinery embodied in the border guards collide cooperate and effect each other at the borderlands to form this unique spatial consciousness. It is the everyday survival strategies of the border people which aptly reflects this consciousness rather than any universal border theory or state centric discourses about the borders. A bottom up approach is of utmost importance in order to understand how a spatially unique area binds diverse other identities into a larger spatial identity of a border people. The book's relevance lies in its attempt to explore such everyday narratives across the Bengal border while avoiding any major theorising project so as not to choke the potential of such experience centred insights into the lives of a unique community of people. In that it contributes towards a study of borders globally providing potential approaches to understand border people worldwide. Based on detailed field research this book brings a fresh approach to the study of this border. It will be of interest to researchers in the field of South Asian studies citizenship development governance and border studies.

Consumer Affairs and Customer Care Sri Ram Khanna, Savita Hanspal, 2020-09-21 The subject of this book explains the social framework of consumer rights and legal framework of protecting consumer rights that has evolved in India over the last three decades. It also explains the momentous changes in Indian consumer markets over this period as a result of economic liberalisation and provides an understanding of the problems consumers face in markets and the consumer detriment there from. It analyses the buying behavior of consumers as well as the phenomena of consumer complaints and the processes and systems to address them. The development of the consumer jurisprudence in settling consumer disputes in consumer courts under the Consumers Protection Act of 1986 and 2019 is examined in detail. Leading cases are used to explain important concepts. It also addresses the role played by quality and standardization in the market place and the roles of different agencies in establishing product and service standards. The student should be able to comprehend the business firms interface with consumers and the consumer related regulatory and business environment for major consumer
