

It is good to see ourselves as others see us. Try as we may, we are never able to know ourselves fully as we are, especially the evil side of us. This we can do only if we are not angry with our critics but will take in good heart whatever they might have to say.

James Joyce and the Phenomenology of Film Cleo Hanaway-Oakley, 2017-06-30 James Joyce and the Phenomenology of Film reappraises the lines of influence said to exist between Joyce's writing and early cinema and provides an alternative to previous psychoanalytic readings of Joyce and film Through a compelling combination of historical research and critical analysis Cleo Hanaway Oakley demonstrates that Joyce early film makers and phenomenologists Maurice Merleau Ponty in particular share a common enterprise all are concerned with showing rather than explaining the inherence of the self in the world Instead of portraying an objective neutral world bereft of human input Joyce the film makers and the phenomenologists present embodied conscious engagement with the environment and others they are interested in the world as it is lived and transcend the seemingly rigid binaries of seer seen subject object absorptive theatrical and personal impersonal This book re evaluates the history of body and spectator focused film theories placing Merleau Ponty at the centre of the discussion and considers the ways in which Joyce may have encountered such theories In a wealth of close analyses Joyce's fiction is read alongside the work of early film makers such as Charlie Chaplin Georges M li s and Mitchell and Kenyon and in relation to the philosophical dimensions of early cinematic devices such as the Mutoscope the stereoscope and the panorama By putting Joyce's literary work Ulysses above all into dialogue with both early cinema and phenomenology this book elucidates and enlivens literature film and philosophy
