Timor Leste The History And Development Of Asia's Newest Nation:

Timor-Leste Abraham Joseph, Takako Hamaguchi, 2014 Timor Leste The History and Development of Asia's Newest Nation is a study of how a small Asia Pacific nation has emerged from protracted conflict and successfully navigated a path to durable peace and sustainable development. Despite early setbacks, Timor Leste has made an amazing turnaround and today finds itself in a new era in which it will certainly continue its advance toward the goal of long-term stability and prosperity, leaving permanently behind the past that was once marked by a descending spiral of destruction. Yet a number of development challenges lie ahead for Timor Leste, particularly in strengthening human, institutional, and infrastructural capacities in the short to medium term and in transforming the national economy from oil-based to more diversified and better balanced in the longer run. Other countries may draw valuable lessons from Timor Leste's experience, especially those that are emerging from, as well as are currently affected by, conflict and instability. Such lessons would center on the questions such as management of natural resources, empowerment of the vulnerable, implementation of transparent and accountable governance, advancement of women, and mobilization of civil society and the public in general for democratization and the national development process.

Indigenous Spirits and Global Aspirations in a Southeast Asian Borderland Michael Rose, 2025-10-01 Over the past 40 years, life in Timor Leste has changed radically. Before 1975, most of the population lived in highland villages, spoke local languages, and rarely used money. Today, many have moved to peri-urban lowland settlements, and even those whose lives remain dominated by customary ways understand that those of their children will not. For the Atoni, Pah, Meto, of Timor Leste's remote Oecussi Enclave, the world was neatly divided into two distinct categories: the meto indigenous and the kase foreign. Now, matters are less clear. The good things of the globalised world are pursued not through rejecting the meto ways of the village or collapsing them into the kase but through continual crossing between them In this way the people of Oecussi are able to identify in the struggles of lowland life the comforting and often decisive presence of familiar highland spirits

National Power and International Geostructure Daniel Morales Ruvalcaba,Alberto Rocha Valencia,2024-04-18 This book addresses three innovative aspects for the study of International Relations first proposes a novel theoretical methodological framework for the study of national power and based on this a quantitative analysis technique is formulated that allows us to study the evolution of state power over almost five decades Second states play a fundamental role in the international system which is why the study of their roles in the world cannot be limited to old insufficient and contradictory categorizations Having new categories of states becomes an even more urgent task in the rapidly changing international order than it is today This book proposes nine categories of powers and states that cover all the countries that currently exist Third the international geostructure of world power is proposed which represents a new theoretical notion that helps to explain how the international insertion of states and their possibilities of action are conditioned by the unequal distribution of national power and by their structural positioning in the international system This book is for all students of International Relations academics and people who want to understand national power as a fundamental factor in relations between countries

Women and Politics in Southeast Asia Theresa W Devasahayam,2018-11-01 This book aims to contribute to the discourse on women and politics in Southeast Asia The chapters covering Indonesia Myanmar the Philippines Timor Leste and Singapore analyse the asymmetrical power relationships between the sexes and how power differentials between men and women play out in the realm of politics are a reflection of the power contestations women face with men in other spheres of everyday life Each chapter seeks to ask a different question in terms of where women viz men stand in the political landscape of their countries in an effort to answer the question of Where are the women in the gender trope in Asian politics While the chapters are primarily empirical as they delve into the challenges contradictions and conflicts Southeast Asian women encounter the main assertion is that womens struggles in the realm of politics are a result of having to operate within power structures created principally by men thereby producing barriers for women to enter politics on the one hand and to increase their numbers and widen their sphere of influence on the other Recognizing that Asian politics is dominated by men the question of how women have negotiated a value system that is inherently male centred and male controlled is also discussed The implicit narrative demonstrated in this book is that the political arena should not be considered in isolation from other arenas but instead is essentially a mirror of other arenas whether the home workplace nation and or global spaces each marked by power contestations between men and women and having a spill over effect on the other as well as shaping womens experiences in the political realm

International Law and the Reconceptualization of Territorial Boundaries Joshua Castellino, 2024-10-28 This book critically analyzes the state based regime of international law eliciting its colonial and decolonial origins and proposing a new sub regional basis for dealing with contemporary global challenges Since 1648 public international law has taken many steps to maintain peace and establish a just order The State is deemed central to each of these efforts Yet modern challenges such as environmental mitigation mass migration and the need to stimulate economic growth overwhelm the State Could a regional approach to these questions achieved in conjunction with strong sub national local governance establish a more effective framework for systemic change Drawing on a history of colonization and decolonization while scrutinizing decisions made about the imposition of the State on the basis of colonial boundaries this multidisciplinary work analyses why current challenges are unlikely to be adequately addressed through existing governance structures In response it advocates for a sub regional transnational approach drawing on analyses of pre colonial shared histories and contemporary population ethnographies unfettered by hegemonic boundary drawing The book argues that collaboration across such frontiers in the face of climate and other challenges may offer more feasible approaches to the pursuit of peace than the unquestioned maintenance of state based structures of inherited privilege This book will appeal to scholars and others with interests in international law
