Bronze Age Metalworking in the Netherlands (c. 2000-800 BC) M. H. G. Kuijpers, 2008 Almost fifty years ago J J Butler started his research to trace the possible remains of a Bronze Age metalworker's workshop in the Netherlands Yet while metalworking has been deduced on the ground of the existence of regional types of axes and some scarce finds related to metalworking the smith's workplace has remained elusive In this Research Master Thesis I have tried to tackle this problem I have considered both the social as well as the technological aspects of metalworking to be able to determine conclusively whether metalworking took place in the Netherlands or not The first part of the thesis revolves around the social position of the smith and the social organization of metalworking My approach entails a re-evaluation of the current theories on metalworking which I believe to be unfounded and one-sided They tend to disregard production of everyday objects of which the most prominent example is the axe The second part deals with the technological aspects of metalworking and how these processes are manifested in the archaeological record Based on evidence from archaeological sites elsewhere in Europe and with the aid of experimental archaeology a metalworking toolkit is constructed Finally a method is presented which might help archaeologists recognize the workplace of a Bronze Age smith Handbook of Dutch Church History Herman J. Selderhuis, 2014-12-10 Herman Selderhuis as editor of this volume has brought together a team of experts resulting in a unique approach since each chapter is co-written by a catholic and a protestant author who have all integrated the latest research results Each section begins with a brief historiographical overview The same time ecclesiastical events are always set within a greater framework of political social and cultural developments for which reason each author has taken the liberty to describe its own method The user will find in this book tables diagrams and illustrations Also many source texts are integrated in the narration These texts are intended to bring the described events and people closer to the reader and as it were to let them speak the words The name of the book as Handbook of the church history of the Netherlands immediately brings to mind three problematic complexes which are relevant to its user First there is the nature of a handbook that is intended to be a good tool but also has its limitations it stimulates and necessitates the use of further books Second the area The Netherlands is a plurality and that is also noticeable in its church history for each region town and village has its own church history Third the history of the church for sure is the most important aspect but this history can only be understood if it is described in the context of political and social developments Medieval Archaeology in the Netherlands J. Chronology and Evolution within the Mesolithic of North-West Europe Philippe Crombé, Joris Sergant, Mark Van Strydonck, 2020-06-12 Since its development in 1949 radiocarbon dating has increasingly been used in prehistoric research in order to get a better grip on the chronology of sites cultures and environmental changes Refinement of the dating sampling and calibration methods has continuously created new and challenging perspectives for absolute dating In these proceedings the focus lies on the contribution of carbon 14 dates in current Mesolithic research in North West Europe Altogether 40 papers dealing with radiocarbon dates from 15 different countries are presented Major themes are the technological evolution of lithic and bone industries changes in settlement patterns burial practices demography and subsistence human impact on the Mesolithic environment and the neolithisation process Some papers also deal with more methodological aspects of carbon 14 dating e g calculation of various reservoir effects the use of cumulative calibrated probability distributions and related techniques e g stable isotope analysis for palaeodiet reconstruction

Villa

Landscapes in the Roman North Ton Derks, Nico Roymans, 2025-10-01 This edited volume presents a synthesis of recent research on villas and villa landscapes in the northern provinces of the Roman world. It offers an original multi-dimensional perspective on the social, economic and cultural functioning of villas within the context of the Roman empire. Themes discussed include the economic basis of villa-dominated landscapes, rural slavery, town-country dynamics, the role of monumental burials in villa landscapes and self-representation and lifestyle of villa owners. This study offers a major contribution to the comparative research of villa landscapes and the phenomenon of regionality in Roman rural landscapes. Amsterdam Archaeological Studies is a series devoted to the study of past human societies from the prehistory up into modern times, primarily based on the study of archaeological remains. The series will include excavation reports of modern fieldwork studies of categories of material culture and synthesising studies with broader images of past societies, thereby contributing to the theoretical and methodological debates in archaeology.

De stinzen in middeleeuws Friesland en hun bewoners Paul N. Noomen, 2009 Het middeleeuwse Friesland telde meer dan vijfhonderd stinzen, verdedigbare stenen huizen. Ze waren zowel op het platteland als in de steden te vinden. Friesland kende geen centraal gezag en de Friese samenleving kan getypeerd worden als een vetemaatschappij. Iedere adellijke familie was genoodzaakt ten minste een eenvoudig verdedigbaar steenhuis te hebben. Hoewel het bouwkundig om bescheiden gebouwen ging, waren zij de steunpunten voor de heerschappij van de Friese edelen, de zogenaamde hoofdelingen. In dit boek wordt voor het eerst uitvoerig beschreven welke rol de adel en de stinzen speelden in de sociale, politieke en militaire geschiedenis van middeleeuws Friesland. Kaarten en illustratie ondersteunen de tekst. De bijgevoegde cd bevat een eerste inventarisatie van de afzonderlijke middeleeuwse stinzen per streek en per dorp. Er worden meer dan 500 locaties beschreven. Via de website van de Fryske Akademy zal deze inventaris geregeld worden aangevuld.

The First Millennium AD in Europe and the Mediterranean Klavs Randsborg, 1991-01-25 Modern archaeology, with its huge methodological repertoire, its interdisciplinary orientation and its rapidly expanding basis in excavations, is beginning to rewrite history and to reshape our views of the development of Europe prior to the present millennium. Archaeological evidence draws attention to processes on which the written record is silent or which were not fully appreciated by contemporaries in the literate centres. This book deals with the rise of medieval western Europe as the Roman Empire crumbled and the integration of hitherto barbarian societies into the new mainstream of European society. Archaeological material is the main focus, but information derived from written sources, especially those illuminating the economic and the associated social circumstances, is also taken into account.

Appendices: Persistent Traditions Luc W.S.W. Amkreutz, 2013-12-19 The adoption of agriculture is one of the major developments in human history. Archaeological studies have demonstrated that the trajectories of Neolithisation in Northwest Europe were diverse This book presents a study into the archaeology of the communities involved in the process of Neolithisation in the Lower Rhine Area 5500 2500 cal BC It elucidates the role played by the indigenous communities in relation to their environmental context and in view of the changes that becoming Neolithic brought about This volume contains the appendices to the thesis Persistent traditions A long term perspective on communities in the process of Neolithisation in the Lower Rhine Area 5500 2500 cal BC These constitute a comprehensive inventory of 159 mostly excavated archaeological sites in the Lower Rhine Area for which general characteristics were recorded Their analysis shows that the succession of Late Mesolithic Swifterbant culture Hazendonk group and Vlaardingse culture societies represents a continuous long term tradition of inhabitation of the wetlands and wetland margins of this area forming a culturally continuous record of communities in the transition to agriculture The site catalogue forms both an overview of and detailed introduction into the site based archaeology of this time frame After demonstrating the diversity of the Mesolithic the subsequent developments regarding Neolithisation are studied from an indigenous perspective Foregrounding the relationship between local communities and the dynamic wetland landscape the archaeological evidence regarding its regional inhabitation points to long term flexible behaviour and pragmatic decisions being made For the interpretation of Neolithisation this study offers a complementary approach to existing research Instead of arguing for a short transition based on the economic importance of domesticates and cultigens at sites the emphasis is placed on the persistent traditions of the communities involved New elements instead of bringing about radical changes are shown to be attuned to existing hunter gatherer practices By documenting indications of the mentality of the inhabitants of the wetlands it is demonstrated that their mindset remained essentially Mesolithic for millennia Armed Batavians Johan

Nicolay, 2025-10-01 This study explores the use and significance of Roman weaponry and horse gear from non military contexts in the eastern Rhine delta the territory of the Batavians Using a life cycle model for Roman soldiers the author interprets the large quantity of 1st century finds as personal memorabilia brought home by ex soldiers as a reminder of their 25 years of service symbolising their newly acquired veteran status Underpinning the research is an extensive inventory of militaria from urban centres rural settlements cult places rivers and graves presented in 96 plates The study not only presents a considerable body of unpublished data but also offers an intriguing perspective on daily life in the northern frontier of the Roman Empire with its closely interwoven military and civilian values Amsterdam Archaeological Studies is a series devoted to the study of past human societies from the prehistory up into modern times primarily based on the study of archaeological remains The series will include excavation reports of modern fieldwork studies of categories of material culture and synthesising studies with broader images of past societies thereby contributing to the theoretical and methodological debates in archaeology Palaeohistoria 41/42 (1999-2000) Institute of Archaeology, 2001-01-01 This work covers various topics relating to palaeontology Boeren, beemden, bossen en beesten in de Baronie van Breda
