Women Fielding Danger Negotiating Ethnographic Identities In Field Research:

Women Fielding Danger Martha K. Huggins, Marie-Louise Glebbeek, 2009-01-16 In a compelling exploration of an oft hidden aspect of qualitative field research Women Fielding Danger shows how identity performances can facilitate or block field research outcomes The book asks questions that are crucial for all women engaged in field research Do researchers enter their field site with a totally neutral identity Can a researcher's own identity be at odds with how interviewees see her Could a researcher be of the wrong gender sexuality nationality or religion for those being studied Must some of a researcher's identities be subsumed in certain research settings How much identity disguise is possible before a researcher violates research ethics or loses herself Together these questions inform the book's themes of the centrality of gender social and political danger the negotiation of identities and on site ethics Focusing on ethnographic research across a wide range of disciplines and world regions this deeply informed book presents practical to dos and technical research strategies In addition it offers unique illustrations of how the political geographic and organizational realities of field sites shape identity negotiations and research outcomes Understanding these dynamics the authors show is key to surviving the ethnographic field

Ethnography as Risky Business Kees Koonings, Dirk Kruijt, Dennis Rodgers, 2019-04-26 Ethnography as Risky Business Field Research in Violent and Sensitive Contexts offers a hands on critical appraisal of how to approach ethnographic fieldwork on socio political conflict and collective violence focusing on the global south The volume's contributions are all based on extensive firsthand qualitative social science research conducted in sensitive and often hazardous field settings The contributors reflect on real life methodological problems as well as the ethical and personal challenges such as the protection of participants research data and the ethnographic self In particular the authors highlight how risky ethnography requires careful maneuvering before during and after fieldwork on the basis of a situated ethics yet also point to the rewards of such an endeavor If these methodological ethical and personal risks are managed adequately the yields in terms of generating a deep understanding of and critical engagement with conflict and violence may be substantial

Disasters in Field Research Gillian H. Ice, Darna L. Dufour, Nancy J. Stevens, 2015-01-22 From ravenous ants and temperamental gear to debilitating illness and unpredictable politics field research can be fraught with challenges and opportunities for mishap Disasters in Field Research is your guide to what can go wrong while conducting fieldwork and what you can do to avoid or minimize the impact of unexpected events Ice Dufour and Stevens address the issues confronting both students and professional researchers as they embark on field research For example permits may be difficult to obtain or even revoked at the last minute Cultural differences and misunderstandings can disrupt data collection Equipment can be held up by customs or fail to work as expected The authors offer practical advice on preparing for such possibilities while active researchers from a wide array of disciplines relate in brief first person narratives their own encounters with disaster how they solved or failed to solve the problem and their recommendations for avoiding similar issues in the future Each thematic chapter concludes with strategies and suggestions for making the most of your preparations recovering from missteps and coping with calamity The result is an excellent companion book for field methods courses in a variety of disciplines and an excellent companion to carry with you into the field Routledge Handbook of International Criminology Cindy J. Smith, Sheldon X. Zhang, Rosemary Barberet, 2011-05-03 The Routledge Handbook of International Criminology brings together the latest thinking and findings from a diverse group of both senior and promising young scholars from around the globe This collaborative project articulates a new way of thinking about criminology that extends existing perspectives in understanding crime and social control across borders jurisdictions and cultures and facilitates the development of an overarching framework that is truly international The book is divided into three parts in which three distinct yet overlapping types of crime are analyzed international crime transnational crime and national crime Each of these perspectives is then articulated through a number of chapters which cover theory and methods international and transnational crime analyses and case studies of criminology and criminal justice in relevant nations In addition questions placed at the end of each chapter encourage greater reflection on the issues raised and will encourage young scholars to move the field of inquiry forward This handbook is an excellent reference tool for undergraduate and graduate students with particular interests in research methods international criminology and making comparisons across countries Women Fielding Danger Martha Knisely Huggins, Marie-Louise Glebbeek, 2009 In a compelling exploration of an oft hidden aspect of qualitative field research Women Fielding Danger shows how identity performances can facilitate or block field research outcomes The book asks questions that are crucial for all women engaged in field research Do researchers enter their field site with a totally neutral identity Can a researcher's own identity be at odds with how interviewees see her Could a researcher be of the wrong gender sexuality nationality or religion for those being studied Must some of a researcher's identities be subsumed in certain research settings How much identity disguise is possible before a researcher violates research ethics or loses herself Together these questions inform the book's themes of the centrality of gender social and political danger the negotiation of identities and on site ethics Focusing on ethnographic research across a wide range of disciplines and world regions this deeply informed book presents practical to dos and technical research strategies In addition it offers unique illustrations of how the political geographic and organizational realities of field sites shape identity negotiations and research outcomes Understanding these dynamics the authors show is key to surviving the ethnographic field At the center Vasilikie (Vicky) Demos, Marcia Texler Segal, 2015-08-24 This volume reflects on how the study of gender has changed and how studying gender has affected our research methods and our knowledge of the world around us The interdisciplinary nature of gender studies and the cross pollination of theoretical perspectives are illustrated as is the globalization of gender theory research and policies Red Stamps and Gold Stars Sarah Turner, 2013-06-01 Red Stamps and Gold Stars brings together all the messiness compromise and ethical dilemmas that underscore fieldwork in upland socialist Asia and elsewhere in the Global South These challenges can range from how to gain research access to politically sensitive border regions to helping informants turned friends access appropriate health care to reflections on how to best represent ethnic minority voices The volume s contributors accomplished geographers anthropologists and ethnohistorians foreground the importance of questioning one s subjective gaze and of debating representations of the other New Books on Women, Gender and Feminism ,2011 New Books on Women and Feminism ,2011 The British National

Bibliography Arthur James Wells,2009 Abstracts of the Annual Meeting -- American Anthropological Association American Anthropological Association,2005 The Ethnographic Self Amanda Coffey,1999-03-28 What are the relationships between the self and fieldwork How do personal emotional and identity issues impact upon working in the field This book argues that ethnographers and others involved in fieldwork should be aware of how fieldwork research and ethnographic writing construct reproduce and implicate selves relationships and personal identities All too often research methods texts remain relatively silent about the ways in which fieldwork affects us and we affect the field The book attempts to synthesize accounts of the personal experience of ethnography In doing so the author makes sense of the process of fieldwork research as a set of practical intellectual and emotional accomplishments The book is Transdisciplinary Ethnography in India Rosa Maria Perez,Lina M. Fruzzetti,2021-08-18 This book familiarises readers with a new way to treat the subject of gender foregrounding the real voices of women their experiences doing ethnographic work and their courage in sharing their stories publicly for the first time in the context of India A useful companion to more theory based anthropological studies the book connects ethnographic data to what eventually becomes theories formed from the field Chapters by women from a variety of disciplines Anthropology Literary and Translation studies Political Sciences transcend the academic boundaries between social sciences and humanities The book shows how the researchers navigate in the field write in ways that defy their academic life and work and call into question their narrative voice The book presents a space for women to reflect on their individual themes of research and at partially filling the vacuum mentioned above the silences of women s voices and expressions The experiences described in the chapters differ both along the divide of a native and a non native fieldworker and along different disciplinary fields but they share the experience of a long term fieldwork in India and the need to self reflect on the impact of this experience on the way the field is represented on the people encountered in the field on the way the field impacted on the fieldworker The book is a useful presentation of how female researchers act in the field as women and scholars Filling a gap in the existing literature of ethnographic research methods the book will be of interest to students and researchers interested in the fields of Gender Studies Social Work Sociology Anthropology and Asian Studies The Space Between Us Cynthia Cockburn,1998-10 In this original study Cynthia Cockburn takes us into three war situations to reveal how certain women have quietly chosen to cross the space between their differences with words instead of bullets Negotiating Identities Nkechi Joanne Adeeko,2021 Gendered Fields Diane Bell,Patricia

Caplan, Wazir-Jahan Begum Karim, 1993 Examines and explores the progress of feminist anthropology the gendered nature of fieldwork itself and the articulation of gender with other aspects of the persona of the ethnographer
