describing their wealth and sophistication their willingness to trade with the West and their presumed capacity to become Christianized But by the end of the seventeenth century the category of whiteness was reserved for Europeans only When and how did Asians become yellow in the Western imagination Looking at the history of racial thinking Becoming Yellow explores the notion of yellowness and shows that this label originated not in early travel texts or objective descriptions but in the eighteenth and nineteenth century scientific discourses on race From the walls of an ancient Egyptian tomb which depicted people of varying skin tones including yellow to the phrase yellow peril at the beginning of the twentieth century in Europe and America Michael Keevak follows the development of perceptions about race and human difference He indicates that the conceptual relationship between East Asians and yellow skin did not begin in Chinese culture or Western readings of East Asian cultural symbols but in anthropological and medical records that described variations in skin color Eighteenth century taxonomers such as Carl Linnaeus as well as Victorian scientists and early anthropologists assigned colors to all racial groups and once East Asians were lumped with members of the Mongolian race they began to be considered yellow Demonstrating how a racial distinction took root in Europe and traveled internationally Becoming Yellow weaves together multiple narratives to tell the complex history of a problematic term
