Working Towards Inclusive Education Social Contexts By Mittler Peter :

Working Towards Inclusive Education Peter Mittler, 2012-06-25 This book provides a clearly written wide ranging overview of current key issues and challenges arising from the implementation of more inclusive policies and provision in education in this country and internationally The author sets policies for inclusive schools in the broader contexts of current policies which aim to reduce poverty and social exclusion and the wider global background of the United Nations drive to promote Education for All The book draws a distinction between integration and inclusion and provides a critical analysis of the government's Program of Action and the revised National Curriculum and their implications for schools pupils and families

Socializing Justice Clara Sabbagh, 2023 This book offers a comprehensive view of the numerous roles of justice in three education spheres public and globalized schools nonformal education and the family It relies on the quantitative and ethnographic methodological traditions in these fields to identify controversies and illustrate how the forms of justice underlying educational spheres are universal yet sensitive to sociocultural variation

How Shall We Then Care? Paul Shotsberger, Cathy Freytag, 2020-01-21 Though much has been written about ethic of care and its importance in education little is available to guide Christian educators who desire to demonstrate a disposition of care toward self learners colleagues and community As this book makes clear a Christian ethic of care serves to illuminate our relationship with God while also helping to flesh out what care looks like in various contexts including and especially teaching and teacher education How Shall We Then Care invites engagement with questions not just about what teachers should know about care but about how they are to care for those in their circle of influence what it means to care what counts as care what practices nurture care and how care is experienced The authors are teachers and teacher educators who like you have struggled to find answers to these questions The settings for these explorations span the spectrum from K 12 classrooms to Christian and public higher education covering issues such as trauma informed classroom practice the use of role playing games for teaching ethics the transition from teacher candidate to novice teacher the crucial interface between care and inclusive education and the vital role empathy plays in educational care

Teaching in Tension Frances Vavrus, Lesley Bartlett, 2013-06-13 In recent years international efforts to improve educational quality in sub Saharan Africa have focused on promoting learner centered pedagogy However it has not flourished for cultural economic and political reasons that often go unrecognized by development organizations and policymakers This edited volume draws on a long term collaboration between African and American educational researchers in addressing critical questions regarding how teachers in one African country Tanzania conceptualize learner centered pedagogy and struggle to implement it under challenging material conditions One chapter considers how international support for learner centered pedagogy has influenced national policies Subsequent chapters utilize qualitative data from classroom observations interviews and focus group discussions across six Tanzanian secondary schools to examine how such policies shape local practices of professional development inclusion gender and classroom discourse In addition the volume presents an analysis of the benefits and challenges of international research between Tanzanian and U S scholars illuminating the complexity of collaboration as it simultaneously presents the outcome of joint research on teachers beliefs and practices The chapters conclude with questions for discussion that can be used in courses on international development social policy and teacher education This volume written by a multi national team of scholar practitioners makes an important contribution to our understanding of learner centered teaching and collaborative educational research Based on an intensive investigation in Tanzania of a professional development program and teachers efforts to conceptualize and implement a globally promoted pedagogical approach the authors illustrate and critically analyze how these practices are enabled and constrained by cultural lenses power relations and material conditions Importantly they also examine reflexively how cultural power and resource issues shaped their struggle to engage in a collective praxis of qualitative inquiry The tensions referenced in the title sparked valuable insights which will be useful to educators researchers and policy makers Mark Ginsburg FHI 360 and Teachers College Columbia University

Indigenous Philosophies of Education Around the World John Petrovic, Roxanne M. Mitchell, 2018-01-12 This volume explores conceptualizations of indigeneity and the ways that indigenous philosophies can and should inform educational policy and practice Beginning with questions and philosophies of indigeneity itself the volume then covers the indigenous philosophies and practices of a range of communities including Sami Maori Walpiri Navajo and Kokama peoples Chapter authors examine how these different ideals can inform and create meaningful educational experiences for communities that reflect indigenous ways of life By applying them in informing a philosophy of education that is particular and relevant to a given indigenous community this study aims to help policy makers and educational practitioners create meaningful educational experiences

Inclusion and Diversity in Education: Inclusive pedagogy in curricula and classrooms Peter Hick, Gary Thomas, 2009 This 4 volume set brings together seminal articles and key writings on the theme of inclusion and diversity in education The collection takes disability and special educational need as a starting point from which to develop a broader focus on a range of themes relating to learners who may be marginalised from educational opportunities This includes for example members of minority ethnic communities students excluded from schools or who are looked after in public care and other dimensions of exclusion arising from social class gender or sexuality The starting point for understanding inclusive education lies in social justice perspectives and this forms the basis for the first volume Volumes two and three focus on research aimed at developing more inclusive practices both at the levels of schools and school systems and at the levels of inclusive pedagogy enacted in the classroom and through the curriculum Volume four reflects the range of voices in research on inclusive education drawing on traditionally marginalised voices and those of learners in particular Three cross cutting themes are represented across all four volumes a chronological approach showing how key concepts and perspectives have developed in each area of the literature identified groups of learners developing more nuanced readings of how processes of exclusion and inclusion intersect dimensions such as disability class and race and contexts for learning such as urban education and global or comparative perspectives
