References UNEP Year Book 2009 United Nations,2009-02 UNEP Year Book 2009 New Science and Developments in our Changing Environment presents work in progress on scientific understanding of global environmental change as well as foresight about possible issues on the horizon The aim is to raise awareness of the interlinkages among environmental issues that can accelerate the rates of change and threaten human wellbeing The chapters of the Year Book track the same trajectory as our awareness of environmental change Transformations are inherent to this trajectory and are taking place on many fronts from industrial agriculture to eco agriculture from a wasteful society towards a resource efficient one and from a triad of competing interests among civil society the private sector and governments to a more cooperative model based on mutual benefits UNEP Yearbook 2009 United Nations Environment Program (UNEP),2009 The Stationery Office Agency Catalogue 2009 Stationery Office,2010-07-28 No public library discount on this title Cambio climático, diversidad biológica y cultura ,2011 UNEP Year Book 2011 ,2011 The 8th Edition of the UN Environment Programme flagship report The UNEP Year Book 2011 examines global emerging issues and provides the latest environmental science it also highlights major environmental events and developments over the past year and presents the most recent data and indicator trends The ocean has become a global repository for much of the waste we produce Scientists are concerned that plastic debris in the ocean can transport toxic substances which may end up in the food chain causing potential harm to ecosystems and human health The Year Book also explores the wider implications of the use of phosphorus in food production Phosphorus is an essential nutrient whose supply is limited Since demand for fertilizer in agriculture rocketed in the 20th century large amounts of phosphorus are flowing into the environment New perspectives are also emerging on how biodiversity conservation can be integrated in forest management Forests are receiving increasing attention not least because of their role in climate change mitigation Halting loss of forest biodiversity is essential if forests are to adapt to mounting pressures including climate change and pest outbreaks The Year Book s overview of events and developments during 2010 shows how cutting edge science reveals new opportunities to mitigate climate change while improving air quality Stimulated by technological innovation and green investments renewable energy supply is growing rapidly This and other developments are summarized in key environmental indicators that present the latest data and trends For The global environment GEO Year Book ,2006 Overview of major global and regional environmental issues and development that shaped policy decisions and actions during the course of the year Emerging challenges new findings presenting scientific progress made in the year that may assist society in recognizing and better understanding emerging environmental issues and help decision makers in designing adequate responses GEO indicators highlighting some of the key global and regional environmental issues and trends that have been identified in GEO reports The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Publications,2015-09-10 The African continent is currently in the midst of simultaneously unfolding and highly significant demographic economic technological environmental urban and socio political transitions Africa's economic performance is promising with booming cities supporting growing middle classes and creating sizable consumer markets Despite significant overall growth the continent continues to suffer under very rapid urban growth accompanied by massive urban poverty and many other social problems These seem to indicate that the development trajectories followed by African nations since post independence may not be able to deliver on the aspirations of broad based human development and prosperity for all This report therefore argues for a bold re imagining of prevailing models in order to steer the ongoing transitions towards greater sustainability based on a thorough review of all available options That is especially the case since the already daunting urban challenges in Africa are now being exacerbated by the new vulnerabilities and threats associated with climate and environmental change
