abuse over recent years Global Perspectives on Women's Sexual and Reproductive Health Across the Lifecourse Shonali Choudhury, Jennifer Toller Erausquin, Mellissa Withers, 2017-09-19 This expansive survey spotlights pervasive issues affecting girls and women's sexual and reproductive health across the lifecourse. Research from diverse countries around the world analyzes the complex relationships among biological, psychological, sociocultural, and economic issues, particularly in terms of inequities as they shape women's lives. Major challenges and possibilities for intervention are examined in their national context and with their global implications, including child marriage, motherhood, reproductive care, and access to fertility, childbearing, contraception, abortion, HIV, STIs, gender-based violence, sexual pleasure, and menopause. In these forceful dispatches, a consistent human rights perspective emphasizes women's control, autonomy, and agency in all stages of their lives. A sampling of topics covered: Girl child marriage, a persistent global women's health and human rights violation; Investigating challenges and resilience among women living with obstetric fistula in Kenya; A qualitative exploration of mainstream and social media reflections on abortion; A continuum of severity of sexual intimate partner violence among black women in the United States; Economic empowerment to improve sexual and reproductive health among women and girls; Summarizing an interdisciplinary field on research and practical levels. Global Perspectives on Women's Sexual and Reproductive Health Across the Lifecourse will be an invaluable text for undergraduate and graduate courses in a wide range of fields, including public health, global health, women's studies, sociology, anthropology, gender studies, and human rights.

Gender, Transitional Justice and Memorial Arts Jelke Boesten, Helen Scanlon, 2021-05-17 This book examines the role of post-conflict memorial arts in bringing about gender justice in transitional societies. Art and post-violence memorialisation are currently widely debated. Scholars of human rights and of commemorative arts discuss the aesthetics and politics, not only of sites of commemoration but of literature, poetry, visual arts, and increasingly film and comics. Art, memory, and activism are also increasingly intertwined. But within the literature around post-conflict transitional justice and critical human rights studies, there is little questioning about what memorial arts do for gender justice: how women and men are included and represented, and how this intertwines with other questions of identity and representation, such as race and ethnicity. The book brings together research from scholars around the world who are interested in the gendered dimensions of memory-making in transitional societies. Addressing a global range of cases, including genocide, authoritarianism, civil war, electoral violence, and apartheid, they consider not only the gendered commemoration of past violence but also the possibility of producing counter-narratives that unsettle and challenge established stereotypes. Aimed at those interested in the fields of transitional justice, memory studies, post-conflict peacebuilding, human rights, and gender studies, this book will appeal to academics, researchers, and practitioners.
