Vision Science And Literature 1870 1920 Ocular Horizons Martin Willis:

Vision, Science and Literature, 1870-1920 Martin Willis, 2015-10-06 This book explores the Victorian concept of vision across scientific and cultural forms Willis charts the characterization of vision through four organizing principles small large past and future to arrive at a Victorian conception of what vision was Willis then explores how this Victorian vision influenced twentieth century ways of seeing Brewing Science, Technology and Print, 1700-1880 James

Sumner, 2015-07-28 How did the brewing of beer become a scientific process Sumner explores this question by charting the theory and practice of the trade in Britain and Ireland during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries The Age of Scientific Naturalism Bernard Lightman, Michael S. Reidy, 2016-02-19 Physicist John Tyndall and his contemporaries were at the forefront of developing the cosmology of scientific naturalism during the Victorian period They rejected all but physical laws as having any impact on the operations of human life and the universe Contributors focus on the way Tyndall and his correspondents developed their ideas through letters periodicals and scientific journals and challenge previously held assumptions about who gained authority and how they attained and defended their position within the scientific community

Science and Societies in Frankfurt Am Main Ayako Sakurai, 2015-07-28 Sakurai presents a study of how scientific societies affected the social and political life of a city As it did not have a university or a centralized government Frankfurt am Main is an ideal case study of how scientific associations funded by private patronage for the good of the local populace became an important centre for natural history Fear in the Medical and Literary Imagination, Medieval to Modern Daniel McCann, Claire McKechnie-Mason, 2018-05-19 This book is about an emotion constantly present in human culture and history fear It is also a book about literature and medicine two areas of human endeavour that engage with fear most acutely The essays in this volume explore fear in various literary and medical manifestations in the Western World from medieval to modern times It is divided into two parts The first part Treating Fear examines fear in medical history and draws from theology medicine philosophy and psychology to offer an account of how fear shifts in Western understanding from the Middle Ages to Modern times The second part Writing Fear explores fear as a rhetorical and literary force offering an account of how it is used and evoked in distinct literary periods and texts This coherent and fascinating collection will appeal to medical historians literary critics cultural theorists medical humanities scholars and historians of the emotions

Victorian Medicine and Popular Culture Louise Penner, 2015-07-28 This collection of essays explores the rise of scientific medicine and its impact on Victorian popular culture Chapters include an examination of Dickens's involvement with hospital funding concerns over milk purity and the theatrical portrayal of drug addiction plus a whole section devoted to medicine in crime fiction Visions of Electric Media Ivy Roberts, 2025-10-01 Visions of Electric Media is an historical examination into the early history of television as it was understood during the Victorian and Machine ages How did the television that we use today develop into a functional technology What did Victorians expect it to become How did the vision of television change once viewers could actually see pictures on a screen We will journey through the history of television from the first indications of live communications in technology and culture in the late nineteenth century to the development of electronic televisual systems in the early twentieth century Along the way we will investigate the philosophy folklore engineering practices and satires that went into making television a useful medium

Adolphe Quetelet, Social Physics and the Average Men of Science, 1796-1874 Kevin Donnelly, 2015-07-28 Adolphe Quetelet was an influential scientist whose controversial work was condemned by John Stuart Mill and Charles Dickens He was in contact with many Victorian elite including Babbage Herschel and Faraday This is the first scholarly biography of Quetelet exploring his contribution to quantitative reasoning and place in intellectual history

The Selected Works of Andrew Lang Andrew Lang, 2015 This is the first critical edition of the works of Andrew Lang 1844 1912 the Scottish writer whose enormous output spanned the whole range of late nineteenth century intellectual culture Neglected since his death partly because of the diversity of his interests and the volume of his writing his cultural centrality and the interdisciplinary nature of his work make him a vital figure for contemporary scholars This volume covers Lang's wide and influential engagement with the central areas of late nineteenth century anthropology Lang made decisive interventions in debates around the meaning of folk tales and the origins of religion as well as being an important figure in the investigation of spiritualist claims through psychical research The work reproduced here includes journalism essays extracts from books and previously unpublished letters which together articulate and challenge some of the central ideas and discussions of the period including evolution the relation between modern and non modern cultures the nature of scientific claims to truth and the consequences of materialism The volume will provide new and illuminating ways of understanding and assessing the period for scholars across a range of disciplines including those interested in the histories of the fairy story of science of the occult of colonialism and of anthropology
