Soulmates Juliana Geran Pilon, 2011-12-31 In Soulmates Resurrecting Eve Juliana Geran Pilon argues for a return to an egalitarian view of men and women found in the original Genesis narrative as reflected through Judaism Christianity and Islam In each of these Abrahamic traditions it was understood that man and woman were created to be soulmates in God's image equal despite their different functions within society Pilon writes that this original message has gradually been distorted with disastrous effect Any hope for an ennobling human community begins by resurrecting Eve as an equal partner to Adam The work examines the Biblical creation narrative comparing it to Greek and other ancient mythologies Pilon explains how the disturbing association of woman with sin and death led to Eve's demise as Adam's equal. The final section of the work deals with the Goddess myth, love and marriage in early religious narratives and modern man's search for his soul no less than for a soulmate. The book at its core is a meditation on the relationship between men and women but also among human beings. The resurrection of Eve is indispensable to attaining a true appreciation of love and faith. Pilon uses religious texts, expert commentary and various works of fiction, poetry and psychology to make her argument come alive. The work is strengthened by the writing style alternately poetic and humorous and a clear and illuminating progression of ideas. Its emphasis on reconciliation and understanding and its post-feminist outlook will find a receptive audience. Lost Enlightenment S.

Frederick Starr, 2015-06-02. The forgotten story of Central Asia's enlightenment, its rise, fall and enduring legacy. In this sweeping and richly illustrated history, S. Frederick Starr tells the fascinating but largely unknown story of Central Asia's medieval enlightenment through the eventful lives and astonishing accomplishments of its greatest minds, remarkable figures who built a bridge to the modern world. Because nearly all of these figures wrote in Arabic, they were long assumed to have been Arabs. In fact, they were from Central Asia, drawn from the Persianate and Turkic peoples of a region that today extends from Kazakhstan southward through Afghanistan and from the easternmost province of Iran through Xinjiang, China. Lost Enlightenment recounts how, between the years 800 and 1200, Central Asia led the world in trade and economic development, the size and sophistication of its cities, the refinement of its arts and, above all, in the advancement of knowledge in many fields. Central Asians achieved signal breakthroughs in astronomy, mathematics, geology, medicine, chemistry, music, social science, philosophy and theology among other subjects. They gave algebra its name, calculated the earth's diameter with unprecedented precision, wrote the books that later defined European medicine and penned some of the world's greatest poetry. One scholar working in Afghanistan even predicted the existence of North and South America five centuries before Columbus. Rarely in history has a more impressive group of polymaths appeared at one place and time. No wonder that their writings influenced European culture from the time of St. Thomas Aquinas down to the scientific revolution and had a similarly deep impact in India and much of Asia. Lost Enlightenment chronicles this forgotten age of achievement, seeks to explain its rise and explores the competing theories about the cause of its eventual demise. Informed by the latest scholarship yet written in a lively and accessible style, this is a book that will surprise general readers and specialists alike. A

Christian-Muslim Comparative Theology of Saints Hans A. Harmakaputra, 2022-09-19. In A Christian-Muslim Comparative Theology of Saints: The Community of God's Friends, Hans A. Harmakaputra focuses on a question that emerges from today's multi-faith context: Is it possible for Christians to recognize non-Christians as saints? To answer affirmatively, he offers a Christian perspective on an inclusive theology of saints through the lens of comparative theology that is based on the thought of Catholic, Protestant and Muslim theologians: Karl Rahner, Jean-Luc Marion, Elizabeth Johnson, Dietrich Bonhoeffer, Paul Tillich and Ibn Arab. As a result of this interreligious comparison, three theological constructs emerge: 1. saints as manifestations and revealers of God's self communication 2 the hiddenness of saints and 3 saints as companions These theological constructs redefine and reconfigure Christian understanding of saints on one hand and on the other hand provide theological reasoning to include non Christians in the Christian notion of the communion of saints

For God's Sake Antony Loewenstein, Jane Caro, Rachel Woodlock, Simon Smart, 2013-07-01 Four Australian thinkers come together to ask and answer the big questions such as What is the nature of the universe Doesn't religion cause most of the conflict in the world and Where do we find hope We are introduced to the detail of different belief systems Judaism Christianity Islam and to the argument that atheism like organised religion has its own compelling logic And we gain insight into the life events that led each author to their current position Jane Caro flirted briefly with spiritual belief inspired by 19th century literary heroines such as Elizabeth Gaskell and the Brontë sisters Antony Loewenstein is proudly culturally yet unconventionally Jewish Simon Smart is firmly and resolutely a Christian but one who has had some of his most profound spiritual moments while surfing Rachel Woodlock grew up in the alternative embrace of Baha'i belief but became entranced by its older parent religion Islam Provocative informative and passionately argued For God's Sake encourages us to accept religious differences but to also challenge more vigorously the beliefs that create discord

The Crisis of Islamic Masculinities Amanullah De Soudy, 2013-11-07 Rigid notions of masculinity are causing crisis in the global Islamic community These are articulated from the Qur'an its commentary historical precedents and societal religious and familial obligations Some Muslims who don't agree with narrow constructs of manliness feel forced to consider themselves secular and therefore outside the religious community In order to evaluate whether there really is only one valid ideal Islamic masculinity The Crisis of Islamic Masculinities explores key figures of the Qur'an and Indian Pakistani Islamic history and exposes the precariousness of tight constraints on Islamic manhood By examining Qur'anic arguments and the strict social responsibilities advocated along with narrow Islamic masculinities Amanullah De Sondy shows that God and women to whom Muslim men relate but are different from often act as foils for the construction of masculinity He argues the constrainers of masculinity have used God and women to think with and to dominate through and that rigid gender roles are the product of a misguided enterprise the highly personal relationship between humans and God does not lend itself to the organization of society because that relationship cannot be typified and replicated Discussions and debates surrounding Islamic masculinities are quickly finding their place in the study of Islam and Muslims and The Crisis of Islamic Masculinities makes a vital contribution to this emerging field
