Women Of The Passion A Novel:

The Passion of Women Sébastien Japrisot, 1990 Sébastien Japrisot is one of the most highly recognized French authors of his time and his novels have achieved major international success Set against the backdrop of World War II Women in Evidence is one of his most breathtaking works to date Marie Martine's lover is dead After many years battling to clear his name of a heinous crime she knows he didn't commit Marie has freed him only to invite his demise from the most unexpected corner His name was Christophe and he had many lovers besides Marie an actress a school teacher a prostitute a U S Army nurse a gypsy Though each has suffered grave hurt by his mercurial affections their forgiving remembrances captured by the loyal Marie are what save him from certain doom in the jailer's noose But which one could not forgive Which one fired the shot that killed Christophe leaving him to die on a deserted beach only moments after his pardon Japrisot expertly weaves the women's voices to piece together a story that though distorted by the contradictions of memory reveals valuable truths about love and human nature Women in Evidence is a rich and tragic tale of the extraordinary resilience of the female heart that is sure to be welcomed warmly by American readers

Novel Minds R. Tierney-Hynes, 2015-12-11 Eighteenth century philosophy owes much to the early novel Using the figure of the romance reader this book tells a new story of eighteenth century reading The impressionable mind and mutable identity of the romance reader haunt eighteenth century definitions of the self and the seductions of fiction insist on making an appearance in philosophy

Why Women Read Fiction Helen Taylor, 2019-12-05 Ian McEwan once said When women stop reading the novel will be dead This book explains how precious fiction is to contemporary women readers and how they draw on it to tell the stories of their lives Female readers are key to the future of fiction and as parents teachers and librarians the glue for a literate society Women treasure the chance to read alone but have also gregariously shared reading experiences and memories with mothers daughters grandchildren and female friends For so many reading novels and short stories enables them to escape and to spread their wings intellectually and emotionally This book written by an experienced teacher scholar of women's writing and literature festival director draws on over 500 interviews with and questionnaires from women readers and writers It describes how where and when British women read fiction and examines why stories and writers influence the way female readers understand and shape their own life stories Taylor explores why women are the main buyers and readers of fiction members of book clubs attendees at literary festivals and organisers of days out to fictional sites and writers homes The book analyses the special appeal and changing readership of the genres of romance erotica and crime It also illuminates the reasons for British women's abiding love of two favourite novels Pride and Prejudice and Jane Eyre Taylor offers a cornucopia of witty and wise women's voices of both readers themselves and also writers such as Hilary Mantel Helen Dunmore Katie Fforde and Sarah Dunant The book helps us understand why in Jackie Kay's words our lives are mapped by books
