Working Through Memory Ofelia Ferrán, 2007-11 Working Through Memory studies various constructions of memory in contemporary Spanish literature evoking different aspects of a past of repression from both the civil war and the Franco regime Ferr n analyzes narrative texts published between the 1960s and 1990s that present memory and the recuperation of a traumatic past as their main theme Drawing on a wide range of theoretical approaches to the study of memory this book examines how each text presents a meta narrative reflection of the very process of memory production of how it is written and rewritten recounted or repressed transmitted or forgotten Drawing particularly on trauma theory Ferr n argues that the analyzed texts provide effective models for what Freud called working through memory This process is shown to be effective as it unsettles dominant historical discourses in the present allowing for the pain and suffering of the victims of a traumatic past to emerge through various forms of narrative disruption and fragmentation

Memory and Trauma in the Postwar Spanish Novel Sarah Leggott, Ross Woods, 2013-12-11 In recent years much Spanish literary criticism has been characterized by debates about collective and historical memory stemming from a national obsession with the past that has seen an explosion of novels and films about the Spanish Civil War and Franco dictatorship This growth of so called memory studies in literary scholarship has focused on the representation of memory and trauma in contemporary narratives dealing with the Civil War and ensuing dictatorship In contrast the novel of the postwar period has received relatively little critical attention of late despite the fact that memory and trauma also feature in different ways and to varying degrees in many works written during the Franco years The essays in this study argue that such novels merit a fresh critical approach and that contemporary scholarship relating to the representation of memory and trauma in literature can enhance our understanding of the postwar Spanish novel The volume opens with essays that engage with aspects of contemporary theoretical approaches to memory in order to reveal the ways in which these are pertinent to Spanish novels written in the first postwar decades with studies on novels by Camilo Jos Cela Carmen Laforet Arturo Barea and Ana Mar a Matute Its second section focuses on the representation of trauma in specific postwar novels drawing on elements from trauma studies scholarship to discuss neglected works by Mercedes Salisachs Dolores Medio and Ignacio Aldecoa The final essays continue the focus on the theme of trauma and revisit works by women writers namely Carmen Laforet Rosa Chacel Ana Mar a Matute and Mar a Zambrano that foreground the experiences of female protagonists who are seeking to deal with a traumatic past The essays in this volume thus propose a new direction for the study of Spanish literature of 1940s 1950s and early 1960s enhancing existing approaches to the postwar Spanish novel through an engagement with contemporary scholarship on memory and trauma in literature Memory, War, and Dictatorship in Recent Spanish Fiction by Women Sarah Leggott, 2015-06-10 Memory War and Dictatorship in Recent Spanish Fiction by Women analyzes five novels by women writers that present women's experiences during and after the Spanish Civil War and Franco dictatorship highlighting the struggles of female protagonists of different ages to confront an unresolved individual and collective past. It discusses the different narrative models and strategies used in these works and the ways in which they engage with their political and historical context particularly in the light of campaigns for the so-called recovery of historical memory in Spain, the memory boom, and in the broader context of memory and trauma studies. The novels that are examined in this book are Dulce Chacón's La voz dormida (2002), Rosa Regés's Luna lunera (1999), Josefina Aldecoa's La fuerza del destino (1997), Carme Riera's La mitad del alma (2005), and Almudena Grandes's El corazón helado (2007). These works all highlight the multiple nature of memories and histories and demonstrate the complex ways in which the past impacts on the present. This book also considers the extent to which the memories represented in these five novels are inflected by gender and informed by the gender politics of twentieth-century and contemporary Spain.

Post-war Spanish Women Novelists and the Recuperation of Historical Memory Patricia O'Byrne, 2014. Reconstructs through testimonial literature the repression of women during the Franco years and recovers the writings of some of the forgotten post-war women novelists. The passing of Spain's Law of Historical Memory (2007) marked the official recognition of the need to confront a violent and painful past. Article 2 makes reference to specific groups who experienced discrimination, including religious and ethnic communities; no reference is made to the gender repression endured by women enforced by a patriarchal regime through its legislation and policies, with the active support of the Church and the Women's Section of the Falange. Revised narratives of the period that have emerged in recent decades have raised issues in relation to the reliability and selectivity of memory and its ongoing mediation by intervening events. While documentary sources of the period are prejudicial, contemporaneous post-war testimonial novels provide an invaluable resource in reconstructing the past, particularly the novels of women writers. This book draws on their narrative to reconstruct the female experience of the post-war years and, in particular, on the writings of novelists whose work has undeservedly been disregarded. Neither the experience of women under Franco nor the narrative of women writers of the period should be forgotten. Patricia O'Byrne lectures in Hispanic Studies and Comparative Literature at Dublin City University.

Posttraumatic Culture in Spanish and Latin American Theater Henry James Morello, 2025-01-18. In the twentieth century, Argentina, Chile, and Spain suffered dictatorships marked by disappearances, torture, and murder, which left wounds that, in some cases, have yet to heal. Moving these public wounds into the realm of performance, many playwrights sought to address these national traumas by creating what I call posttraumatic theater. This book argues that these plays attempt to represent national crises by taking on stylistic features that mimic the symptoms of posttraumatic stress disorder. Drawing on trauma studies, clinical psychology, and neuroscience, Masking the Past examines the commonalities in posttraumatic theater to create a coherent theoretical foundation by which we can explore other cultural products that arise in response to traumatic events

Memory and Postwar Memorials M. Silberman, F. Vatan, 2013-12-04 The twentieth century witnessed genocides ethnic cleansing forced population expulsions shifting borders and other disruptions on an unprecedented scale This book examines the work of memory and the ethics of healing in post authoritarian societies that have experienced state perpetrated violence

Public Humanities and the Spanish Civil War Alison Ribeiro de Menezes, Antonio Cazorla-Sánchez, Adrian Shubert, 2018-12-12 This interdisciplinary collection of essays examines contemporary public history s engagement with the Spanish Civil War The chapters discuss the history and mission of the main institutional archives of the war contemporary and forensic archaeology of the conflict burial sites the affordances of digital culture in the sphere of war memory the teaching of the conflict in Spanish school curricula and the place of war memory within human rights initiatives Adopting a strongly comparative focus the authors argue for greater public visibility and more nuanced discussion of the Civil War s legacy positing a virtual museum as one means to foster dialogue

Memory and Identity in the Narratives of Soledad Puértolas Tamara L. Townsend, 2014-09-09 Narratives of contemporary Spanish writer Soledad Puértolas 1947 inducted into the Real Academia Española in 2010 depict the psychological struggles of the individual in postmodern democratic European society Puértolas s realist style emphasizes storytelling and character portrayal and her urban middle class characters seek satisfying interactions with others and a sense of purpose Memory aids characters in their quest for meaning and identity and their use of memory reveals their self perception and outlook on life This book maps four ways in which Puértolas s narratives use memory to approach the fundamental problem of the individual s search for purpose and identity Some characters are burdened by memory in certain texts especially Das del Arenal 1992 and Burdeos 1986 Reflection upon a painful self defining memory affects their present mood and behavior For some this burden causes them to withdraw or to act irresponsibly others accept and overcome the scars of the past A second type of character takes an escapist approach to memory as seen in Queda la noche 1989 Their nostalgic retreat indicates a restless dissatisfaction with the present In a third type of memory a secondary character provides the organizing force behind a protagonist s reminiscences often an extroverted foil to highlight the protagonist s introspective nature Memory of the relationship motivates the protagonist to mentally order his or her own life through the life review process Una vida inesperada 1997 and La se ora Berg 1998 provide examples Finally in the amnesic mode Puértolas departs from realism to experiment with different forms of amnesia as in La rosa de plata 1999 and Si al atardecer llegara el mensajero 1995 Memory loss highlights the centrality of memory to personhood and identity while at the same time it draws attention to the inadequacy of memory to explain the totality of existence
