T.C. Boyle's "The Tortilla Curtain": Urban Conditions, Racism, and Ecological Disaster in Fortress Los Angeles Laura Schomaker, 2015-02-01 Los Angeles is famous for its sunny weather for the Hollywood film studios and for being the residence of the rich and beautiful And although or precisely because all this is more illusion than reality the city frequently serves as setting for various pieces of fiction However Los Angeles does not only play a huge role in the media but since lately also in the realm of urban studies Having long been a kind of outsider in the field it is now regarded as a prototypical example for urban development by the L A School In this context its image is less sunny and positive but reveals a deep rooted racism against Latin American immigrants in combination with a fortress mentality on the part of its white population as well as a unique urban ecology in which natural catastrophes seem to be regular occurrences This paper intends to outline the significance of Los Angeles in urban studies and trace the thereby acquired findings in a fictional representation of the city T C Boyle's novel The Tortilla Curtain In the process it is shown how urban conditions racism and nature especially in the form of ecological disasters intersect and influence each other
