Common Worlds Carl A. Maida, 2018-11-23 Common Worlds Paths Toward Sustainable Urbanism explores expert and lay approaches to sustainable urbanism focusing on the politics and civic aesthetics of space and place project based learning and its consequences for the life chances of youth and the prospect of intergenerational civic engagement Extended case studies of sustainable urbanism describe areas undergoing demographic and socioeconomic change over the two decades since the end of the Cold War The case studies based upon participatory action research are framed through the lens of transformational anthropology which focuses on the structural factors and power relationships that contribute to social and economic disparities within a population This approach is based upon principles of personal and group transformation and it holds researchers responsible for collaborating with communities and groups in co constructing research thereby enhancing the constituents ability to carry out subsequent transformational change studies rooted in and shaped by the local community Each case also focuses on a movement in support of aesthetic improvement including preservation conservation and restoration efforts on behalf of parkland open space agricultural land and marine wetlands in the face of external threats to their sustainability

Nineteenth Century Prose, 2004

On the Other Side of Sorrow James Hunter, 2014-07-03 Caring for the environment developing rural communities and ensuring the survival of minority cultures are all laudable objectives but they can conflict and nowhere more so than the Scottish Highlands As environmentalists strive to preserve the scenery and wildlife of the Highlands the people who belong there and who have their own claims on the landscape question this threat to their culture which dates back thousands of years In this acclaimed and thought provoking book James Hunter examines the dispute between Highlanders who developed a strong environmental awareness countless generations before other Europeans and conservationists whose thinking owes much to the romantic ideals of the nineteenth century More than that he also suggests a new way of dealing with the problem advocating drastic land use changes and the repopulation of empty glens an approach which has worldwide implications

Steen Creek Salvage Timber Sale, 1993

The Adventures of Henry Thoreau Michael Sims, 2014-02-18 Henry David Thoreau has long been an intellectual icon and folk hero In this strikingly original profile Michael Sims reveals how the bookish quirky young man who kept quitting jobs evolved into the patron saint of environmentalism and nonviolent activism Working from nineteenth century letters and diaries by Thoreau's family friends and students Sims charts Henry's course from his time at Harvard through the years he spent living in a cabin beside Walden Pond in Concord Massachusetts Sims uncovers a previously hidden Thoreau the rowdy boy reminiscent of Tom Sawyer the sarcastic college iconoclast the devoted son who kept imitating his beloved older brother's choices in life Thoreau was deeply influenced by his parents his father owned a pencil factory in Concord his mother was an abolitionist and social activist and by Ralph Waldo Emerson his frequent mentor Sims relates intimate telling moments in Thoreau's daily life in Emerson's library teaching his neighbor and friend Nathaniel Hawthorne to row a boat exploring the natural world and Native American culture tutoring Emerson's nephew on Staten Island and walking the streets of New York in the hope of launching a writing career Returned from New York Thoreau approached Emerson to ask if he could build a cabin on his mentor's land on the shores of Walden Pond anticipating the isolation would galvanize his thoughts and actions That it did While at the cabin he wrote his first book A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers and refined the journal entries that formed the core of Walden Resisting what he felt were unfair taxes he spent the night in jail that led to his celebrated essay Civil Disobedience which would inspire the likes of Gandhi and Martin Luther King Chronicling Thoreau's youthful transformation Sims reveals how this decade would resonate over the rest of his life and thereafter throughout American literature and history

More Zeal Than Discretion Jimmy L. Bryan, 2008 Walter P Lane emigrated from Ireland as a young boy fought in three wars sailed the Texas coast with a privateer and traveled to California and Arizona in search of gold What drove this man who in many ways typifies the adventurers who contributed to the westward expansion in the United States during the early nineteenth century 264 pp 11 b w photos Bib Index 35 00 cloth

The Carbon Cycle Kate Rawles, 2013-09-23 Kate Rawles story of cycling from Texas to Alaska where she talked to North Americans about climate change along the way to find out what they knew about it whether they cared and if they did what they thought they could do The Aesthetics of Natural Environments Allen Carlson, Arnold Berleant, 2004-02-10 The Aesthetics of Natural Environments is a collection of essays investigating philosophical and aesthetics issues that arise in our appreciation of natural environments The introduction gives an historical and conceptual overview of the rapidly developing field of study known as environmental aesthetics The essays consist of classic pieces as well as new contributions by some of the most prominent individuals now working in the field and range from theoretical to applied approaches The topics covered include the nature and value of natural beauty the relationship between art appreciation and nature appreciation the role of knowledge in the aesthetic appreciation of nature the importance of environmental participation to the appreciation of environments and the connections between the aesthetic appreciation of nature and our ethical obligations concerning its maintenance and preservation This volume is for scholars and students focussed on nature landscapes and environments individuals in areas such as aesthetics environmental ethics geography environmental studies landscape architecture landscape ecology and the planning and design disciplines It is also for any reader interested in and concerned about the aesthetic quality of the world in which we live The Ecocriticism Reader Cheryll Glotfelty, Harold Fromm, 1996 This book is the first collection of its kind an anthology of classic and cutting edge writings in the rapidly emerging field of literary ecology Exploring the relationship between literature and the physical environment literary ecology is the study of the ways that writing from novels and folktales to U S government reports and corporate advertisements both reflects and influences our interactions with the natural world The Green and the Brown Frank Uekötter, 2006-08-14 This study provides the first comprehensive discussion of conservation in Nazi Germany Looking at Germany in an international context it analyses the roots of conservation in the late 19th century the gradual adaptation of racist and nationalist thinking among conservationists in the 1920s and their indifference to the Weimar Republic It describes how the German conservation movement came to cooperate with the Nazi regime and discusses the ideological and institutional lines between the conservation movement and the Nazis Uekoetter further examines how the conservation movement struggled to do away with a troublesome past after World War II making the environmentalists one of the last groups in German society to face up to its Nazi burden It is a story of ideological convergence of tactical alliances of careerism of implication in crimes against humanity and of deceit and denial after 1945 It is also a story that offers valuable lessons for today s environmental movement Divided Natures Kerry H Whiteside, 2002-02-01 In this book Kerry Whiteside introduces the work of a range of French ecological theorists to an English speaking audience He shows how thinkers in France and in English speaking countries have produced different strains of ecological thought and suggests that the work of French ecological theorists could lessen pervasive tensions in Anglophone ecology Much of the theory written in English is shaped by the debate between anthropocentric ecologists who contend that the value of our nonhuman surroundings derives from their role in fulfilling human interests and ecocentric ecologists who contend that the nonhuman world holds ultimate value in and of itself This debate is almost nonexistent among French theorists who tend to focus on the processes linking nature and human identity Whiteside suggests that the insights of French theorists could help English language theorists to extricate themselves from endless debates over the real center of nature s value Among the French theorists discussed are Denis de Rougemont Denis Duclos Ren Dumont Luc Ferry Andr Gorz Félix Guattari Bruno Latour Alain Lipietz Edgar Morin Serge Moscovici and Michel Serres The English language theorists discussed include John Barry Robyn Eckersley Robert Goodin Tim Hayward Holmes Rolston III and Paul Taylor

The Insurgency of the Spirit Robert E. Shore-Goss, 2020-10-06 The Insurgency of the Spirit taps mutli disciplinary methodologies of post colonial biblical scholarship and anthropology liberation theologies indigenous studies grief trauma research and nature meditation writings to shape a constructive retrieval of the animist Jesus The vision that emerges is one that sets forward an Earth loving Jesus who challenges Christians in particular to mobilize against the destructive relationship that exists between imperial religion and political systems

Fashioning the Canadian Landscape John Irvine Little, 2018-04-13 Interpretations of Canada s emerging identity have been largely based on a relatively small corpus of literary writing and landscape paintings overlooking the influence of the British and American travel writers who published hundreds of books and articles that did much to fix the image of Canada in the popular imagination In Fashioning the Canadian Landscape J I Little examines how Canada much like the United States came to be identified with its natural landscape Little argues that in contrast to the American identification with the wilderness sublime however Canada s image was strongly influenced by the picturesque convention favoured by British travel writers This amply illustrated volume includes chapters ranging from Labrador to British Columbia some of which focus on such notable British authors as Rupert Brooke and Rudyard Kipling and others on talented American writers such as Charles Dudley Warner Based not only on the views of the landscape but on the racist descriptions of the Indigenous peoples and the romanticization of the Canadian folk Little argues that the national image that emerged was colonialist as well as colonial in nature
