Realer Than Reel David Hogarth, 2009-11-20 Television and globalization have transformed the traditional documentary almost beyond recognition converting what was once a film genre devoted to public service and education into a popular televisual commodity with productions ranging from serious public affairs programming to TV reality shows and docusoaps Realer Than Reel offers a state of the art overview of international documentary programming that investigates the possibilities documentary offers for local and public representation in a global age as well as what actually constitutes documentary in a time of increasing digitalization and manipulation of visual media David Hogarth focuses on public affairs nature and reality shows from around the world drawing upon industry data producer interviews analyses of selected documentary programs and firsthand observations of market sites He looks at how documentary has become a transnational product through exports co ventures and festival contacts how local and regional place is represented in global documentary especially by producers such as Discovery Networks International and the National Geographic Channel how documentary addresses the needs of its viewers as citizens through public service broadcasting and how documentary is challenging accepted conventions of factuality sense and taste The concluding chapter considers the future of both documentary as a genre and television as a global factual medium asking whether TV will continue to document the world in any meaningful sense of the term

War and Peace with the Beasts Brian Griffith, 2020-09-01 The animals that one culture likes are often hated in the next and it seems that the animals themselves know it well Basically one culture's animal partner is often another culture's nightmare from hell Naturally I wonder how

relations between people and animals got to be so different around the world How did it happen that some cultures treat bats snakes wolves or ravens as embodiments of evil while other people treat the same animals with affection or even reverence Our wars with the animals go way back Beyond the light cast by our prehistoric campfires the eyes glowing in the night seemed to represent a great hostile force As we began to cultivate crops and husband a few favoured animals we generally regarded other creatures as threats to our chosen few Using the logic of war we sought to maximize the populations of certain creatures and the destruction of others In the past that war effort was our great crusade for the advancement of civilization as we knew it The war had a frontier a front line and an ongoing battle on the home front Expanding outward from our various cradles of civilization we progressively tamed the forests and grasslands converting them to monocrop plantations or pastures Then we had to defend our monocrops from encroaching weeds insects and wild animals In this immediately engaging story and fact filled page turner of a book Brian Griffith looks at the range of ways we relate to animals and the stories we tell about them He asks how we choose whether buddyhood fearful respect businesslike predation or genocidal war is the most appropriate response to each species we meet He watches how our treatment of inferior beings affects our treatment of inferior people and traces some of the chain reactions we unleash when we try to weed out species we don't like Without much hope of making animals fit my personal preferences he writes I wonder how good our relations can get

Animals and War Ryan Hediger, 2012-11-01 Animals and War is the first collection of essays to explore its important yet neglected topic Scholars from sociology history anthropology and literary and cultural studies investigate the presence of animals in human wars The essays analyze a wide range of phenomena including the new militarization of bees zoo animals during war war dogs Finish horses in World War II Canadian war literature and the effort to memorialize nonhuman war animals Although animals are often forced to participate in human wars their presence also signals human vulnerability and dependence Several chapters demonstrate that in the frequently horrible circumstances of war powerful sympathies nonetheless flourish between humans and animals Animals and War thus exposes the often paradoxical contours of human animal relationships

The Journey Within Dinesh Patel, 2015-06-22 This book represents one photographer's effort to share his personal perspective of Africa's wildlife heritage Drawing on his vast collection of photographs from hundreds of safaris in Eastern Africa over the past five decades Dinesh Patel has successfully made the African safari universally accessible What distinguishes the book from the myriad others are two striking features First is its simplicity and purity the wildlife photography in the book is uncomplicated and pure capturing snapshots of the wild as it is intended to be devoid of human factors Second building on this simplicity unfettered with commentary the photographer has successfully created a world that gives the reader an experience of being there accompanying the photographer as he moves on his journey Whether these photographs are viewed with awe or admired for their majesty they convey an important message The African wilderness is in rapid retreat Too many of the creatures exhibited here are on the lamentable list of endangered species and face a bleak future So the challenge ahead is serious and the task difficult but essential Africa needs a future that befits its unique place in the grandeur of nature By nurturing these natural jewels and by playing to its strengths its unique and spectacular wild legacy Africa must become prosperous by preserving its heritage It is the essential duty of the wildlife photographer to spread this message by conveying the spectacle and magnificence of Africa's wild wonders Dinesh Patel has accomplished this task with distinction

Poached Rachel Love Nuwer, 2025-04-08 An intrepid investigation of the criminal world of wildlife trafficking the poachers the traders and the customers and of those fighting against it Journalist Rachel Nuwer plunges the reader into the underground of global wildlife trafficking a topic she has been investigating for nearly a decade Our insatiable demand for animals for jewelry pets medicine meat trophies and fur is driving a worldwide poaching epidemic threatening the continued existence of countless species Illegal wildlife trade now ranks among the largest contraband industries in the world yet compared to drug arms or human trafficking the wildlife crisis has received scant attention and support leaving it up to passionate individuals fighting on the ground to try to ensure that elephants tigers rhinos and more are still around for future generations As Reefer Madness Schlosser took us into the drug market or Susan Orlean descended into the swampy obsessions of The Orchid Thief Nuwer an award winning science journalist with a background in ecology takes readers on a narrative journey to the front lines of the trade to killing fields in Africa traditional medicine black markets in China and wild meat restaurants in Vietnam Through exhaustive first hand reporting that took her to ten countries Nuwer explores the forces currently driving demand for animals and their parts the toll that demand is extracting on species across the planet and the conservationists rangers and activists who believe it is not too late to stop the impending extinctions More than a depressing list of statistics Poached is the story of the people who believe this is a battle that can be won that our animals are not beyond salvation

Community Rights, Conservation and Contested Land Fred Nelson, 2010 Natural resource governance is central to the outcomes of biodiversity conservation efforts and to patterns of economic development particularly in resource dependent rural communities The institutional arrangements that define natural resource governance are outcomes of political processes whereby numerous groups with often divergent interests negotiate for access to and control over resources These political processes determine the outcomes of resource governance reform efforts such as widespread attempts to decentralize or devolve greater tenure over land and resources to local communities This volume examines the political dynamics of natural resource governance processes through a range of comparative case studies across east and southern Africa These cases include both local and national settings and examine issues such as land rights tourism development wildlife conservation participatory forest management and the impacts of climate change and are drawn from both academics and field practitioners working across the region Published with IUCN The Bradley Fund for the Environment SASUSG and Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs of wildlife forensics this volume also chronicles aspects of the history of management conservation and environmental protection with an emphasis on their global importance in the twenty first century The book examines the crucial role of wildlife forensic investigation with regard to live animals dead animals and samples and covers national regional and international legislation The book discusses animal welfare as well as the damage that can be inflicted on humans and property by wildlife The text is enhanced by case studies from experts who describe some of their own work

Transnational Environmental Crime Rob White, 2017-07-05 The essays selected for this volume illustrate the growing interest in and importance of crime that is both environmental and transnational in nature The topics covered range from pollution and waste to biodiversity and wildlife crimes and from the violation of human rights associated with the exploitation of natural resources through to the criminogenic implications of climate change The collection provides insight into the nature and dynamics of this type of crime and examines in detail who is harmed and what can be done about it Differential victimisation and contemporary developments in environmental law enforcement are also considered Collectively these essays lay the foundations for a criminology that is forward looking global in its purview and that deals with the key environmental issues of the present age

Celebrity and the Environment Dan Brockington, 2013-07-04 The battle to save the world is being joined by a powerful new group of warriors Celebrities are lending their name to conservation causes and conservation itself is growing its own stars to fight and speak for nature In this timely and essential book Dan Brockington argues that this alliance grows from the mutually supportive publicity celebrity and conservation causes provide for each other and more fundamentally that the flourishing of celebrity and charismatic conservation is part of an ever closer intertwining of conservation and corporate capitalism Celebrity promotions the investments of rich executives and the wealthy social networks of charismatic conservationists are producing more commodified and commercial conservation strategies conservation becomes an ever more important means of generating profit Celebrity and the Environment provides vital critical analysis of this new phenomena and argues that ironically there may be a hidden cost to celebrity power to individual's relationships with the wild The author argues that whilst wildlife television documentaries flourish there is a significant decline in visits to national parks in many countries around the world and this is evidence that at a time when conservationists are calling for us to restore our relationships with the wild many people are doing so simply by following the exploits of celebrity conservationists

Culture and Conservation Eleanor Shoreman-Ouimet, Helen Kopnina, 2015-11-19 Today there is growing interest in conservation and anthropologists have an important role to play in helping conservation succeed for the sake of humanity and for the sake of other species Equally important however is the fact that we as the species that causes extinctions have a moral responsibility to those whose evolutionary unfolding and very future we threaten This volume is an examination of the relationship between conservation and the social sciences particularly anthropology It calls for increased collaboration between anthropologists conservationists and environmental scientists and advocates for a shift towards an environmentally focused perspective that embraces not only cultural values and human rights but also the intrinsic value and rights to life of nonhuman species This book demonstrates that cultural and biological diversity are intimately interlinked and equally threatened by the industrialism that endangers the planet's life giving processes The consideration of ecological data as well as an expansion of ethics that embraces more than one species is essential to a well rounded understanding of the connections between human behavior and environmental wellbeing This book gives students and researchers in anthropology conservation environmental ethics and across the social sciences an invaluable insight into how innovative and intensive new interdisciplinary approaches questions ethics and subject pools can close the gap between culture and conservation Planet Savers Kevin

Desmond, 2017-09-08 Protecting the planet is everyone's work But we all have our own heroes in whatever area we are working Planet Savers brings together the varied stories of the hundreds of movers and shakers that have spoken up throughout history and taken action to defend the world from pollution deforestation species loss and climate change From Theodore Roosevelt to Al Gore from Francis of Assisi to David Attenborough and from hundreds more men and women that you will know little if anything about Scientists artists business people priests lawyers poets politicians activists and more from every continent of the world Their work has enthused us about the natural world and warned us that we must do much more to preserve it The Indian woman who became the world's first environmental martyr the Baptist Reverend who asked What Would Jesus Drive the Quaker big game hunter who set up the first conservation organisation the Shakespearian actor who revolutionised organic gardening and the housewife whose campaign against toxic waste forced a President to act The book is a cornucopia of people who from time immemorial have put their careers reputations and lives on the line to protect our planet from its governing inhabitants the human race Today as thousands of species of animals and plants are faced with extinction thousands of years of indigenous knowledge is lost in the face of technological advance and we become more and more aware of the potential doomsday scenario of a warming world we need Planet Savers more than ever Our inspiration can be the 301 environmental lives portrayed in this book These people cared enough to do something about it Planet Savers is both a tribute and a catalyst a tribute to the people that loved the planet enough to want to act to save it and a catalyst for the people who will be inspired to act after reading it New Planet Savers are at work right now in rainforests and megacities in community centres and boardrooms at road protests and in courtrooms all over the world If this book has one great aim it is to inspire you the reader to join them It is a book that every home should own Moral Claims in the Age of

Spectacles Brian M. Lowe, 2017-08-09 This volume considers the rise of a new mode of creating spreading and encountering moral claims and ideas as they are expressed within spectacles Brian M Lowe explains how spectacles emerge when we are saturated with mediated representations including pictures texts and videos and exposed to television and movies and the myriad stories they tell us The question of which moral issues gain our attention and which are neglected increasingly relates to how societal concerns are supported or obscured by spectacles This project explores how this new form of moral understanding came to be Through a series of case studies including the use of radio and comic books the crafting of Russian national identity through art television and film the evolution of human rights law through film and journalism and the promotion of animal rights campaigns this book unveils some of the ways in which our spectacular environment shapes moral understanding and is in turn shaped by spectacle
