The Invention of Infinity: Essays on Husserl and the History of Philosophy Claudio

Majolino, 2023-09-29 This book covers Husserl's stance on the philosopher and the history of philosophy whether or not such a history is part of the philosophical attitude itself and if so how Husserl's phenomenology might weigh in on such matters. Firstly, this text spells out some of the manifold ways in which the history of philosophy works its way in Husserl's phenomenology, showing how concepts, methods, and problems drawn from various Ancient and Modern philosophical traditions (Platonism, Aristotelianism, Sophistry, Stoicism, Scholasticism, Modern Rationalism) are transformed and embedded within transcendental phenomenology itself. Secondly, it shows how a better understanding of the distinctive patterns by means of which Husserl's phenomenology confronts the history of philosophy could be extremely significant for historians of philosophy who are interested in learning something entirely new about the unexplored horizons of such concepts, methods, and problems. Finally, based on such twofold historical and philosophical approach and thanks to a substantial reinterpretation of some key phenomenological concepts such as multiplicity, constitution, attitude, and variation, this book provides a novel and original reading of Husserl's overall philosophical project in its full meaning and scope. By doing so, this volume appeals to both students and researchers and critically engages in mainstream interpretations of phenomenology, suggesting a unique take on the idea of transcendental phenomenology as a whole.

Philosophy of Mind in the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries Amy Kind, 2018-07-06 While the philosophical study of mind has always required philosophers to attend to the scientific developments of their day, from the twentieth century onwards it has been especially influenced and informed by psychology, neuroscience, and computer science. Philosophy of Mind in the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries provides an outstanding survey of the most prominent themes in twentieth-century and contemporary philosophy of mind. It also looks to the future, offering cautious predictions about developments in the field in the years to come. Following an introduction by Amy Kind, twelve specially commissioned chapters by an international team of contributors discuss key topics, thinkers, and debates, including the phenomenological tradition, the mind-body problem, theories of consciousness, theories of perception, theories of personal identity, mental causation, intentionality, Wittgenstein and his legacy, cognitive science, and future directions for philosophy of mind. Essential reading for students and researchers in philosophy of mind and philosophy of psychology, Philosophy of Mind in the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries is also a valuable resource for those in related disciplines such as psychology and cognitive science.

Modern and Postmodern Crises of Symbolic Structures Peter Šajda, 2020-10-20 In debates about philosophical anthropology, human beings have been defined in different ways. In Modern and Postmodern Crises of Symbolic Structures, the contributors view the human being primarily as animal symbolicum. They examine how the human being creates, interprets, and changes symbolic structures, as well as how he is affected and impacted by them. The focus lies on the context of modernity and postmodernity, which is characterized by a number of interrelated crises of symbolic structures. These crises have affected the realms of science, religion art politics and education and thus provoked crucial changes in the human being's relations to himself others and reality The crises are not viewed merely as manifestations of dysfunctions but rather as complex processes of transformation that also provide new opportunities

The Space of Culture Sebastian Luft, 2015 Sebastian Luft presents and defends the philosophy of culture championed by the Marburg School of Neo Kantianism Following a historical trajectory from Hermann Cohen to Paul Natorp and through to Ernst Cassirer this book makes a systematic case for the viability and attractiveness of a philosophical culture in a transcendental vein in the manner in which the Marburgers intended to broaden Kant's approach In providing a philosophical study of culture Luft adheres to important Kantian tenets while addressing empirical studies of culture The Space of Culture culminates in an exploration of Cassirer's Philosophy of Symbolic Forms and argues for the extent to which Cassirer's thought was firmly rooted in the Marburg School despite his originality At the same time it shows how Cassirer opened up the philosophical study of culture to new horizons making it attractive for contemporary philosophy

Mindful Inquiry in Social Research Valerie Malhotra Bentz, James Marlatt, Jeremy J. Shapiro, Luann Drolc Fortune, 2025-04-29 The first edition of this classic text introduced researchers and students to a broad range of approaches that are grounded philosophically and are relevant to real contexts This new edition reflects developments in social research and changes in the global environment The authors broaden their conception of mindfulness and show how mindful inquirers can maximize positive outcomes for participants organizations communities and themselves The first five chapters describe the application of mindful inquiry and the following nine introduce cultures of inquiry and research traditions theories methods and techniques Chapters contain activities that provide immediate engagement with learning suggested readings and lists of skills for researchers

Historically Responsive Storytelling Eleanor Chadwick, 2023-11-30 This book explores the notion that the emergent language of contemporary theatre and more generally of modern culture has links to much earlier forms of storytelling and an ancient worldview This volume looks at our diverse and amalgamative theatrical inheritance and discusses various practitioners and companies whose work reflects and recapitulates ideas approaches and structures original to theatre's ritual roots Drawing together a range of topics and examples from the early Middle Ages to the modern day Chadwick focuses on a theatrical language which includes an emphasis on the psychosomatic the non linear the symbolic the liminal the collective and the sacred This interdisciplinary work draws on approaches from the fields of anthropology philosophy historical and cognitive phenomenology and neuroscience making the case for the significance of historically responsive modes in theatre practice and more widely in our society and culture

History as a Science and the System of the Sciences Thomas M. Seebom, 2015-04-09 This volume goes beyond presently available phenomenological analyses based on the structures and constitution of the lifeworld It shows how the science of history is the mediator between the human and the natural sciences It demonstrates that the distinction between interpretation and explanation does not imply a strict separation of the natural and the human sciences Finally it shows that the natural sciences and technology are inseparable but that technology is one sidedly founded in pre scientific encounters with reality in the lifeworld In positivism the natural sciences are sciences because they offer causal explanations testable in experiments and the humanities are human sciences only if they use methods of the natural sciences For epistemologists following Dilthey the human sciences presuppose interpretation and the human and natural sciences must be separated There is phenomenology interested in psychology and the social sciences that distinguish the natural and the human sciences but little can be found about the historical human sciences This volume fills the gap by presenting analyses of the material foundations of the understanding of expressions of other persons and of primordial recollections and expectations founding explicit expectations and predictions in the lifeworld Next it shows on the basis of history as applying philological methods in interpretations of sources the role of a universal spatio temporal framework for reconstructions and causal explanations of what has really happened

The Idealism-Realism Debate Among Edmund Husserl's Early Followers and Critics Rodney K. B. Parker, 2021-08-26 This volume aims to contextualize the development and reception of Husserl's transcendental phenomenological idealism by placing him in dialogue with his most important interlocutors his mentors peers and students Husserl's turn to idealism and the ensuing reaction to Ideas I resulted in a schism between the early members of the phenomenological movement The division between the realist and the transcendental phenomenologists is often portrayed as a sharp one with the realists naively and dogmatically rejecting all of Husserl's written work after the Logical Investigations However this understanding of the trajectory of the phenomenological movement ignores the extensive and intricate contours of the idealism realism debate In addition to helping us better interpret Husserl's attempts to defend his idealism reconsidering the idealism realism debate elucidates the relationship and differences between Husserl's phenomenology and the broader landscape of early 20th century German philosophy particularly the Munich phenomenologists and the Neo Kantians The contributions to this volume reconsider many of the early interpretations and critiques of Husserl inviting readers to assess the merits of the arguments put forward by his critics while also shedding new light on their so called misunderstandings of his idealism This text should be of interest to researchers working in the history of phenomenology and Husserlian studies

Between Phenomenology and History Galen Andrew Johnson, 1980

Experience and History David Carr, 2014 Carr's purpose is to outline a distinctively phenomenological approach to history History is usually associated with social existence and its past and thus his inquiry focuses on our experience of the social world and of its temporality How does history bridge the gap which separates it from its object the past Against this background a phenomenological approach based on the concept of experience can be proposed as a means of solving this problem or at least addressing it in a way that takes us beyond the notion of a gap between present and past
