

The book cover features a dark, moody illustration. In the center, a skull is depicted wearing a trench coat and a fedora, leaning against a large, dark, curved object that resembles a satellite dish or a large pipe. The skull is looking down with a somber expression. Two large, red, spiky virus particles are prominent: one on the left side and another on the right side, partially overlapping the title. The background is a dark, textured blue-grey with some faint, lighter blue lines suggesting a landscape or architectural elements.
