Congress, 1950 Odyssey of a DP Vladimir Drobashkevsky, 2010-09-17 In 1941 twelve year old Vladimir awakes one morning to the chaos of the Luftwaffe bombing his neighborhood in Belgrade The Germans are invading his homeland Vladimir and his family are soon suffering hunger and deprivation from the German occupation as well as daily air raids by the Allies His parents reluctantly decide it will be best if Vladimir and his mother leave his father behind to defend Yugoslavia and fight the now advancing Soviet Army while they flee to Austria Finally the family is re united in an Austrian refugee camp and ultimately they are able to immigrate to America after the war For the next forty years Vladimir designs national and international expositions including several Nuclear Information Centers in the U S and Asia and receives numerous awards for his work in design and graphic arts One night after Vladimir has received a phone call in his hotel room that his father has died from a heart attack he realizes that he never took the time to listen to his father's stories about World War I the Russian Revolution or his father's battles against the Communists in his native land Like his father Vladimir too is a wealth of unique historical information about an important period in the history of the world Odyssey of a DP is his contribution to preserving those stories and paying tribute to his lineage and his family The GAM/DP Theory of

Personality and Creativity William A. Therivel, 2001 In Volume IV the author continues his discussion of his theory of the development of personality and creativity applying his theory to other interesting subjects In saying something new valid and important about each he expands his theory Many of his connections are positive comparisons while others are contrasting Further research led the author to expand on themes initially presented in Volume I The author uses 16 pages of photos to illustrate his points Singular Reference: A Descriptivist Perspective Francesco Orilia, 2009-12-01 Singular reference to ourselves and the ordinary objects surrounding us is a most crucial philosophical topic for it looms large in any attempt to understand how language and mind connect to the world This book explains in detail why in the past philosophers such as Frege Russell and Reichenbach have favoured a descriptivist approach to this matter and why in more recent times Donnellan Kripke Kaplan and others have rather favoured a referentialist standpoint The now dominant referentialist theories however still have a hard time in addressing propositional attitudes and empty singular terms Here a way out of this difficulty emerges in an approach that incorporates aspects of the old fashioned descriptivist views of Frege Russell and Reichenbach without succumbing to the anti descriptivist arguments that back up the current referentialist trend The resulting theory features a novel approach to the semantics and pragmatics of determiner phrases definite descriptions proper names and indexicals all treated in uniform fashion in both their anaphoric and non anaphoric uses This work will be of interest to researchers in philosophy of language philosophy of mind and theoretical linguistics The wealth of background information and detailed explanations that it provides makes it also accessible to graduate and upper level undergraduates and suitable as a reference book Life-lights of Song.
