The Uncanny in Language, Literature and Culture Sarah Stollman, Charlie Jorge, Catherine Morris, 2024-09-09 In his attempts to define the uncanny Sigmund Freud asserted that the concept is undoubtedly related to what is frightening to what arouses dread and horror Yet the sensation is prompted simultaneously by something familiar establishing a sense of insecurity within the domestic even within the walls of one s own home This disturbance of the familiar further unsettles the sense of oneself A resultant perturbed relationship between a person and their familiar world the troubled sense of home and self certainty can be the result of a traumatic experience of loss and of unresolved pasts resurfacing in the present Memory traces are revised and interwoven with fresh experiences producing an uncanny effect As an externalization of consciousness the uncanny becomes a meta concept for modernity with its disintegration of time space and self The papers in this book seek to explore the representations of the uncanny in language literature and culture applying the origins of the concept to a range of ideas and works
