Design for Micro-Combined Cooling, Heating and Power Systems Nicolae Badea, 2014-09-25 This book provides a manual for the technical and structural design of systems for supplying decentralised energy in residential buildings. It presents the micro combined cooling heating components that constitute these systems and advanced algorithms for achieving the structural and technical design of such systems. In residential buildings satisfying demands of durable development has gradually evolved from necessity to obligation and institutionalisation. Consequently a major paradigm change has appeared in the supply of energy to residential buildings from the centralised production of energy using fossil fuels to the decentralised production of energy using local renewable sources. Furthermore on the energy system market energy micro systems which use renewable energy sources are increasingly commercialised. From among these the mCCHP SE RES systems are particularly striking because they offer a high performance and they enhance the relationship between humans and the environment. This book is intended for postgraduate students of electrical engineering applied mathematicians and researchers of modelling and control of complex systems or power system technologies Domestic Microgeneration Iain Staffell, Daniel J.L. Brett, Nigel P. Brandon, Adam D. Hawkes, 2015-06-19 Microgeneration producing energy for the home in the home is a substantial improvement over the current centralised and detached energy model employed the world over. Domestic Microgeneration is the first in depth reference work for this exciting and emerging field of energy generation. It provides detailed reviews of ten state of the art technologies including solar PV and thermal micro CHP and heat pumps and considers them within the wider context of the home in which they are installed and the way that they are operated. Alongside the many successes this book highlights the common pitfalls that beset the industry. It offers best practice guidance on how they can be avoided by considering the complex linkages between technology user installer and government. This interdisciplinary work draws together the social economic political and environmental aspects of this very diverse energy genre into a single must have reference for academics and students of sustainability and energy related subjects industry professionals policy makers and the growing number of energy literate householders who are looking for ways to minimise their environmental footprint and their energy bills with microgeneration Advances in Building Services

Guideline for Building Services Design Inspired by the Cradle to Cradle Concept Johannes Stiglmaier, Karsten Jurkait, 2020 The Cradle to Cradle C2C concept is a biomimetic approach that models human industry on nature's processes viewing materials as nutrients circulating in healthy and safe metabolisms It seeks to create systems that are not only efficient but also essentially waste free A growing number of building owners and developers are looking to implement it in their buildings be it to increase the productivity of their workforce or to provide a differentiator The C2C concept is reasonably covered in building construction however it is a rather uncharted area in building services making it difficult for MEP engineers to develop C2C inspired designs Arup set out to bridge this gap establishing how C2C inspired design would look like in the different MEP disciplines and researching which systems products and materials are available in the market to meet the corresponding criteria The result is a comprehensive guideline that enables MEP engineers to develop a C2C inspired design It covers design criteria system selection system sizing design for deconstruction as well as material and product selection for the main MEP disciplines and sets out a number of criteria by which the aptness of a design for C2C can be measured
