To Freedom Through China Escaping From Japanese Occupied Hong Kong:

To Freedom Through China Anthony Hewitt, Tony Hewitt, 2004 This is the thrilling story of how the author with two colleagues broke out of their POW camp in Hong Kong and made their way through Japanese lines into the vast expanse of China Capture meant almost certain torture and lingering slow death Their adventures make for spellbinding suspense Once through Japanese lines their troubles were by no means over as a state of lawlessness prevailed in China and brigands and cutthroats stood between the three men and freedom Yet they also met with their share of hospitality and generosity by those prepared to risk everything to help them on their epic journey Battle for Hong Kong, December 1941 Philip Cracknell, 2019-07-15 25 December 1941 is known to this day by the people of Hong Kong as Black Christmas The battle for Hong Kong is a story that deserves to be better known Escape from the Japanese Ralph Burton Goodwin, 2015-11-30 Trapped in the depths of Japanese held territory it was rare for Allied prisoners of war to attempt escape There was little chance of making contact with anti guerrilla or underground organisations and no possibility of Europeans blending in with the local Asian populations Failure and recapture meant execution This was what Lieutenant Commander R B Goodwin faced when he decided to escape from the Shamsuipo PoW Camp in Kowloon Hong Kong in July 1944 after three years of internment With no maps and no knowledge of the country or the language Lieutenant Commander Goodwin set out across enemy territory and war torn China Because of the colour of his skin he had to travel during the hours of darkness for much of what was an 870 mile journey to reach British India Few of his fellow prisoners gave him any chance of succeeding yet little more than three months later he was being transported to the safety of Calcutta For his daring and determination Lieutenant Commander Goodwin was awarded the Order of the British Empire Journal of the Hong Kong Branch of the Royal Asiatic Society, 2005 Minorities in Global History Holger Weiss, 2024-04-04 This collection analyses the concept of minority and minorities in global history Taking transnational transregional and comparative approaches it explores narratives of inclusion and exclusion both conceptually and through case studies Exploring examples of marginalization in Imperial Russia early 20th century Korea WWII China and Postcolonial Africa amongst others the chapters in this volume seek to understand the entanglements of fluid minorities and native populations in various historical settings They explore dynamics between nation states and empires minority majority processes in post imperial and post Soviet contexts fourth world perspectives and transnational minority movements Taken together the contributions to this collection address the exposure to and challenge of historical and contemporary treatments of marginalization exclusion belonging and inclusion in global history An Imperial World at War Ashley Jackson, Yasmin Khan, Gajendra Singh, 2016-07-01 At the start of the Second World War Britain was at the height of its imperial power and it is no surprise that it drew upon the global resources of the Empire once war had been declared Whilst this international aspect of Britain's war effort has been well studied in relation to the military contribution of individual dominions and colonies relatively little has been written about the

Empire as a whole As such An Imperial World at War makes an important contribution to the historiography relating to the British Empire and its wartime experience It argues that the war needs to be viewed in imperial terms that the role of forces drawn from the Empire is poorly understood and that the war's impact on colonial societies is barely grasped at all in conventional accounts Through a series of case studies the volume demonstrates the fundamental role played by the Empire in Britain's war effort and highlights some of the consequences for both Britain and its imperial territories Themes include the recruitment and utilization of military formations drawn from imperial territories the experience of British forces stationed overseas the use of strategic bases located in the colonies British policy in the Middle East and the challenge posed by growing American power the occupation of enemy colonies and the enemy occupation of British colonies colonial civil defence measures financial support for the war effort supplied by the Empire and the commemoration of the war The Afterword anticipates a new decentred history of the war that properly acknowledges the role and importance of people and places throughout the colonial and semi colonial world This volume emanates from a conference organized as part of the Home Fronts of the Empire Commonwealth project The project was generously funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council and led by Yasmin Khan and Ashley Jackson with Gajendra Singh as Postdoctoral Research Assistant

Swimming to Freedom Kent Wong, 2021-04-27 When Kent Wong was a young boy his father a patriotic Chinese official in the customs office in Hong Kong joined an insurrection at work and returned with the family to the newly established People's Republic of China Hailed as heroes they settled in the southern city of Canton But Mao's China was dangerous and unstable with landlords executed en masse and millions dying of starvation during the Great Leap Forward

We Walked to Freedom Loretta Slaton, 2007-09 A celebration of courage determination and the will to survive this memoir recounts the life of Chinese refugee student Loretta Slaton who lived in Japan occupied Hong Kong during World War II Shortly after the Japanese occupation began in Hong Kong a group of Chinese college students from Hong Kong University Slaton among them left home and ventured west to try and live in Free China Separated from her family and trying to avoid the Japanese Army she traveled west to Kweilin north to Chengtu and eventually ended up in Kunming part of Free China Slaton worked as a secretary for the Office of War Information in Kunming and soon met an American officer Clyde Slaton the man she would eventually marry For years Slaton feared for her family's fate When she returned to Hong Kong in September of 1945 she was overjoyed to learn that her entire family had survived But Slaton's days of adventure were far from over She traveled to America with her husband and his service with the Foreign Service arm of the United States Information Agency took them to numerous Asian countries for the next several years We Walked to Freedom explores the strength of the human spirit and the power of one woman's will to forge a bright future

Never Surrender Mark Felton, 2013-06-30 While there have been many fine books covering the appalling experiences and great courage of the many thousands of POWs captured by the victorious Japanese during late 1941 and early 1942 escape accounts are much rarer This is due in large part to the fact that only a comparatively small number of brave souls attempted to escape to freedom rather than suffer brutality starvation and very possibly death as POWs However as Never Surrender vividly describes there were a significant number who took this desperate course Escapers faced challenges far more daunting than those in German hands They were Westerners in an alien hostile environment the terrain and climate were extreme disease was rife their physical condition was weak there was every chance of starvation and betrayal and if captured they faced at best the harshest punishment and at worst execution The author draws on escape attempts from Hong Kong Thailand the Philippines Borneo and China by officers and men of the British Commonwealth and US armed forces As this superbly researched and uplifting book reveals few escapers found freedom but all are inspiring examples of outstanding and indeed desperate courage The stories told within these pages demonstrate the best and worst of human spirit
