Victorian England As Seen By Punch:

Victorian England as Seen by Punch Frank Edward Huggett, 1978 Graphic Design Paul Jobling, David Crowley, 1996 This is an inventive a well researched study which explores the production and consumption of graphic design in Europe Cartooning China Amy Matthewson, 2022-03-17 This book explores the series of cartoons of China and the Chinese that were published in the popular British satirical magazine Punch over a sixty year period from 1841 to 1901 Filled with political metaphors and racial stereotypes these illustrations served as a powerful tool in both reflecting and shaping notions and attitudes towards China at a tumultuous time in Sino British history A close reading of both the visual and textual satires in Punch reveals how a section of British society visualised and negotiated with China as well as Britain's position in the global community By contextualising Punch's cartoons within the broader frameworks of British socio cultural and political discourse the author engages in a critical enquiry of popular culture and its engagements with race geopolitical propaganda and public consciousness With a wide array of illustrations this book in the Global Perspectives in Comics Studies series will be an important resource for scholars and researchers of cultural studies political history and Empire Chinese studies popular culture Victoriana as well as media studies It will also be of interest to readers who want to learn more about Punch its history and Sino British relations Merchant Princes and Charlatans or Makers of Money? Henry Sless, 2022-01-01 This book provides a critical analysis of visual images of British and international finance during the nineteenth century Its focus is on the financiers themselves contrasting the depiction of the respectable Merchant Princes with the less than perfect charlatans white collar criminals who defrauded investors of millions The breakdown of trust between financiers and investors that evolved during this period is represented visually in depictions of the emotional response of investors to the uncertain financial climate Throughout the book a PEARL methodology has been used to critique the images reflecting the impact of any Publisher's political bias the Editorial and Artistic techniques used to convey the messages in the images and the Legal context especially a concern in countries such as France and Germany where censorship was strict The book concludes that white collar criminals were invariably secretly admired in Britain and rarely severely satirised Similarly Merchant Princes were depicted favourably in Britain as members of the ruling elite during the latter half of the century This is contrasted with the more extreme anti monopolistic images in the US and the extreme anti Semitic treatment of Jewish financiers in France and Germany Disreputable Pleasures Mike Huggins, J. A. Mangan, 2004 Challenging the respectable image of Victorian society this irreverent revisionist collection explores the sinful side of middle class Victorian leisure highlighting the problematic relationship between public respectability and private pleasure 110 Years of Taxation from Pitt to Lloyd George Henry Sless, 2023-10-16 This book offers a multi disciplinary visual analysis of British taxation history during the long nineteenth century Focusing specifically on cartoons from the period the book utilises the author's innovative PEARL methodology to analyse the impact of Publishers attitudes Editorial techniques Artistic methods Readers responses and Legal context on historical images published in this period The book outlines a financial and visual context for the long nineteenth century discussing the importance of political images during a period when the relationship between the state and the taxpayer was fundamentally shifting The state of public finance in Britain as a whole including the growth of institutional finance the economic impact of wars and attempts to reduce the national debt are considered alongside an exploration of the recurring iconographical styles of the period The book situates the visual history of taxation within a wider context of politicised images responding to fiscal events and uses the PEARL analysis technique to pinpoint nuanced and evolving public attitudes towards tax structures in Britain as well as comparative developments in the US such as the impact of the Civil War and income tax debates The book will be of interest to financial historians and academic cultural historians as well as all those interested in visual culture and political imagery Asian Punches Hans Harder, Barbara Mittler, 2013-06-24 This book deals with Punches and Punch like magazines in 19th and 20th century Asia covering an area from Egypt and the Ottoman Empire in the West via British India up to China and Japan in the East It traces an alternative and largely unacknowledged side of the history of this popular British periodical and simultaneously casts a wide reaching comparative glance on the genesis of satirical journalism in various Asian countries Demonstrating the spread of both textual and visual satire it is an apt demonstration of the transcultural trajectory of a format intimately linked to media bound public spheres evolving in the period concerned The Library Arthur der Weduwen, Andrew Pettegree, 2021-10-14 LONGLISTED FOR THE HISTORICAL WRITERS ASSOCIATION NON FICTION CROWN A SUNDAY TIMES NON FICTION BOOK OF THE YEAR Timely a long and engrossing survey of the library FT A sweeping absorbing history deeply researched Richard Ovenden author of Burning the Books Famed across the known world jealously guarded by private collectors built up over centuries destroyed in a single day ornamented with gold leaf and frescoes or filled with bean bags and children s drawings the history of the library is rich varied and stuffed full of incident In this the first major history of its kind Andrew Pettegree and Arthur der Weduwen explore the contested and dramatic history of the library from the famous collections of the ancient world to the embattled public resources we cherish today Along the way they introduce us to the antiquarians and philanthropists who shaped the world s great collections trace the rise and fall of fashions and tastes and reveal the high crimes and misdemeanours committed in pursuit of rare and valuable manuscripts Cartoon Conflicts Richard Scully, Paulo Jorge Fernandes, Ritu Gairola Khanduri, 2025-07-28 This edited collection of new research highlights the way in which the cartoon long regarded as a staple of journalism and freedom of expression faces new challenges in the twenty first century that can be far better understood and appreciated if one takes an historical perspective Current debates over the limits of freedom of expression political correctness and cancel culture all have their precedents in past controversies over cartoons and caricature indeed there is a definite continuum between these past instances of debate and their present manifestations Chapters 2 and 10 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0

Professor Caine investigates the complex question surrounding the concept of a feminist tradition and shows how much the feminism of any particular period related to the years preceding or following it. Though feminism may have lacked the kind of legitimating tradition evident in other forms of political thought, the ghost of Mary Wollstonecraft was something which all nineteenth and twentieth century feminists had to come to terms with. Her story was a constant reminder of the connection between the demand for political and legal rights and its conflation with the issues of personal and sexual rebellion. Like Wollstonecraft, every woman pioneer into the public arena faced assaults on her honour as well as on her intellectual position. The author also addresses the language of feminism, the introduction and changing meanings of the term feminist, the importance of literary representations of women and the question of how one defines feminism and establishes boundaries between feminism and the woman question. She ends with a discussion of the new emphasis post 1980s on the need to think about feminisms in the plural rather than any single kind of feminism. Analysis of feminist organizations, debates and campaigns shows a keen sense of the relationship between feminist thought and actions and wider social and cultural change. The result is a fascinating study with a new perspective on feminists and feminist traditions which can be used both as an introductory text and as an interpretative work. Professor Caine examines the complex questions surrounding the concept of a feminist tradition and shows how much the feminism of any particular period related to the years preceding or following it. Though feminism may have lacked the kind of legitimating tradition evident in other forms of political thought, the ghost of Mary Wollstonecraft is seen here as something which all nineteenth and twentieth century feminists had to come to terms with. Her story was a constant reminder of the connection between the demand for political and legal rights and its conflation with the issues of personal and sexual rebellion. Like Mary Wollstonecraft, every woman pioneer into the public arena was faced with assaults on her honour as well as on her intellectual position. Professor Caine also addresses the language of feminism, the introduction and changing meanings of the term feminist, the importance of literary representations of women and the question of how one defines feminism and establishes boundaries between feminism and the woman question. Victorian England as seen by Punch Frank E. Huggett, 1978 Mr. Punch's History of Modern England Vol. I—1841-1857 (of 4)

(Illustrations) Charles Larcom Graves, 2014-11-25 Example in this ebook. The title of this work indicates at once its main source and its limitations. The files of Punch have been generally admitted to be a valuable mine of information on the manners, customs and fashions of the Victorian age and of the wealth of material thus provided. Liberal use has been made. But it must not be forgotten that Punch has always been a London paper and that in so far as English life is reflected in his pages

London always comes first though in this volume and especially during the Hungry Forties Lancashire comes a very good second For pictures of provincial society such for example as that given in Cranford or in the novels of Trollope or of life in Edinburgh or Dublin the chronicler of Victorian England must look outside Punch The country cousin is not forgotten but for the most part comes into view when he is on a visit to London not when he is on his native heath Yet even with these deductions the amount of material is embarrassingly rich And this is due not only to the multiplicity of subjects treated but to the manner in which they were discussed Of Punch in his early days at any rate the criticism recently applied to Victorian writers in general by a writer in Blackwood holds good They had a great deal to say and they said it sometimes in too loud a voice Such was their virtue to which their vice was akin Their vice was the vice of rhetoric They fell to the temptation of many words They wrote too often as the tub thumper speaks without much self criticism and with a too fervent desire to be heard immediately and at all costs In the forties Punch doubled the roles of jester and political pamphleteer and in the latter capacity indulged in a great deal of vehement partisan rhetoric The loudest the most passionate and moving as well as the least judicial of his spokesmen was Douglas Jerrold The choice of dividing lines between periods must always be somewhat artificial but I was confirmed in my decision to end the first volume with the year of the Indian Mutiny by the fact that it coincided with the death of Douglas Jerrold who from 1841 to 1857 had more than any other writer been responsible for the Radical and humanitarian views expressed in Punch My task would have been greatly simplified by the exclusion of politics altogether But to do that would have involved the neglect of what is after all perhaps the most interesting and in many ways the most honourable phase of Punch's history his championship of the poor and oppressed and his efforts to bridge the gap between the Two Nations the phrase which was used and justified in the finest passage of Disraeli's Sybil and which I have chosen as the title for the first part of the present volume To write a Social History of England at any time without reference to the political background would be difficult it is practically impossible in a chronicle based on Punch in the forties and fifties In the second part I have endeavoured to redress the balance Here one recognizes the advantages of Punch's London outlook in dealing with the Court and fashion and the acute contrasts furnished between Mayfair on the one hand and the suburbs and slums on the other No attempt has been made to represent Punch as infallible whether as a recorder a critic or a prophet He was often wrong unjust and even cruel notably in his view of Peel and Lincoln and in his conduct of the No Popery crusade though he seldom failed to make amends even to the extent of standing in a white sheet over Lincoln's grave To be continued in this ebook

Time Present and Time Past Paul Barlow, 2017-07-05 John Everett Millais 1829 1896 is undoubtedly among the most important of Victorian artists In his day and our own he remains also the most controversial While during his lifetime controversy centred around his early Pre Raphaelite paintings in particular Christ in the house of his Parents 1850 during the twentieth century the most intense criticism has been directed towards Millais's later works such as Bubbles 1886 which has been widely condemned as sentimental kitsch These later paintings have been held up as the epitome of the degradation of art against which avant garde and Modernist pioneers struggled None of the existing literature on Millais addresses the fundamental problem that this double identity reveals While there is extensive material on the Pre Raphaelite movement in general Millais's own work after the 1850s is rarely discussed in detail despite the fact that he lived and worked for another 30 years after his abandonment of the Pre Raphaelite style Time Present and Time Past The Art of John Everett Millais presents the first comprehensive account of Millais's artistic career from beginning to end The book considers the question of high and low cultural status in debates during Millais's own day and in subsequent critical thinking situating Millais's art as a whole within this cultural framework

Mr. Punch's History of Modern England: 1841-1857 Charles Larcom Graves, 1921 Culture and Science in the Nineteenth-Century Media Louise Henson, Geoffrey Cantor, Gowan Dawson, Richard Noakes, Sally Shuttleworth, Jonathan R. Topham, 2017-03-02 Written by literary scholars historians of science and cultural historians the twenty two original essays in this collection explore the intriguing and multifaceted interrelationships between science and culture through the periodical press in nineteenth century Britain Ranging across the spectrum of periodical titles the six sections comprise Women Children and Gender Religious Audiences Naturalizing the Supernatural Contesting New Technologies Professionalization and Journalism and Evolution Psychology and Culture The essays offer some of the first samplings and soundings from the emergent and richly interdisciplinary field of scholarship on the relations between science and the nineteenth century media

The Great Exhibition of 1851 Louise Purbrick, 2001 The Great Exhibition of 1851 has become a touchstone for the nineteenth century The Crystal Palace produced a commodity world an imperial spectacle a picture of capitalism a liberal dream a vision of modern life Historians have saturated the Great Exhibition with meanings This collection of essays exposes how meaning has been produced around the Great Exhibition It contains a series of critical readings of the official and popular historical record of the Exhibition Critics and historians of art culture design and literature have been brought together to examine the objects the images the documents and the fictions of 1851 Their essays explore the determined use of industrial knowledge the contested definitions of nation and colony and the actual control of the space of the Crystal Palace after the Great Exhibition closed The Great Exhibition of 1851 presents new interpretations of one of the most significant exhibitions in the nineteenth century and will be essential reading for anyone studying cultural history design history art history and literature

Pictorial Victorians Julia Thomas, 2004 Pictorial Victorians focuses on two of the most popular mid nineteenth century genres illustration and narrative painting that blurred the line between the visual and the textual Illustration negotiated text and image on the printed page while narrative painting juxtaposed the two media in its formulation of pictorial stories Pictorial Victorians surveys a range of material from representations of the crinoline to the illustrations that accompanied Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel Uncle Tom's Cabin and Tennyson's poetry to paintings of adultery It demonstrates that the space between text and image is one in which values are both constructed and questioned
