Whither Marxism? Bernd Magnus, Stephen Cullenberg, 1995 Telling an American Horror Story Cameron Williams Crawford, Leverett Butts, 2021-03-02 Telling an American Horror Story collects essays from new and established critics looking at the many ways the horror anthology series intersects with and comments on contemporary American social political and popular culture Divided into three sections the chapters apply a cultural criticism framework to examine how the first eight seasons of AHS engage with American history our contemporary ideologies and social policies Part I explores the historical context and the uniquely American folklore that AHS evokes from the Southern Gothic themes of Coven to connections between Apocalypse and anxieties of modern American youth Part II contains interpretations of place and setting that mark the various seasons of the anthology Finally Part III examines how the series confronts notions of individual and social identity like the portrayals of destructive leadership in Cult and lesbian representation in Asylum and Hotel

Oscillate Wildly Peter Hitchcock, 1999 What keeps materialism moving At a moment of crisis in materialism in the wake of materialist practice once known as socialist revolution this bold and innovative book presents oscillation as a metaphor for understanding materialism anew Mindful of the dangers for materialism Peter Hitchcock nevertheless shows how oscillation is part of the conceptual framework of materialist inquiry from Marx to the present A reply to the call to rethink the material constraints on materialism itself this book uses oscillation to refer simultaneously to movement within and between bodies of theory within theories of the body and within and between institutional spaces in which such theory is taken up Hitchcock argues that oscillation augurs a politics that both shares the legacy of historical materialism and recognizes the critical edge of cultural materialism in its approach to the social practices of everyday life In a series of ingenious readings he rethinks the problem of ideology for Marx and his interpreters Etienne Balibar in particular provides a materialist intervention on the status of the body for theory proposes an analysis of theories of space and the space of theory in the era of cartographic anxiety sees the ghosts of materialism oscillating a good deal more wildly than Derrida would have it offers a daring approach to shoes and fetishism within transnational capitalism and concludes with a novel lesson on what the theremin an electronic musical instrument based on oscillators might teach us about the importance of sense perception for materialist thought As both a descriptive device for the state of materialism and a critical tool within a polemic about what materialism can do at this juncture oscillation provides a brilliant key to materialist critique Knowledge, Class, and Economics

Theodore Burczak, Robert Garnett Jr., Richard McIntyre, 2017-10-16 Knowledge Class and Economics Marxism without Guarantees surveys the Amherst School of non determinist Marxist political economy 40 years on its core concepts intellectual origins diverse pathways and enduring tensions The volume s 30 original essays reflect the range of perspectives and projects that comprise the Amherst School the interdisciplinary community of scholars that has enriched and extended while never ceasing to interrogate and recast the anti economic Marxism first formulated in the mid 1970s by Stephen

Resnick Richard Wolff and their economics Ph D students at the University of Massachusetts Amherst The title captures the defining ideas of the Amherst School an open system framework that presupposes the complexity and contingency of social historical events and the parallel overdetermination of the relationship between subjects and objects of inquiry along with a novel conception of class as a process of performing appropriating and distributing surplus labor In a collection of 30 original essays chapters confront readers with the core concepts of overdetermination and class in the context of economic theory postcolonial theory cultural studies continental philosophy economic geography economic anthropology psychoanalysis and literary theory studies Though Resnick and Wolff s writings serve as a focal point for this collection their works are ultimately decentered contested historicized reformulated The topics explored will be of interest to proponents and critics of the post structuralist postmodern turn in Marxian theory and to students of economics as social theory across the disciplines economics geography postcolonial studies cultural studies anthropology sociology political theory philosophy and literary studies among others

Fictive Theories S. McManus, 2005-06-03 Fictive Theories is a significant and innovative intervention in key debates in political theory concerning the ways theory should be philosophically grounded and the task that political theory should set itself Susan McManus argues that political theory has been grounded in controlling fictions from fictions of human nature to morals laws that function to close possibility Starting by interrogating the often hidden work of fictions in political theories she argues that all theorizing is a form of world creating Rather than hiding the fictions at work in political theory McManus argues that theory should become self consciously fictive and that there are political and ethical advantages to so doing She then develops a uniquely deconstructive and utopian understanding of the project of political theory grounded in the fictive a creative and future oriented imagination Rather than seeking to provide blueprints of how a polity should be organized fictive theories seek to fabricate futures through the anticipatory articulation of possibility Drawing on a rich range of thinkers from the traditions of political theory Hobbes Rousseau Kant deconstructive theory Roland Barthes Jacques Derrida and utopian studies Ernst Bloch this book will be of interest to researchers teachers and students in the fields of political theory utopian studies literary theory and cultural studies
