Szabo,2009-11-02 While it can be traced to the 1700s the term thanatology has gained traction in recent decades to refer to the study of death Because of the breadth of the published material and the challenges of discovery in large bibliographic databases and catalogs finding and identifying monographic material on death dying grief and bereavement can be extremely challenging Although there have been several bibliographical resources published on thanatology those titles were incomplete limited in scope or leaned heavily toward one area of the field In Death and Dying An Annotated Bibliography of the Thanatological Literature John F Szabo provides more than 2 200 citations of monographs on the science and study of death and dying Among the areas this volume addresses are the psychological philosophical and attitudinal aspects coping and dealing with the burdens of caregiving and working in the helping professions instructional and educational topics for practitioners primarily health care providers cultural differences in bereavement rituals and grief mourning and loss In addition notable titles on or relating to death and dying in popular culture death themes in literature methods of death or specific ethical policy or public issues are also included when they contribute important information to subject areas on which the book focuses This book will be helpful to students researchers academics caregivers health care professionals psychologists social workers and anyone with an interest in death dying bereavement or the care of the terminally ill Omega ,2000 The International Journal of Aging & Human Development ,1997 Fading away Betty Davies PhD.,2020-03-26 This book comes out of an in depth qualitative study of the experiences of twenty three families in which one parent was dying of cancer The study attempted to better understand the impact of terminal illness on the entire family system and sought to develop a theoretical framework that would guide the assessment of and services to such families As a result of interviews with patients spouses and their adult children over three phases of the study the process of fading away was identified and conceptualized in terms of various phases which contributed to this process The book is not a research report but rather presents more generally the ideas that developed from the study with two purposes to increase the reader's understanding of particular experiences that families encounter when dealing with terminal illness specifically cancer. The intended readership also includes families themselves to propose guidelines for care to be considered by practitioners working with such families. Men Coping with Grief Dale A. Lund, 2000 Provides knowledge about the ways men grieve and how their bereavement experiences impact various aspects of their lives. Readings in Thanatology John D. Morgan, 1997 A comprehensive book of readings for courses on death and dying at the college or university level. It contains material by such leaders in the field as Colin Murray Parkes MD, John Hinton MD, Kenneth Doka PhD, Ira R. Byock MD, Ronald K. Barrett PhD, Robert G. Stevenson EdD, Judith M. Stillion PhD. Subject Guide to Books in Print, 2001

Mending the Torn Fabric Sarah Brabant, 1996 The analogy of the torn fabric was first used by the author in response to a bereaved mother's cry: "I know what grief feels like, I don't know what it looks like." In Mending the Torn Fabric: For Those Who Grieve and Those Who Want to Help Them, the author expands the metaphor to include earlier and future or potential losses as well as losses associated with the death that may be unrecognized or minimized. This book includes chapters that examine complications that may be present or may arise, suggestions for mending even the most torn fabric, and a chapter dedicated to friends who want to help. Stories bereaved persons have shared with the author through the years are interspersed throughout the book to provide examples of loss and mending. American Book Publishing Record, 1996
