Young Gifted And Black Promoting High Achievement Among African American Students:

Young, Gifted, and Black Theresa Perry, Claude Steele, 2004-02-02 An important and powerful book that radically reframes the debates swirling around the academic achievement of African American students Boston Review The solutions offered by each essay are creative inspirational and good old common sense Los Angeles Times In 3 separate but allied essays African American scholars Theresa Perry Claude Steele and Asa Hilliard examine the alleged achievement gap between Black and white students Each author addresses how the unique social and cultural position Black students occupy in a society which often devalues and stereotypes African American identity fundamentally shapes students experience of school and sets up unique obstacles Young Gifted and Black provides an understanding of how these forces work opening the door to practical powerful methods for promoting high achievement at all levels In the first piece Theresa Perry argues that the dilemmas African American students face are rooted in the experience of race and ethnicity in America making the task of achievement distinctive and difficult Claude Steele follows up with stunningly clear empirical psychological evidence that when Black students believe they are being judged as members of a stereotyped group rather than as individuals they do worse on tests Finally Asa Hilliard argues against a variety of false theories and misguided views of African American achievement sharing examples of real schools programs and teachers around the country that allow African American students to achieve at high levels Now more than ever Young Gifted and Black is an eye opening work that has the power to not only change how we talk and think about African American student achievement but how we view the African American experience as a whole

Young, Gifted, and Black Theresa Perry, Practical advice for teachers of African American students suggesting that an understanding of the cultural and social circumstances that these students face can be used to promote achievement Educating African American Students Gloria Swindler Boutte, 2015-08-20 Focused on preparing educators to teach African American students this straightforward and teacher friendly text features a careful balance of published scholarship a framework for culturally relevant and critical pedagogy research based case studies of model teachers and tested culturally relevant practical strategies and actionable steps teachers can adopt Its premise is that teachers who understand Black culture as an asset rather than a liability and utilize teaching techniques that have been shown to work can and do have specific positive impacts on the educational experiences of African American children

Storytelling for Social Justice Lee Anne Bell, 2019-08-28 Through accessible language and candid discussions Storytelling for Social Justice explores the stories we tell ourselves and each other about race and racism in our society Making sense of the racial constructions expressed through the language and images we encounter every day this book provides strategies for developing a more critical understanding of how racism operates culturally and institutionally in our society Using the arts in general and storytelling in particular the book examines ways to teach and learn about race by creating counter storytelling communities that can promote more critical and thoughtful dialogue about racism and the remedies necessary to dismantle it in our institutions and interactions Illustrated throughout with examples drawn from contemporary movements for change high school and college classrooms community building and professional development programs the book provides tools for examining racism as well as other issues of social justice For every facilitator and educator who has struggled with how to get the conversation on race going or who has suffered through silences and antagonism the innovative model presented in this book offers a practical and critical framework for thinking about and acting on stories about racism and other forms of injustice This new edition includes Social science examples in addition to the arts for elucidating the storytelling model Short essays by users that illustrate some of the ways the storytelling model has been used in teaching training community building and activism Updated examples references and resources

Quality Education as a Constitutional Right Theresa Perry, Robert P. Moses, Ernesto Cortes, Jr., Lisa Delpit, Joan T. Wynne, 2010-10-13 In 2005 famed civil rights leader and education activist Robert Moses invited one hundred prominent African American and Latino intellectuals and activists to meet to discuss a proposal for a campaign to guarantee a quality education for all children as a constitutional right a movement that would transform current approaches to educational inequity all of which have failed miserably to yield results for our children The response was passionate and the meeting launched a movement This book emerging directly from that effort reports on what has happened since and calls for a new scale of organizing legal initiatives and public definitions of what a quality education is Essays include Robert Moses s historically rooted call for citizens especially young people to make the demand for quality education Ernesto Cort s s view from decades of work organizing Latino communities in Texas Charles Payne s interview with students from the Baltimore Algebra Project who organized to make historic demands on their district Legal scholar Imani Perry s nuanced analysis of the prospects of making a case for quality education as a right guaranteed by the Constitution Perspectives from scholars Lisa Delpit and Joan T Wynne and by teachers Alicia Carroll and Kim Parker who provide examples of what quality education is describing its goal and how to guide practice in the meantime Mathematics Teaching, Learning, and Liberation in the Lives of Black Children Danny Bernard Martin, 2010-06-21 With issues of equity at the forefront of mathematics education research and policy this collection offers authoritative scholarship that sheds light on the ways that young black learners experience mathematics in schools and their communities Just Schools Martha Minow, Richard A. Shweder, Hazel Rose Markus, 2008-04-22 Educators and policymakers who share the goal of equal opportunity in schools often hold differing notions of what entails a just school in multicultural America Some emphasize the importance of integration and uniform treatment for all while others point to the benefits of honoring cultural diversity in ways that make minority students feel at home In Just Schools noted legal scholars educators and social scientists examine schools with widely divergent methods of fostering equality in order to explore the possibilities and limits of equal education today The contributors to Just Schools combine empirical research with rich ethnographic accounts to paint a vivid picture of the quest for justice in classrooms around the nation Legal scholar Martha Minow considers the impact of school choice reforms on equal educational opportunities Psychologist Hazel Rose Markus examines culturally sensitive programs where students exhibit superior performance on standardized tests and feel safer and more interested in school than those in color blind programs Anthropologist Heather Lindkvist reports on how Somali Muslims in Lewiston Maine invoked the American ideal of inclusiveness in winning dress code exemptions and accommodations for Islamic rituals in the local public school Political scientist Austin Sarat looks at a school system in which everyone endorses multiculturalism but holds conflicting views on the extent to which culturally sensitive practices should enter into the academic curriculum Anthropologist Barnaby Riedel investigates how a private Muslim school in Chicago aspires to universalist ideals and education scholar James Banks argues that schools have a responsibility to prepare students for citizenship in a multicultural society Anthropologist John Bowen offers a nuanced interpretation of educational commitments in France and the headscarf controversy in French schools Anthropologist Richard Shweder concludes the volume by connecting debates about diversity in schools with a broader conflict between national assimilation and cultural autonomy As America s schools strive to accommodate new students from around the world Just Schools provides a provocative and insightful look at the different ways we define and promote justice in schools and in society at large
