Verandahs of Power Garth Andrew Myers, 2003-02-01 Garth Andrew Myers work makes a significant contribution to a long tradition of research on colonial cities and a multidisciplinary body of literature on urban legacies of colonialism He examines both colonial rule and postcolonial inheritance in these cities tracing the legacies of colonialism in different and divergent postcolonial settings a revolutionary left wing socialist state Zanzibar and a reactionary right wing dictatorship Malawi In addition to the examination of urban plans and the African urban majority's responses to them the book traces the experience of the urban planning process through three different verandahs of power or levels of class depiction the colonial power the colonized middle and the urban majority Interspersed with personal stories this book illuminates our understanding of the workings of power in African cities by addressing human experiences of that power A Model Four Semester Syllabus for Transcultural Theology Overseas Michael C. Porter, 2006-03 Tanga Region Tanzania is an area of persistent rural poverty with a long history of drought floods food shortages famine and social and economic disruption Though farmers have been cultivating the land there for hundreds of years they have consistently been unable to supply adequate food for the region's inhabitants In Challenging Nature Philip Porter examines eighteen farming communities to understand what the farmers there know about their environment and which historical and economic factors play into the lack of food security

Porter first began work on this project in 1972 asking 250 farmers in the region about life history environmental and agricultural changes types of crops grown and methods of planting environmental assessments agricultural practices food and water supplies training and education and attitudes toward nature Twenty years later he returned and reinterviewed as many farmers as could be found from the first survey The result contextualizes the environmental history of the region while informing current and future agricultural development

Dictionary Catalog Schomburg Collection of Negro Literature and History, 1962 Diaspora and Nation in the Indian Ocean Ned Bertz, 2015-09-30 The vibrant Swahili coast port city of Dar es Salaam literally the Haven of Peace hosts a population reflecting a legacy of long relations with the Arabian Peninsula and a diaspora emanating in waves from the Indian subcontinent By the 1960s after decades of European imperial intrusions Tanzanian nationalist forces had peacefully dismantled the last British colonial structures of racial segregation and put in place an official philosophy of nonracial nationalism Yet today more than five decades after independence race is still a prominent and publicly contested subject in Dar es Salaam What makes this issue so dizzyingly elusive for government bureaucrats and ordinary people alike is East Africa's location on the Indian Ocean a historic crossroads of diverse peoples possessing varied ideas about how to reconcile human difference social belonging and place of origin Based on a range of archival oral and newspaper sources from Tanzania and India this book explores the history of cross cultural encounters that shaped regional ideas of diaspora and nationhood from the earliest days of colonial Tanganyika when Indian settlement began to expand dramatically to present day Tanzania a nation always under construction The book focuses primarily on two prominent city spaces schools and cinemas the one a site of education the other a site of leisure one typically a programmatic entity of government the other usually a bastion of commercial enterprise Nonetheless the forces shaping schools and cinemas as they developed into busy centers of urban social interaction were surprisingly similar the state community organizations nationalist movements economic change and the transnational winds of Indian Ocean culture and capital Whether in the form of institutional apparatuses like networks of Indian teacher importation and curricula adoption or through the market predominance of the Indian film industry schools and cinemas in East Africa historically were influenced by actions and ideas from around the Indian Ocean Diaspora and Nation in the Indian Ocean argues that an Indian Ocean wide perspective enables an examination of the transnational production of ideas about race against a backdrop of changing relationships and claims of belonging as new notions of nationhood and diaspora emerged It bridges an academic divide because historians often either focus on the Indian diaspora in isolation or write it out of the story of African nation building Further in contrast to the swell of publications on global Indian or South Asian diasporas that highlight longings for and contacts with the homeland the book also demonstrates that much of the creative production of diasporic Indian identities formed in East Africa was a result of local albeit cosmopolitan encounters across cities like Dar es Salaam Current Publications in Legal and Related Fields ,1966 Books and Pamphlets, Including Serials and Contributions to Periodicals Library of Congress.
