- Black August 1963 was a watershed in the history of the Black Panther Party (BPP) in the United States. It was the first time that the BPP had a national conference, and it was the first time that the BPP had a national newspaper. The conference was held in Oakland, California, and it was attended by representatives from all over the country. The newspaper, the Black Panther, was first published in Oakland in 1966. It was the first Black newspaper in the United States to be published by a Black man, and it was the first Black newspaper to be published by a Black woman. The Black Panther was a revolutionary newspaper, and it was a voice for the Black community. It was a voice for the Black struggle, and it was a voice for the Black future.
