Walk The Line The Art Of Drawing:

Performance Drawing Maryclare Foá, Jane Grisewood, Birgitta Hosea, Carali McCall, 2020-09-03 What is performance drawing When does a drawing turn into a performance Is the act of drawing in itself a performative process whether a viewer is present or not Through conversation interviews and essays the authors illuminate these questions and what it might mean to perform and what it might mean to draw in a diverse and expressive contemporary practice since 1945 The term performance drawing first appeared in the subtitle of Catherine de Zegher's Drawing Papers 20 Performance Drawings in particular with reference to Alison Knowles and Elena del Rivero In this book it is used as a trope and a thread of thinking to describe a process dedicated to broadening the field of drawing through resourceful practices and cross disciplinary influence Featuring a wide range of international artists this book presents pioneering practitioners alongside current and emerging artists The combination of experiences and disciplines in the expanded field has established a vibrant art movement that has been progressively burgeoning in the last few years The Introduction contextualises the background and identifies contemporary approaches to performance drawing As a way to embrace the different voices and various lenses in producing this book the authors combine individual perspectives and critical methodology in the five chapters While embedded in ephemerality and immediacy the themes encompass body and energy time and motion light and space imagined and observed demonstrating how drawing can act as a performative tool The dynamic interaction leads to a collective understanding of the term performance drawing and addresses the key developments and future directions of this applied drawing process

Walk the Line Ana Ibarra, Marc Valli, 2013-10-22 Drawing has always been a fundamental skill and good drawing skills allowed artists to grasp the reality around them At the turn of the millennium however the general impression was that with the wide availability of computers scanners digital cameras and image software drawing would dwindle into a marginal activity In fact the opposite happened the enthusiasm for digital imagery died down and the ability to draw has become a treasured skill In the art world attitudes to drawing have also changed Drawing became a way of making a statement as an artist of showing masterly skill something that up to then had been most commonly associated with painting After centuries in the shadow of its more illustrious fine art relatives drawing started to be appreciated for its own sake as an art discipline an end in itself an art form Walk the Line The Art of Drawing includes interviews with the international selection of artists as well as examples of their work It will appeal to anyone interested in contemporary art and illustration

Making Tim Ingold,2013-04-12 Making creates knowledge builds environments and transforms lives Anthropology archaeology art and architecture are all ways of making and all are dedicated to exploring the conditions and potentials of human life In this exciting book Tim Ingold ties the four disciplines together in a way that has never been attempted before In a radical departure from conventional studies that treat art and architecture as compendia of objects for analysis Ingold proposes an anthropology and archaeology not of but with art and architecture He advocates a way of thinking through making in which sentient practitioners and active materials continually answer to or correspond with one another in the generation of form Making offers a series of profound reflections on what it means to create things on materials and form the meaning of design landscape perception animate life personal knowledge and the work of the hand It draws on examples and experiments ranging from prehistoric stone tool making to the building of medieval cathedrals from round mounds to monuments from flying kites to winding string from drawing to writing The book will appeal to students and practitioners alike with interests in social and cultural anthropology archaeology architecture art and design visual studies and material culture The Art of Walking William Chapman Sharpe, 2023-05-23 A lively and thought provoking tour of the intertwined histories of art and walking A broad ranging book that has something for every Rambler Benjamin Riley New Criterion What does a walk look like In the first book to trace the history of walking images from cave art to contemporary performance William Chapman Sharpe reveals that a depicted walk is always more than a matter of simple steps Whether sculpted in stone painted on a wall or captured on film each detail of gait and dress each stride and gesture has a story to tell for every aspect of walking is shaped by social practices and environmental conditions From classical statues to the origins of cinema from medieval pilgrimages to public parks and the first footsteps on the moon walking has engendered a vast visual legacy intertwined with the path of Western art The path includes Romantic nature walkers and urban flâneurs as well as protest marchers and cell phone zombies It features works by artists such as Botticelli Raphael Claude Monet Norman Rockwell Agnès Varda Maya Lin and Pope L In 100 chronologically arranged images this book shows how new ways of walking have spurred new means of representation and how walking has permeated our visual culture ever since humans began to depict themselves in art How to Draw the World Philip Nel, University Distinguished Professor of English Philip Nel, 2024-11-27 This is a biography of the book that inspired Prince to adopt purple as his signature color Pulitzer Prize winning author Richard Powers to become a writer and countless other creative people to become artists Published 70 years ago Crockett Johnson's Harold and the Purple Crayon is a small book about big ideas ideas about childhood creativity politics psychology art and reality itself In thirty brief chapters this book explores those ideas illuminates the creative process and offers a primer on how picture books work Airing the Past: Inquiries into Digital Memories Nuria Rodríguez Ortega, Fátima Díez-Platas, Seppo Kuivakari, 2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Interdisciplinary Press in 2016 The articles comprised in this anthology are attempting to discuss the rapid change of digital media technologies and the way they impetus our understanding of history and memory History should not be regarded only as an object of research It is also a subject performing and registering agency The aim of the articles will not be to cover the whole range of mediated histories but to claim fresh insights for debate and discovery in terms of digital memories In this sense contributions for this volume will leave the doors of perception Aldous Huxley wide open and sketch the impact of media to different cultural practices identity work and preservation of history as well as the examination of it Likewise divergence of the papers at hand indicates that the concept digital ought to be recognized as institutional practices methodological tools or as content providers for memories Architecture as a Performing Art Marcia Feuerstein, Gray Read, 2016-04-15 How do buildings act with people and among people in the performances of life This collection of essays reveals a deep alliance between architecture and the performing arts uncovering its roots in ancient stories and tracing a continuous tradition of thought that emerges in contemporary practice With fresh insight the authors ask how buildings perform with people as partners rather than how they look as formal compositions They focus on actions the door that offers the possibility of making a dramatic entrance the window that frames a scene and the city street that is transformed in carnival The essays also consider the design process as a performance improvised among many players and offer examples of recent practice that integrates theater and dance This collection advances architectural theory history and criticism by proposing the lens of performance as a way to engage the multiple roles that buildings can play without reducing them to functional categories By casting architecture as spatial action rather than as static form these essays open a promising avenue for future investigation For architects the essays propose integrating performance into design through playful explorations that can reveal intense relationships between people and place and among people in place Such practices develop an architectural imagination that intuitively asks How might people play out their stories in this place and How might this place spark new stories Questions such as these reside in the heart of all of the essays presented here Together they open a position in the intersection between everyday life and staged performance to rethink the role of architectural design Landscape Architecture ,2006
