Wanderings by Southern Waters Edward Harrison Barker,2016-09-02 Excerpt from Wanderings by Southern Waters Eastern Aquitaine What witchery of romance and spell bound fancy is in the song of the Dordogne as it breaks over its shallows under high rocky cliffs and ruined castles Everything that can charm the poet and the artist is here The grandeur of rugged nature combines with the most enticing beauty of water and meadow and the voices of the past echo with a sweet sadness from cliff to cliff It is said that several of these castles were built to prevent the English from coming up the river but this may be treated as one of the many fanciful legends respecting the British period which are repeated throughout Aquitaine About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Autumn Impressions of the Gironde I. Giberne Sieveking,2021-05-19 In Autumn Impressions of the Gironde I Giberne Sieveking crafts a poignant exploration of the landscapes and cultural nuances of the Gironde region during the autumn season This evocative travel narrative marries vivid descriptions of the natural world with introspective observations on life and humanity reflecting the Romantic literary style that permeates the 19th century Sieveking employs a lyrical prose that captures the changing hues of autumn leaves against the backdrop of the Gironde River illustrating not only the beauty but also the temporality of nature s cycles Through his imaginative lens readers are invited to consider the interplay between environment and emotional experience making the work a rich reflection on the passing of time and existential contemplation I Giberne Sieveking an esteemed figure of his time was deeply influenced by his experiences traversing the picturesque landscapes of France His background in art and literature reveals his sensitivity to the subtleties of ambiance and emotion likely driving him to document the ethereal beauty of the Gironde Sieveking's work emerges from the broader context of travel literature aimed at the growing Victorian audience eager for escapism and reflection on distant lands Autumn Impressions of the Gironde is a must read for those drawn to atmospheric landscapes and philosophical inquiries It offers readers a unique opportunity to journey through the Gironde's autumnal scenery while simultaneously engaging with Sieveking's contemplative and artistic insights For both lovers of travel narratives and those interested in the introspective literary tradition this book is an enriching companion
