Abstract. We consider the problem of finding the maximum likelihood estimate of the parameters of a linear model with correlated errors. The errors are assumed to follow a first-order autoregressive process. The maximum likelihood estimates are obtained by solving a system of nonlinear equations. The asymptotic properties of the maximum likelihood estimates are studied. It is shown that the maximum likelihood estimates are consistent and efficient under certain conditions. The asymptotic distribution of the maximum likelihood estimates is also derived. Finally, some numerical results are presented.
