Yasukuni, the War Dead and the Struggle for Japan's Past John Breen, 2007 As the first authoritative volume in English on Yasukuni John Breen has edited a book that neither commends nor condemns the monument Instead it renders more complex an issue that in the media at least has been portrayed in starkly simplistic terms Breen presents authoritative yet divergent views on the shrine and its place in postwar Japanese diplomacy ideology and history Critical contributions are written by leading Yasukuni and anti Yasukuni Japanese intellectuals as well as Chinese and Western commentators BOOK JACKET East Asia Beyond the History Wars Tessa Morris-Suzuki, 2013 East Asia is now the world's economic powerhouse but ghosts of history continue to trouble relations between the key countries of the region particularly between Japan China and the two Koreas Unhappy legacies of Japan's military expansion in pre war Asia prompt on going calls for apologies while conflicts over ownership of cultural heritage cause friction between China and Korea and no peace treaty has ever been signed to conclude the Korean War For over a decade the region's governments and non government groups have sought to confront the ghosts of the past by developing paths to reconciliation Focusing particularly on popular culture and grassroots action East Asia beyond the History Wars explores these East Asian approaches to historical reconciliation This book examines how Korean historians from North and South exchange ideas about national history how Chinese film makers reframe their views of the war with Japan and how Japanese social activists develop grassroots reconciliation projects with counterparts from Korea and elsewhere As the volume's studies of museums monuments and memorials show East Asian public images of modern history are changing but change is fragile and uncertain This unfinished story of East Asia's search for historical reconciliation has important implications for the study of popular memory worldwide Presenting a fresh perspective on reconciliation which draws on both history and cultural studies this book will be welcomed by students and scholars working in the fields of Asian history Asian culture and society as well as those interested in war and memory studies more generally Transactions of the Asiatic Society of Japan Asiatic Society of Japan, 2014 List of transactions v 1 41 in v 41 Routledge Handbook of Modern Japanese History Sven Saaler, Christopher W. Managing and Interpreting D-Day's Sites of Memory Geoffrey Bird, Sean Claxton, Keir Reeves, 2016-03-02 More than seventy years following the D Day Landings of 6 June 1944 Normandy's war heritage continues to intrigue visitors and researchers. Receiving well over two million visitors a year the Normandy landscape of war is among the most visited cultural sites in France. This book explores the significant role that heritage and tourism play in the present day with regard to educating the public as well as commemorating those who fought. The book examines the perspectives, experiences and insights of those who work in the field of war heritage in the region of Normandy where the D Day landings and the Battle of Normandy occurred. In this volume practitioner authors represent a range of interrelated roles and responsibilities. These perspectives include national and regional governments and coordinating agencies involved in policy planning and implementation, war cemetery commissions, managers who oversee particular museums and sites and individual battlefield tour guides whose vocation is to research and interpret sites of memory. Often interviewed as key informants for scholarly articles, the day to day observations, experiences and management decisions of these guardians of remembrance provide valuable insight into a range of issues and approaches that inform the meaning of tourism, remembrance and war heritage as well as implications for the management of war sites elsewhere. Complementing the Normandy practitioner offerings, more scholarly investigations provide an opportunity to compare and debate what is happening in the management and interpretation at other World War II related sites of war memory such as at Pearl Harbor, Okinawa and Portsmouth UK. This innovative volume will be of interest to those interested in remembrance, tourism, war heritage, dark tourism, battlefield tourism, commemoration, D Day and World War II. China's Japan Policy: Learning from the Past Amrita Jash, 2023-11-03 The book establishes a linkage between perceptions and foreign policy by exploring how China's behavior towards Japan is driven by mental shortcuts. Narratives of Sorrow and Dignity Bardwell L. Smith, 2013-07-11 Bardwell L. Smith offers a fresh perspective on mizuko kuyo the Japanese ceremony performed to bring solace to those who have experienced miscarriage stillbirth or abortion Showing how old and new forms of myth symbol doctrine praxis and organization combine and overlap in contemporary mizuko kuyo Smith provides critical insight from many angles the sociology of the family the power of the medical profession the economics of temples the import of ancestral connections the need for healing in both private and communal ways and perhaps above all the place of women in modern Japanese religion At the heart of Smith's research is the issue of how human beings experience the death of a life that has been and remains precious to them While universal these losses are also personal and unique The role of society in helping people to heal from these experiences varies widely and has changed enormously in recent decades In examples of grieving for these kinds of losses one finds narratives not only of deep sorrow but of remarkable dignity

Excavating the Power of Memory in Japan Glenn D Hook, 2018-02-02 Excavating the power of memory offers a succinct examination of how memory is constructed embedded and disseminated in contemporary Japanese society The unique range and perspective of this collection will provide an understanding not found elsewhere It starts with a lucid introduction of how memory plays a political and wider social role in Japan Four case studies follow The first takes up the divergence in memory at the national and subnational levels by analysing the memory of the battle of Okinawa and US military accidents in Okinawa prefecture illuminating how memory in the prefecture embeds Okinawans as victims of mainland Japan and of the United States The second explores whether Japan's membership of the International Criminal Court represents a shift in the Japanese government's negative remembrance of the International Military Tribunal for the Far East demonstrating how both courts are largely portrayed as being disconnected in political debates The third offers an analysis of the surviving letters of the Kamikaze pilots in order to interrogate and compare their presumed identity in the dominant collective memory and their own self identities The fourth untangles how the memory of winds in Japanese fishing communities remains an expression of social thought that presides over the transmission of meaning about fishermen's geographical surroundings This book was previously published as a special issue of the Japan Forum

Handbook of Contemporary Japanese Religions Inken Prohl, John K. Nelson, 2012-09-03 Representing work by some of the leading scholars in the field the chapters in this handbook survey the transformation and innovation of religious traditions and practices in contemporary Japan The Politics of War Memory in Japan Kamila Szczepanska, 2014-05-09 Since the 1990s questions of Japanese wartime conduct apologies for aggression and compensation to former victims of the country's imperial policies have been brought to the fore of national and regional politics The state is undoubtedly the most important actor in the process of memory production and along with conservative legislators and the grass root revisionist movement there has been a consistent trend towards denying or undermining the existing acknowledgments of responsibility for Japan's wartime past However to fully comprehend war memory in Japan due attention must be paid to competing discourses that demand an alternative view and only then can the complexity of Japanese war memory and attitudes towards the legacies of the Asia Pacific war be understood The Politics of War Memory in Japan examines the involvement of five civil society actors in the struggle over remembering and addressing the wartime past in Japan today In studying progressive war memory activists it quickly becomes clear that the apologia by conservative politicians cannot be treated as representative of the opinion of the majority of the Japanese public Indeed this book seeks to remedy the disparity between studies devoted to the official level of addressing the history issue and the grass root historical revisionist movement on the one side and progressive activism on the other Furthermore it contributes to scholarly debates on the state of civil society in Japan challenging the characterisation of Japanese civil society as a depoliticised space by demonstrating a more contentious side of civil society activism Drawing important new empirical research this book will be of huge interest to students and scholars of Japanese civil society Japanese politics Japanese history and memory in Japan
