International Organizations under Pressure Klaus Dingwerth, Antonia Witt, Ina Lehmann, Ellen Reichel, Tobias Weise, 2019-03-21 International organizations like the United Nations, the International Monetary Fund or the European Union are a defining feature of contemporary world politics. In recent years many of them have also become heavily politicized. In this book we examine how the norms and values that underpin the evaluations of international organizations have changed over the past 50 years. Looking at five organizations in depth we observe two major trends. Taken together both trends make the legitimization of international organizations more challenging today. First, people-based legitimacy standards are on the rise: international organizations are increasingly asked to demonstrate not only what they do for their member states but also for the people living in these states. Second, procedural legitimacy standards gain ground: international organizations are increasingly evaluated not only based on what they accomplish but also based on how they arrive at decisions, manage themselves or coordinate with other organizations in the field. In sum, the study thus documents how the list of expectations international organizations need to fulfil to count as legitimate has expanded over time. The sources of this expansion are manifold. Among others they include the politicization of expanded international authority and the rise of non-state actors as new audiences from which international organizations seek legitimacy.

Josiah's Cry Jay Paul Roy, 2009-04 We are living in one of the most crucial times in the history of our nation. Our financial security has been shaken, our national security threatened, and we are at war in the Middle East. In the American Church, the grip of religion, false worship, and disunity is leaving us as tasteless salt to the world. The plum line of truth is increasingly becoming more skewed to fit the agendas of ambitious ministry. However, there is a generation rising up and crying out to know God in a real way. They are not about doing church but about glorifying God. These young leaders will lay a foundation of true change during a time of real persecution and trial by fire. We, the church, must embrace this. Josiah, spirit, crown them with authority and support them as they restore true worship in the church. A fiery windstorm is coming that will scorch the flesh and expose the heart. Listen to the winds as they whisper what is to come. From its lips and out of its throat bellows the heart of God: this is Josiah's Cry. The Rising Revolution. Can you hear it? Jay Paul Roy is a licensed professional counselor who lives and works in Georgetown, Texas, with his beautiful wife Kari and children Judson, Straton, and Asah.
