The Will To Empower Democratic Citizens And Other Subjects:

The Will to Empower Barbara Cruikshank, 2019-06-30 How do liberal democracies produce citizens who are capable of governing themselves In considering this question Barbara Cruikshank rethinks central topics in political theory including the relationship between welfare and citizenship democracy and despotism and subjectivity and subjection Drawing on theories of power and the creation of subjects Cruikshank argues that individuals in a democracy are made into self governing citizens through the small scale and everyday practices of voluntary associations reform movements and social service programs She argues that our empowerment is a measure of our subjection rather than of our autonomy from power Through a close examination of several contemporary American technologies of citizenship from welfare rights struggles to philanthropic self help schemes to the organized promotion of self esteem awareness she demonstrates how social mobilization reshapes the political in ways largely unrecognized in democratic theory Although the impact of a given reform movement may be minor the techniques it develops for creating citizens far extend the reach of governmental authority Combining a detailed knowledge of social policy and practice with insights from poststructural and feminist theory The Will to Empower shows how democratic citizens and the political are continually recreated Anthropologica ,2004 Building the Body Politic Margaret E. Farrar, 2008 Power language and urban planning politics in Washington D C Materializing Democracy Russ Castronovo, Dana D. Nelson, 2002-06-21 Investigates the complex histories and conflicting desires that are generally concealed behind the term democracy The Oxford Handbook of Citizenship Ayelet Shachar, Rainer Bauboeck, Irene Bloemraad, Maarten Vink, 2017-07-27 Contrary to predictions that it would become increasingly redundant in a globalizing world citizenship is back with a vengeance The Oxford Handbook of Citizenship brings together leading experts in law philosophy political science economics sociology and geography to provide a multidisciplinary comparative discussion of different dimensions of citizenship as legal status and political membership as rights and obligations as identity and belonging as civic virtues and practices of engagement and as a discourse of political and social equality or responsibility for a common good The contributors engage with some of the oldest normative and substantive quandaries in the literature dilemmas that have renewed salience in today's political climate As well as setting an agenda for future theoretical and empirical explorations this Handbook explores the state of citizenship today in an accessible and engaging manner that will appeal to a wide academic and non academic audience Chapters highlight variations in citizenship regimes practiced in different countries from immigrant states to non western contexts from settler societies to newly independent states attentive to both migrants and those who never cross an international border Topics include the selling of citizenship multilevel citizenship in between statuses citizenship laws post colonial citizenship the impact of technological change on citizenship and other cutting edge issues This Handbook is the major reference work for those engaged with citizenship from a legal political and cultural perspective Written by the most knowledgeable senior and emerging scholars in their fields this comprehensive volume offers state of the art analyses of the main challenges and prospects of citizenship in today's world of increased migration and globalization. Special emphasis is put on the question of whether inclusive and egalitarian citizenship can provide political legitimacy in a turbulent world of exploding social inequality and resurgent populism. Subversive Citizens Marian Barnes, David Prior, 2009-07-29. The idea of subversive citizenship is explored through theoretical and empirical analyses by a range of prominent social researchers. Citizen Consciousness in Cambodia Johannes Ph. Backhaus, 2020-06-28. Johannes Ph. Backhaus applies the Model of Education Reconstruction MER to the context of a social accountability intervention in Cambodia. This book is not an evaluation but adopts a qualitative perspective on the learning approach applied by the researched intervention. The research found that the learning intervention does not systematically include learners' pre-existing social knowledge. It would potentially benefit from systematically harvesting and reinforcing pre-held convictions to sustainably motivate participation. It does not address potentially sensitive topics while interviewees show a sophisticated and holistic understanding of these. Finally, there are inconsistencies between the program's aims and objectives. In sum, the piloted approach offers pathways on how to beneficially include qualitative perspectives on similar development interventions. Michel Foucault and Education Policy Analysis Stephen Ball, 2017-10-02. The work of Michel Foucault has become a major resource for educational researchers seeking to understand how education makes us what we are. In this book, a group of contributors explore how Foucault's work is used in a variety of ways to explore the hows and whos of education policy, its technologies and its subjectivities, its oppressions and its freedoms. The book takes full advantage of the opportunities for creativity that Foucault's ideas and methods offer to researchers in deploying genealogy, discourse and subjectivation as analytic devices. The collection as a whole works to make us aware that we are freer than we think. This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Education Policy. Praxis for the Poor Sanford F. Schram, 2002-01-01. Praxis for the Poor puts the relationship of politics to scholarship front and center through an examination of the work of Frances Fox Piven and Richard Cloward. Piven and Cloward proved that social science could inform social policy, politics in ways that helped energize a movement. Praxis for the Poor offers a critical reflection on their work and builds upon it, demonstrating how a more politically engaged scholarship can contribute to the struggle for social justice. Necessary reading for political scientists, sociologists, social workers, social welfare activists, policy makers and anyone concerned with the plight of the poor and oppressed. Praxis for the Poor shows how social science can play a role in building a better future for social welfare. South Africa's Insurgent Citizens Doctor Julian Brown, 2015-07-15. Twenty years on from South Africa's first democratic election, the post-apartheid political order is more fractured and more fractious than ever before. Police violence seems the order of the day, whether in response to a protest in Ficksburg or a public meeting outside a mine in Marikana. For many, this has signalled the end of the South African dream. Politics, they declare, is the preserve of the corrupt, the self-interested, the incompetent and the violent. They are wrong. Julian Brown argues that a new kind of politics can be seen on the streets and in the courtrooms of the country This politics is made by a new kind of citizen one that is neither respectful nor passive but instead insurgent The collapse of the dream of a consensus politics is not a cause for despair South Africa s political order is fractured and in its cracks new forms of activity new leaders and new movements are emerging

Empowering Women in Russia Julie Hemment,2007-03-12 Julie Hemment s engrossing study traces the development encounter through interactions between international foundations and Russian women s groups during a decade of national collapse Prohibited from organizing independently under state socialism women s groups became a focus of attention in the mid 1990s for foundations eager to promote participatory democracy but the version of civil society that has emerged the third sector is far from what Russian activists envisioned and what donor agencies promised Drawing on ethnographic methods and Participatory Action Research Hemment tells the story of her introduction to and growing collaboration with members of the group Zhenskii Svet Women s Light in the provincial city of Tver

Media and the Restyling of Politics John Corner,Dick Pels,2003-08-07 Within media research and cultural studies the mediation of politicians and the play off between versions of high and low politics are attracting increasing interest Media and the Restyling of Politics brings together the work of leading academics in media and cultural studies to pursue an agenda of research analysis and debate about the changing nature of political culture and its mediation The contributors question the ways in which emerging forms of political style relate not only to new conventions of celebrity and publicity but to ideas about representation citizenship and the democratic process Topics covered include celebrity politicians the marketing of politics identity and popular culture

How We Struggle Sian Lazar,2023-01-20 A comparative ethnographic approach to the question of labour struggles and workers political agency A masterful book a resource that makes anthropology matter Andrea Muehlebach Professor of Anthropology University of Bremen When it comes to labor movements unionized industrial workers on the factory floor have only ever been part of the picture Across so many different workplaces sectors of the economy and geographical contexts the question of how working people struggle in the day to day has no single answer Here Sian Lazar offers a unique anthropological perspective on labor agency that takes in examples from across the globe from heavy industry and agriculture to the service and informal sectors She asks how do people strive to improve their lives and working conditions How are they constrained and enabled in that struggle by the nature of the work they do and by their own positionality in local histories cultures and networks How We Struggle explores worker action across the spectrum from organized trade unionism to individualized strategies of accommodation resistance and escape The book marries a discussion of global political economy and Marxist feminist theories of labor with ethnographic approaches that begin from a perspective of human experience kinship and radical heterogeneity

The Legacies of Institutionalisation Claire Spivakovsky,Linda Steele,Penelope Weller,2020-07-09 This is the first collection to examine the legal dynamics of deinstitutionalisation It considers the extent to which some contemporary laws policies and practices affecting people with disabilities are moving towards the promised end point of enhanced social and political participation in the community while others may instead reinstate continue or legitimate historical practices associated with this population's institutionalisation. Bringing together 20 contributors from the UK, Canada, Australia, Spain and Indonesia, the book speaks to overarching themes of segregation and inequality, interlocking forms of oppression and rights-based advancements in law, policy and practice. Ultimately, this collection brings forth the possibilities, limits and contradictions in the roles of law and policy in processes of institutionalisation and deinstitutionalisation and directs us towards a more nuanced and sustained scholarly and political engagement with these issues.

Disability in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet Union Michael Rasell, Elena Iarskaia-Smirnova, 2013-11-26. There are over thirty million disabled people in Russia and Eastern Europe yet their voices are rarely heard in scholarly studies of life and well-being in the region. This book brings together new research by internationally recognised local and non-native scholars in a range of countries in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union. It covers historically the origins of legacies that continue to affect well-being and policy in the region today. Discussions of disability in culture and society highlight the broader conditions in which disabled people must build their identities and well-being whilst in-depth biographical profiles outline what living with disabilities in the region is like. Chapters on policy interventions including international influences examine recent reforms and the difficulties of implementing inclusive community-based care. The book will be of interest both to regional specialists for whom well-being, equality and human rights are crucial concerns and to scholars of disability and social policy internationally.

Beyond Origins Angélica María Bernal, Angélica Reyna Bernal, 2017. Beyond Origins challenges the common view of foundings as singular extraordinary moments of political origin and creation. Engaging with cases of founding across political traditions from classical Greece to contemporary Latin America, the book argues that it is only through pragmatist understandings of democratic origins that we can realize the potential for radical democratic change.

Practical and Ethical Dilemmas in Researching Sensitive Topics with Populations Considered Vulnerable Ana Patrícia Hilário, Fábio Rafael Augusto, 2020-11-06. This book seeks to support social science researchers who interact with vulnerability and/or sensitivity in the context of their research. Whilst there has been some important debate about the theoretical, methodological and ethical issues of conducting research on sensitive topics and/or with vulnerable populations, the number of scholarly publications focused solely on these topics is limited and not up to date. The book intends to fill this gap by providing various research experiences as well as the elements that characterize them. The articles selected for this book intend first and foremost to stimulate reflexivity amongst the use of the concepts of sensitive topics and vulnerable groups and to provide tools that will allow researchers to improve their research practices. The book integrates several articles that explore a wide range of dilemmas that to a certain extent might allow the reader to access the backstage of this type of research. The reader will find here a rich and fruitful space for theoretical and empirical reflection where several social science researchers with different backgrounds share their experiences and
