Tracks Change Railways Everyday Colonial:

Tracks of Change Ritika Prasad, 2016-05-12 From the mid nineteenth century onwards railways became increasingly important in the lives of a growing number of Indians While allowing millions to collectively experience the endemic discomforts of third class travel the public opportunities for proximity and contact created by railways simultaneously compelled colonial society to confront questions about exclusion difference and community It was not only passengers however who were affected by the transformations that railways wrought Even without boarding a train one could see railway tracks and embankments reshaping familiar landscapes realise that train schedules represented new temporal structures fear that spreading railway links increased the reach of contagion and participate in new forms of popular politics focused around railway spaces Tracks of Change explores how railway technology travel and infrastructure became increasingly woven into everyday life in colonial India how people negotiated with the growing presence of railways and how this process has shaped India's history

Tracks of Change Ritika Prasad, 2015 Discusses how railway technology travel and infrastructure became increasingly and inextricably woven with everyday life in colonial South Asia how people negotiated this increasing presence of railways in their lives and how the ensuing processes has materially shaped South Asia's present

Temple Tracks Vineeta Sinha, 2023-08-11 The notions of labour mobility and piety have a complex and intertwined relationship Using ethnographic methods and a historical perspective Temple Tracks critically outlines the interlink of railway construction in colonial and post colonial Asia as well as the anthropology of infrastructure and transnational mobilities with religion In Malaysia and Singapore evidence of religion making and railway building from a colonial past is visible in multiple modes and media as memories recollections and traces

The Railways in Colonial South Asia Ganeswar Nayak, 2021-06-13 This book is an interesting collection of essays on the Railways in Colonial South Asia The book introduces the key concepts which have now entered the study of railway history e.g. economy ecology culture health and crime through the various essays The well researched essays include those on the Imperial Railways in nineteenth century South Asia Pakistan Railway Impact of railway expansion on the Himalayan forests development of the Sri Lankan Railways a study of the European employees of the BB CI Railways problems of Indian Railway up to c. ad 1900 railways in Gujarati literature and tradition mapping the Gaikwad Baroda State Railway on the colonial rail network coming of railways in Bihar expansion of railway to colonial Orissa etc This book will be of immense value to those researching on various dimensions of railway transport in colonial South Asia It can also be read by the more perceptive general reader exploring books on railways Please note Taylor Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in India Pakistan Nepal Bhutan Bangladesh and Sri Lanka

The Global in the Local Xin Zhang, 2023-04-04 In the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries world historic political economic and technological developments transformed everyday life in places like Zhenjiang a midsize Chinese river town Xin Zhang explores the local negotiation of globalization through the experience of Zhenjiang's merchants entrepreneurs and ordinary residents Imperial Engineers Richard Hornsey, 2022-03-31 Established in 1871 on the outskirts of London the Royal Indian Engineering College at Coopers Hill was arguably the first engineering school in Britain For thirty five years the college helped staff the government institutions of British India responsible for the railways irrigation systems telegraph network and forests Founded to meet the high demand for engineers in that country it was closed thirty five years later because its educational innovations had been surpassed by Britain s universities on both occasions against the wishes of the Government of India Imperial Engineers offers a complete history of the Royal Indian Engineering College Drawing on the diaries of graduates working in India the college magazine student and alumni periodicals and other archival documents Richard Hornsey details why the college was established and how the students education prepared them for their work Illustrating the impact of the college and its graduates in India and beyond Imperial Engineers illuminates the personal and professional experiences of British men in India as well as the transformation of engineering education at a time of social and technological change Cosmopolitan Aspirations in Contemporary Cinema María del Mar Azcona, Julia Echeverría, Pablo Gómez-Muñoz, 2024-12-16 This book presents cosmopolitanism as a useful methodological approach to understand the transnational synergies present in contemporary cinema In line with existing literature from the social sciences the volume aims to contribute to the cosmopolitan turn in cinema studies It considers cosmopolitanism as among others a personal and social aspiration of social justice world citizenship and celebration of difference a notion to be criticised as elitist Western often imperialist and homogenising and an actually existing social practice characterised by contradiction messiness and conflict The chapters in this volume offer insights into the variety of sometimes contradictory discourses that arise from a cosmopolitan interpretation of a wide variety of film texts Key topics explored in this book include borders im mobilities migration race class and film aesthetics This book will be particularly useful to film studies scholars and students looking at transnational global world and decolonial cinemas and focusing on topics like borders migration and multiculturalism in film This book will also appeal to academic communities studying media literature mobilities geopolitics sociology and the social sciences in general Handbook Global History of Work Karin Hofmeester, Marcel van der Linden, 2017-11-20 Coffee from East Africa wine from California chocolate from the Ivory Coast all those every day products are based on labour often produced under appalling conditions but always involving the combination of various work processes we are often not aware of What is the day to day reality for workers in various parts of the world and how was it in the past How do they work today and how did they work in the past These and many other questions comprise the field of the global history of work a young discipline that is introduced with this handbook In 8 thematic chapters this book discusses these aspects of work in a global and long term perspective paying attention to several kinds of work Convict labour slave and wage labour labour migration and workers of the textile industry but also workers organisation strikes and motivations for work are part of this first handbook of global labour history written by the most renowned scholars of the profession Against the Fetishisation of

Plural Time Nitin Sinha, 2025-06-02 From the viewpoint of social history is time itself a plural entity or are there multiple forms of engagement in and with it Pivoted around this question Sinha attempts to rethink the current theory and practice of history writing by pointing the pitfalls of the growing fetishisation of plurality and the plural time framework Engaging a range of studies in History Anthropology and Sociology Sinha provides a critical assessment of some of the leading frameworks on time studies questions their foundational premises highlights their limitations and proposes an alternative framework that is attuned to privileging the approach of social history The purposes of the latter the book argues is best served when time's irreversible character is not diluted under the weight of plurality Plurality in time is an outcome of practices and their historicisation plurality of time can become an empty statement Rather than defining what time is the book casts that inquiry into the historical mould to explore how time as a contestatory resource becomes part of social relationships and what it does to them when scripts of power align themselves with the control of time Iran in Motion

Mikiya Koyagi, 2021-04-27 Completed in 1938 the Trans Iranian Railway connected Tehran to Iran's two major bodies of water the Caspian Sea in the north and the Persian Gulf in the south Iran's first national railway it produced and disrupted various kinds of movement voluntary and forced intended and unintended on different scales and in different directions among Iranian diplomats tribesmen migrant laborers technocrats railway workers tourists and pilgrims as well as European imperial officials alike Iran in Motion tells the hitherto unexplored stories of these individuals as they experienced new levels of mobility Drawing on newspapers industry publications travelogues and memoirs as well as American British Danish and Iranian archival materials Mikiya Koyagi traces contested imaginations and practices of mobility from the conception of a trans Iranian railway project during the nineteenth century global transport revolution to its early years of operation on the eve of Iran's oil nationalization movement in the 1950s Weaving together various individual experiences this book considers how the infrastructural megaproject reoriented the flows of people and goods In so doing the railway project simultaneously brought the provinces closer to Tehran and pulled them away from it thereby constantly reshaping local national and transnational experiences of space among mobile individuals
