Commerce and Its Discontents in Eighteenth-Century French Political Thought Anoush Fraser Terjanian, 2013 This book uncovers the ambivalence towards commerce in eighteenth century France questioning the assumption that commerce was widely celebrated in the era of Adam Smith

Reimagining Society in 18th Century French Literature Jonas Ross Kjærgård, 2018-08-06 The French revolutionary shift from monarchical to popular sovereignty came clothed in a new political language a significant part of which was a strange coupling of happiness and rights In Old Regime ideology Frenchmen were considered subjects who had no need of understanding why what was prescribed to them would be in the interest of their happiness The 1789 Declaration of the Rights of Man and of the Citizen equipped the French with a list of inalienable rights and if society would respect those rights the happiness of all would materialize This volume explores the authors of fictional literature who contributed alongside pamphleteers politicians and philosophers to the establishment of this new political arena filled with sometimes vague yet insistent notions of happiness and rights The shift from monarchical to popular sovereignty and the corollary transition from subjects to citizens culminated in the summer of 1789 but it was preceded by an immense piece of imaginative work

Narratives of Dislocation in the Arab World Nadeen Dakkak, 2023-03-08 This monograph explores and investigates narratives of physical psychological and emotional dislocation that take place within the Arab world approaching them as manifestations of the Arabic word ghurba or estrangement as a feeling and state of being Distancing itself from the centrality of the West in postcolonial and Arabic literary studies the book explores experiences of migration displacement and cosmopolitanism that do not directly ensue from the encounter with Europe or the European other Covering texts from the Levant Egypt the Arabian Peninsula and beyond from the 19th 20th and 21st centuries the book grounds narratives of dislocation in the political social and cultural structures that affect the everyday lived experiences of individuals and communities An analysis of Arabic Turkish and English texts encompassing fiction memoirs and translations highlights less visible narratives of ghurba specifically amongst ethnic minorities and religious communities Ultimately the chapters contribute to a picture of the Arab world as a place of ghurba where mobile and immobile subjects foreigners and local inhabitants alike encounter alienation Bringing together a diverse range of academic perspectives the book will be of interest to students and scholars in postcolonial and comparative literary studies history and Arabic and Middle East studies

Discursive Framings of Human Rights Karen-Margrethe Simonsen, Jonas Ross Kjaergard, 2016-10-14 What does it mean to be a subject of human rights The status of the subject is closely connected with the form and rhetoric of the framing discourse and this book investigates the relationship between the status of the subject and the form of human rights discourse in differing aesthetic and social contexts Historical as well as contemporary declarations of rights have stressed both the protective and political aspects of human rights But in concrete situations and conflictual moments the high moral legitimacy of human rights rhetoric has often clouded the actual character of specific interventions and so made it difficult to differentiate between the objects of humanitarian intervention and the subjects of politics Critically re examining this opposition between victims and agents of human rights through a focus on the ways in which discourses of rights are formed and circulated within and between political societies this book elicits the fluidity of their relationship and with it the shifting relation between human rights and humanitarianism Analysing the symbolic framings of testimonies disaster stories atrocity tales political speeches and philosophical arguments it thus establishes a relationship between these different genres and the political economic and legal dimensions of human rights discourse The Sun King's Atlantic Jutta Wimmmler,2017-02-06

French Theatre, Orientalism, and the Representation of India, 1770-1865 David Hammerbeck,2021-12-30 This book examines the French theatricalization of India from 1770 to 1865 and how a range of plays not only represented India to the French viewing public but also staged issues within French culture including colonialism imperialism race gender and national politics Through examining these texts and available performance history and incorporating historical texts and cultural theory David Hammerback analyses these works to illustrate a complex of cultural representations some contested Orientalism some participated in Western colonialist discourses while some can be placed somewhere between these two markers of ideology in Western culture and the arts He also assesses the works which participated in shaping the theatrical face of Western hegemony ones directly participating in Orientalism as delineated by Edward Said and others This book will be of great interest to students and scholars in theatre French literature history and cultural studies Creolised Science Dorit Brixius,2024-04-04 Truly global study of creolised plant knowledge in eighteenth century Mauritius exploring how people came together to create new practices Red Sea-Red Square-Red Thread Lydia Goehr,2022 Designed as a philosophical detective story Red Sea Red Square Red Thread follows the extraordinary number of thinkers and artists who have used the Red Sea anecdote to make so much more than a merely anecdotal point Leading the large cast are the philosophers Arthur Danto and S ren Kierkegaard the poet and playwright Henri Murger the opera composer Giacomo Puccini and the painter and print maker William Hogarth Strange companions perhaps until their use of the anecdote is shown as working its extraordinary passage through so many cosmopolitan cities of art and capital Lydia Goehr explores these narratives of emancipation in philosophy theology politics and the arts
