The Urban Caribbean Transition To The New Global Economy:

The Urban Caribbean Alejandro Portes, Carlos Dore y Cabral, Patricia Landolt, 1997-06-03 A study of urbanization in five countries Costa Rica Haiti Guatemala the Dominican Republic and Jamaica during the 1980s and 1990s when the region's economy shifted from one heavily dependent on imports to one directed more to producing exports The Urban Caribbean studies urbanization in five countries Costa Rica Haiti Guatemala the Dominican Republic and Jamaica during the 1980s and 1990s when the region's economy shifted from one heavily dependent on imports to one directed more to producing exports This shift caused producers and entrepreneurs to rely more on microenterprises thus challenging the informal economy networks of the central cities Sociologist Alejandro Portes and the other contributors use rich in depth data to examine both qualitative and quantitative changes in these five countries Their research method allows them to make generalizations applicable to all five economies while retaining the concreteness of the similarities and differences that make each country unique This volume is an incentive to other collaborative efforts to chart the paths taken by the countries of Latin America and the Caribbean as they seek to accommodate to the new global political and economic context The message of the volume is a convincing one Because of similarities in the trends affecting countries of the region and policy debates each country can benefit from the experiences of the others However the differences in political structure and in the nature of citizenship mean that social and economic policy debates must take into account the national context from the Foreword by Bryan Roberts University of Texas Austin The Urban Caribbean in an Era of Global Change Robert B. Potter, 2017-03-02 Based on the author's first hand field research this book addresses the twin processes of urbanization and globalization as they affect the contemporary Caribbean region One of the key aims of the book is to focus attention on the fact that contrary to popular perceptions the Caribbean is highly urbanized Indeed statistics show that the region is more highly urbanized than the world taken as a whole In addition the fact that the Caribbean region has always been affected by processes of globalization in respect of its economy polity and society is central to the text The chapters cover pressing topics such as urban change and the evolution of mini metropolitan regions the importance of the mercantile and plantopolis frameworks tourism post modernity and the urban nexus economic change and the dual processes of global convergence and divergence and the nature of the relationships existing between the state the informal sector housing and environmental conditions In reality it is shown that the development of tourism and enclave manufacturing is leading to new forms of urban concentration and not spatial dispersal A World-Systems Reader Thomas D. Hall, 2000-03-01 This book brings together some of the most influential new research from the world systems perspective The authors survey and analyze new and emerging topics from a wide range of disciplinary perspectives from political science to archaeology Each analytical essay is written in accessible language so that the volume serves as a lucid introduction both to the tradition of world systems thought and the new debates that are sparking further research today The New Economic Sociology Maruo F. Guillen, Randall Collins, Paula

England, Marshall Meyer, 2002-04-25 As the American economy surged in the 1990s economic sociology made great strides as well Economists and sociologists worked across disciplinary boundaries to study the booming market as both a product and a producer of culture tracing the correlations they saw between economic and social phenomena In the process they debated the methodological issues that arose from their interdisciplinary perspectives The New Economic Sociology provides an overview of these debates and assesses the state of the burgeoning discipline The contributors summarize economic sociology's accomplishments to date identifying key theoretical problems and opportunities and formulating strategies for future research in the field The book opens with an introduction to the main debates and conceptual approaches in economic sociology Contributor Neil Fligstein suggests that the current resurgence of interest in economic sociology is due to the way it brings together many sociological subdisciplines including the study of markets households labor markets stratification networks and culture Other contributors examine the role of economic phenomena from a network perspective Ron Burt for example demonstrates how social relationships affect competitive dynamics in the marketplace A third set of chapters addresses the role of gender in economic sociology In her chapter Barbara Reskin rethinks conventional notions about discrimination and points out that the law only covers one type of discrimination while in recent years social scientists have uncovered other forms of hidden discrimination which must be addressed as well The New Economic Sociology also addresses the problem of economic development and change from a sociological perspective Alejandro Portes and Margarita Mooney elaborate on one of the key emerging concepts in economic sociology arguing that social capital as an attribute of communities and regions can contribute to economic and social well being by fostering collaboration and entrepreneurship The contributors concur that economic action must be interpreted through the cultural understandings that lend it stability and meaning By rendering these often complex debates accessible The New Economic Sociology makes a significant contribution to this still rapidly developing field and provides a useful guide for future avenues of research

Home-based Economic Activities and Caribbean Urban Livelihoods Hebe Verrest, 2007 Poor urban households in the economic south deploy various livelihood activities One of these is a Home Based Economic Activity HBEA e g sales of home made snacks or car maintenance This study examines the prevalence organisation and relevance of HBEAs in four neighbourhoods in the Caribbean cities Paramaribo Suriname and Port of Spain Trinidad and Tobago Recent economic developments in these countries diverge Suriname recovers slowly from a crisis while Trinidad and Tobago's economy is buoyant These economic features together with local political developments have produced distinct institutional contexts This gives ground for a comparison between the two cities In addition the study discusses the relevance of currently popular policies on entrepreneurship and micro finance The above issues have been assessed through use of multiple quantitative and qualitative methods The study shows that forty percent of households in the examined neighbourhoods earn money through operating HBEAs These are mainly operated by women and assist households in improving their livelihoods from a level of survival to a level of security Most HBEA operators aim at earning additional incomes and reducing vulnerability Only a small group meets the image of the classic operator who innovates takes risk and aims at growth and profit The two groups organize their HBEA in very distinct ways Differences between Suriname and Trinidad and Tobago are small First of all economic growth has limited impact on assets and vulnerability of low income groups Moreover policies aiming at stimulation of entrepreneurship such as micro credit are relevant to classic entrepreneurs and not to the large group of security seeking HBEA operators

Denise Brennan,2004-05-14 An ethnographic case study of sex tourism in the Dominican Republic showing how the sex trade is linked to economic and cultural globalization Global Markets and Local Crafts Frederick F. Wherry,2008-02-25 Today it is not uncommon to find items in department stores that are hand crafted in countries like Thailand and Costa Rica These traditional crafts now make up an important part of a global market They support local and sometimes national economies and help create and solidify cultural identity But these crafts are not necessarily indigenous Whereas Thailand markets crafts with a long history and cultural legacy Costa Rica has created a local handicraft tradition where none was known to exist previously In Global Markets and Local Crafts Frederick F Wherry compares the handicraft industries of Thailand and Costa Rica to show how local cultural industries break into global markets and conversely how global markets affect the ways in which artisans understand adapt and utilize their cultural traditions Wherry develops a new framework for studying globalization by considering the phenomenon from the perspective of the supplier instead of the market Drawing from interviews and extensive fieldwork shadowing artisans and exporters in their daily dealings Wherry offers a rare account of globalization in motion and what happens when market negotiations do not proceed as planned Considering economic and political forces flows of people and materials and frames that define cultural and market situations as they play out in the artisan communities of these two countries Wherry uncovers how authentic folk tradition is capitalized or created

Black Identities Mary C. Waters,2009-07-01 The story of West Indian immigrants to the United States is considered a great success Many of these adoptive citizens have prospered including General Colin Powell But Mary Waters tells a very different story about immigrants from the West Indies especially their children She finds that when the immigrants first arrive their knowledge of English their skills and contacts their self respect and their optimistic assessment of American race relations facilitate their integration into the American economic structure Over time however the realities of American race relations begin to swamp their positive cultural values Persistent blatant racial discrimination soon undermines the openness to whites the immigrants have when they first arrive Discrimination in housing channels them into neighborhoods with inadequate city services and high crime rates Inferior public schools undermine their hopes for their children's future Low wages and poor working conditions are no longer attractive for their children who use American and not Caribbean standards to measure success Ultimately the values that gained these first generation immigrants initial success a willingness to work hard a lack of attention to racism a desire for education an incentive to save are undermined by the realities of life in the United States In many families the hard won relative success of the parents is followed by the downward slide of their children Contrary to long held beliefs Waters finds those who resist Americanization are most likely to succeed economically especially in the second generation

Securing the City

Kevin Lewis O'Neill, Kedron Thomas, 2011-03-09 Anthropologists and historians examine how postwar violence in Guatemala City is reconfiguring urban space transforming the relationship between city and country and exacerbating structures of inequality and ethnic discrimination

Urban Dwellings, Haitian Citizenships Vincent Joos, 2021-12-10 Urban Dwellings Haitian Citizenships explores the failed international reconstruction of Port au Prince after the devastating 2010 earthquake It describes the failures of international aid in Haiti while it analyzes examples of Haitian based reconstruction and economic practices By interrogating the relationship between indigenous uses of the cityscape and the urbanization of the countryside within a framework that centers on the violence of urban planning the book shows that the forms of economic development promoted by international agencies institutionalize impermanence and instability Conversely it shows how everyday Haitians use and transform the city to create spaces of belonging and forms of citizenship anchored in a long history of resistance to extractive economies Taking readers into the remnants of failed industrial projects in Haitian provinces and into the streets

ruddle and homes of Port au Prince this book reflects on the possibilities and meanings of dwelling in post disaster urban landscapes On the Edges of Development Kum-Kum Bhavnani, John Foran, Priya Kurian, Debashish Munshi, 2009-03-04
This volume re imagines development through a careful and imaginative exploration of some of the many ways that culture in the broadest sense of lived experience and its representation can recentre resistance suggest alternative models and advance critiques of development as it is currently practised
