Histoire Sociale, 1989 When Champagne Became French Kolleen M. Guy, 2007-09 This work explains how nationhood emerges by viewing countries as cultural artifacts a product of invented traditions In the case of France scholars disagree not only over the nature of French national identity but also over the extent to which diverse and sometimes hostile provincial communities became integrated into the nation The author offers a new perspective by looking at one of the central elements in French national culture luxury wine and the rural communities that profited from its production

Liquor and Labor in Southern Africa J. S. Crush, Jonathan Crush, Charles H. Ambler, 1992 When the youth of Soweto in open insurrection in June 1976 smashed and burned eighteen state owned liquor outlets and a similar number of bottle stores they were not following the pattern of alcohol looting which often accompanies rioting They were attacking symbols of state oppression and their anger stemmed partly from deep and complicated struggles over control of the access of blacks to alcohol in South Africa From many published sources official and unofficial the social and economic importance of alcohol in black communities is glaringly evident The subject has however received little systematic scholarly attention to date Liquor and labor in southern Africa breaks new ground in locating the study of alcohol use within the framework of southern African historiography Humanities ,1987 Humanities National Endowment for the Humanities,1987 The Sober Revolution Joseph Bohling,2018-12-15 Burgundy Bordeaux Champagne The names of these and other French regions bring to mind time honored winemaking practices Yet the link between wine and place in French known as terroir was not a given In The Sober Revolution Joseph Bohling inverts our understanding of French wine history by revealing a modern connection between wine and place one with profound ties to such diverse and sometimes unlikely issues as alcoholism drunk driving regional tourism Algeria s independence from French rule and integration into the European Economic Community In the 1930s cheap mass produced wines from the Languedoc region of southern France and French Algeria dominated French markets Artisanal wine producers worried about the impact of these inferior products on the reputation of their wines created a system of regional appellation labeling to reform the industry in their favor by linking quality to the place of origin At the same time the loss of Algeria once the world s largest wine exporter forced the industry to rethink wine production Over several decades appellation producers were joined by technocrats public health activists tourism boosters and other dynamic economic actors who blamed cheap industrial wine for hindering efforts to modernize France Today scholars food activists and wine enthusiasts see the appellation system as a counterweight to globalization and industrial food But as The Sober Revolution reveals French efforts to localize wine and integrate into global markets were not antagonistic but instead mutually dependent The time honored winemaking practices that we associate with a pastoral vision of traditional France were in fact a strategy deployed by the wine industry to meet the challenges and opportunities of the post 1945 international economy France s luxury wine producers were more market savvy than we realize The Battle for the Republique Démocratique Et Sociale in the Narbonnais, 1830-1875 Christopher E. Guthrie,2006 Between 1830 and 1875 the city of Narbonne experienced the growth of a bourgeois opposition movement during the July Monarchy repeated confrontations between republicans and their opponents during the second republic the creation of an organized popular republican movement during the Second Empire and the eruption of the insurrectionary Commune of Narbonne during the spring of 1871 This book traces the trajectory of the long term political evolution of the concept of the republique democratique et sociale among the popular class of the Narbonnais Bibliography of European Economic and Social History Derek Howard Aldcroft,Richard Rodger,1993 This bibliographical guide contains 10 000 references to the economic and social history of 30 European countries during the period 1700-1939. More than 3000 periodicals have been consulted to obtain references as well as books, edited collections and conference proceedings. The information is listed in categories such as industry, agriculture, finance, migration, labour conditions, urban communities and organizations. A discussion of the structure and role of migration flows affecting France from 1850 to the present day. It covers both internal and international movements and consideration is given both to broad macro scale analysis and more detailed micro scale investigations. Humanities, 1987. Newsletter Northwestern University (Evanston, Ill.). Department of History, 1985. The Blood of the Colony Owen White, 2021-01-12. The surprising story of the wine industry's role in the rise of French Algeria and the fall of empire. We owe to wine a blessing far more precious than gold: the peopling of Algeria with Frenchmen. Stated agriculturist Pierre Berthault in the early 1930s. In the last decades of the nineteenth century Europeans had displaced Algerians from the colony's best agricultural land and planted grapevines. Soon enough wine was the primary export of a region whose mostly Muslim inhabitants didn't drink alcohol. Settlers made fortunes while drawing large numbers of Algerians into salaried work for the first time. But the success of Algerian wine resulted in friction with French producers challenging the traditional view that imperial possessions should complement not compete with the metropole. By the middle of the twentieth century amid the fight for independence Algerians had come to see the rows of vines as an especially hated symbol of French domination. After the war Algerians had to decide how far they would go to undo the transformations the colonists had wrought including the world's fourth biggest wine industry. Owen White examines Algeria's experiment with nationalized wine production in worker-run vineyards, the pressures that resulted in the failure of that experiment and the eventual uprooting of most of the country's vines. With a special focus on individual experiences of empire from the wealthiest Europeans to the poorest laborers in the fields. The Blood of the Colony shows the central role of wine in the economic life of French Algeria and in its settler culture. White makes clear that the industry left a long-term mark on the development of the nation. International Journal of Oral History, 1985. The Social History of Alcohol Review, 1989. Wine and Society Steve Charters, 2006-08-11. Wine is becoming increasingly popular in the Anglophone world and there are many books available which describe how and where it is made. However none address the fundamental questions of different structures of production and how the consumer relates to the product. This book is the first to do just that. Wine and Society the cultural and social context of wine production and consumption looks at the relationship between wine production and marketing focussing in consumer behaviour and cultural attitudes. Divided into four parts it examines the context of wine production, the wine consumer and the social context of wine, discussing the following themes: That the core of wine production and consumption is shaped by historical, geographical and cultural factors. Wine production European and new world looking at the different kinds of producer and how the varying background of each shapes their perspective.

on what they produce Terroir and appellations why demarcation and sense of place became important how they are used to achieve marketing differentiation and the benefits or otherwise to the customer The contemporary wine consumer and lifestyle factors looking at wine clubs tourism education culture and literature The politics and economics of wine from supporting rural industries in France to protecting customers from deception and health risks Suitable for third year and post graduate students of hospitality wine both in production and marketing wine tourism gastronomy and related courses it encourages students to think critically about the issues raised by using real life case studies and examples from around the world also including press releases and marketing campaigns The Social Anthropology of Western Europe John M.
