Maya Wisdom and the Survival of Our Planet Lisa Joyce Lucero, 2025 We now live in the Anthropocene the first epoch of our own making We have altered the Earth's atmosphere landscapes and bodies of water The burning of fossil fuels has warmed the planet enough to change weather patterns melt glaciers and raise sea levels a situation made worse by rampant deforestation and resource depletion Many look to governments to confront these existential challenges In Maya Wisdom and the Survival of Our Planet Lisa Lucero looks to the Maya past and present Through the lens of the traditional Maya inclusive worldview one in which humans are part of the world not separate from it and where everything is connected Lucero provides a practical roadmap on how to sustainably address climate change and environmental degradation She shows how the Maya collaborate with rather than try to subjugate forests animals soils water and other nonhuman entities The Maya sustainably farmed for millennia and provided goods labor and services to their kings in cities In return kings performed vital ceremonies to the Rain God Chahk other gods and ancestors to replenish urban reservoirs that lasted throughout the long dry season a balancing act that worked for over 1 000 years Lucero shows how approaches to tackle climate change from the bottom up beginning with the family or household are just as important as top down governmental mitigation and how learning from traditional knowledge is vital for the survival of us all She brings to life the tropical jungles of Central America and reveals the valuable solutions its ancient and contemporary inhabitants offer us to save our planet

Far Beyond the Moon David P. D. Munns, Karin

Nickelsen, 2021-06-01 From the beginning of the space age scientists and engineers have worked on systems to help humans survive for the astounding 28 500 days 78 years needed to reach another planet They've imagined and tried to create a little piece of Earth in a bubble travelling through space inside of which people could live for decades centuries or even millennia Far Beyond the Moon tells the dramatic story of engineering efforts by astronauts and scientists to create artificial habitats for humans in orbiting space stations as well as on journeys to Mars and beyond Along the way David P D Munns and Karin Nickelsen explore the often unglamorous but very real problem posed by long term life support How can we recycle biological wastes to create air water and even food in meticulously controlled artificial environments Together they draw attention to the unsung participants of the space program the sanitary engineers nutritionists plant physiologists bacteriologists and algologists who created and tested artificial environments for space based on chemical technologies of life support as well as the bioregenerative algae systems developed to reuse waste water and nutrients so that we might cope with a space journey of not just a few days but months or more likely years

Nelson, 2018-02-27 Pushing Our Limits is a fresh examination of Biosphere 2 the world's first man made mini world twenty five years after its first closure experiment Author Mark Nelson one of the eight crew members locked in the enclosure during the 1991-1993 experiment offers a compelling insider's view of the dramatic story behind Biosphere 2 Biosphere 2 helped change public understanding of what our global biosphere is and how it provides for our health and well being However the experiment is often dismissed as a failure and news outlets at the time focused on interpersonal conflicts and unexpected problems that arose Delving past the sensationalism Nelson presents the goals and results of the experiment addresses the implications of the project for our global situation and discusses how the project's challenges and successes can change our thinking about Biosphere 1 the Earth Pushing Our Limits offers insights from the project that can help us deal with our global ecological challenges It also shows the intense and fulfilling connection the biospherians felt with their life support system and how this led to their vigilant attention to its needs With current concerns of sustainability and protection of our global biosphere as well as the challenge of learning how to support life in space and on Mars the largest longest and most important experiment in closed ecosystems is more relevant than ever The book explores Biosphere 2 s lessons for changing technology to support and not destroy nature and for reconnecting people to a healthy relationship with nature Water Conservation Wild Pages Press,2017-05-07 Water conservation journal with 150 lined pages great for storing all your important details Wild Pages Press are publishers of unique journals and notebooks stylish and compact great for everyday use The Green Blue Book Thomas M.
