"The Uses of Excess in Visual and Material Culture, 1600?010 " Julia Skelly, 2017-07-05 Directing unprecedented attention to how the idea of excess has been used by both producers and consumers of visual and material culture this collection examines the discursive construction of excess in relation to art material goods and people in various global contexts The contributors illuminate how excess has been perceived quantified and constructed revealing in the process how beliefs about excess have changed over time and how they have remained consistent The collection as a whole underscores the fact that the concept of excess must always be considered critically whether in scholarship or in lived experience Although the idea of excess has often been used to shame and degrade many of the essays in this collection demonstrate how it has also been used as a strategy for self fashioning transgression and empowerment particularly by women and queer subjects This volume examines a range of material including diamonds ceramics paintings dollhouses caricatures interior design and theatrical performances Each case study sheds new light on how excess was used in a specific cultural context including canonical sites of study such as the Netherlands in the eighteenth century Victorian Britain and Paris in the 1920s and under studied contexts such as Canada and Sweden The Victoria and Albert Museum Pocket Diary 2009 Frances Lincoln Editors, Frances Lincoln Staff, 2008-04-28 A celebration of the jewels gems and glamour held in the V A Museum

A Philosophy of Fashion Through Film Laura T. Di Summa, 2022-10-20 The question of whether movies can deliver philosophical content is a leading topic in the cognitive and analytic debate on film But instead of turning to the well trodden terrain of narrative and emotional engagement this is the first time fashion and costume choices are analyzed to demonstrate how movies can be said to be doing philosophy Considering how fashion and costumes can deliver the epistemic content of a film and act as a guidance to the interpretation of the philosophical content of a film Laura T Di Summa examines fashion and costume choices in classical and contemporary films She discusses a number of cinematic examples and the costumes and fashion elements within them illustrating the importance of issues such as the performative side of fashion the alteration between novelty and repetition the pivotal role of the body and the relation between fashion style and individual as well as collective identity Featuring close examinations of 1950s melodramas Hollywood blockbusters and documentaries such as All That Heaven Allows Mad Max Fury Road and McQueen Di Summa uses an innovative new lens to provide fresh philosophical analysis of films The result is not only an advancement of our understanding of the aesthetic means through which film can do philosophy but the first insights into a philosophy of fashion John McAndrew's Modernist Vision Mardges

Bacon,2018-11-06 John McAndrew's Modernist Vision tells the compelling story of the architect scholar and curator John McAndrew who played a key role in redefining modernism in the United States from the 1930s onward The designer of the Vassar College Art Library arguably the first modern interior on a college campus and the curator of architecture at the Museum of Modern Art in New York from 1937 to 1941 McAndrew was instrumental in creating a distinct and innovative aesthetic that bridged the European modernist lineage and American regional vernacular Providing a fascinating glimpse into McAndrew's life his associations with important architects and artists and the historical context that shaped his work this book is a thoroughly researched testament to a man who left a powerful mark on the evolution of American architecture
