The Virtuous Citizen Patriotism In A Multicultural Society:

The Virtuous Citizen Tim Soutphommasane, 2012-08-16 Explores the proper place that patriotism can have in a liberal multicultural society Citizenship and Multiculturalism in Western Liberal Democracies Leah Bradshaw, David Edward Tabachnick, 2017-03-16 This volume explores some of the tensions and pressures of citizenship in Western liberal democracies Citizenship has adopted many guises in the Western context although historically citizenship is attached only to some variant of democracy How democracy is configured is thus at the core of citizenship Beginning in ancient Greece citizenship is attached to the notion of a public sphere of deliberation open only to a small number of males Nonetheless we take from these origins an understanding of citizenship that is attached to friendship preservation of a distinct community and adherence to law These early conceptions of citizenship in the west have been dramatically altered in the modern context by the ascendancy of individual rights and equality expanding the inclusiveness of definition of citizenship The universality of rights claims has led to debate about the legitimacy of the nation state and questioning of borders A further development in our understanding of citizenship and one that has shifted citizenship studies considerably in the last few decades is the backlash against the universalism of rights in the defense of cultural recognition within democratic polities Multiculturalism as a broad spectrum of citizenship studies defends the autonomy and recognition of cultural and sometimes religious identity within an overarching scheme of rights and equality This collection draws upon the many threads of citizenship in the Western tradition to consider how all of them are still extant and contentious in contemporary liberal democracy The Labour Party under Ed Miliband Eunice Goes, 2016-04-08 By charting the ideas that informed and shaped Ed Miliband's attempt to re-imagine social democracy this book shows that he tried but failed in that task This failure is one of the several reasons why Milibandism was so overwhelmingly rejected by voters at the 2015 general election

Multiculturalism and Interculturalism Nasar Meer, 2016-02-02 Both interculturalism and multiculturalism address the question of how states should forge unity from ethnic cultural and religious diversity But what are the dividing lines between interculturalism and multiculturalism This volume brings together some of the most prominent scholars in the field to address these two different approaches With a Foreword by Charles Taylor and an Afterword by Bhikhu Parekh this collection spans European North American and Latin American debates Patriotism in East Asia Jun-Hyeok Kwak, Koichiro Matsuda, 2014-09-15 Current territorial disputes between the Northeast Asian countries have stimulated a resurgence of bellicose nationalism and threaten to upset recent efforts to achieve regional cooperation and economic integration in East Asia Alongside this debates over pre 1945 Japanese wartime atrocities aggravated by still unresolved territorial disputes between Japan and its neighbours have triggered diplomatic conflicts in Japanese South Korean relations virulent anti Japanese protests in China and a dramatic increase of right wing nationalism in Japan Many have perceived these phenomena as inevitable corollaries inasmuch as they regard the Northeast Asian countries as historically homogeneous and nationalistic states and have begun to question the feasibility of the post Cold War efforts to replace nationalism with a moderate version of civic solidarity This book contributes to the debates surrounding patriotism and nationalism in Northeast Asia and investigates the feasibility of non ethnocentric patriotism in countries across the region In doing so it highlights the differences between Asian and Western concepts of republican patriotism via theoretical discussions of the evolving discourses on nationalism patriotism democracy and civic solidarity The chapters combine theoretical discussion with historical case studies such as modern state building in late Qing Dynasty nineteenth century Japanese political thought and the twentieth century Korean independence movement In turn the contributors explore the possibilities for republican patriotism in contemporary Northeast Asia with a focus on the Chinese term minzu and the possibilities it holds for an alternative configuration of national identity in the age of globalization Maruyama Masao's theories of nationalism in Japan the National Security Law in South Korea and the impact it has had on the country's political culture and the Taiwanese movement for self governance Patriotism in East Asia will appeal to students and scholars of Asian politics political theory Asian history and peace studies as well as to those interested in issues of nationalism

The Politics of Citizenship in Immigrant Democracies Geoffrey Brahm Levey, Ayelet Shachar, 2017-10-02 This book brings together scholars from various disciplines to explore current issues and trends in the rethinking of migration and citizenship from the perspective of three major immigrant democracies Australia Canada and the United States These countries share a history of pronounced immigration and emigration extensive experience with diasporic and mobile communities and with integrating culturally diverse populations They also share an approach to automatic citizenship based on the principle of jus soli as opposed to the traditionally common jus sanguinis of continental Europe and a comparatively open attitude towards naturalization Some of these characteristics are now under pressure due to the restrictive turn in citizenship and migration worldwide This volume explores the significance of political structures political agents and political culture in shaping processes of inclusion and exclusion in these diverse societies This book was originally published as a special issue of Citizenship Studies

Citizenship in Transnational Perspective Jatinder Mann, 2017-06-15 This edited collection explores citizenship in a transnational perspective with a focus on Australia Canada and New Zealand It adopts a multi disciplinary approach and offers historical legal political and sociological perspectives The two overarching themes of the book are ethnicity and Indigeneity The contributions in the collection come from widely respected international scholars who approach the subject of citizenship from a range of perspectives some arguing for a post citizenship world others questioning the very concept itself or its application to Indigenous nations

Rurality, Diversity and Schooling Neroli Colvin, 2024-02-22 Migration and refugee settlement policies have brought significant demographic changes to some regional centres over the past two decades and this book focuses on one such centre a mid size town in New South Wales Historically social relations in rural settlements have been enacted primarily within a white black Anglo Indigenous binary but in recent years this town has become home to several hundred refugees from Africa South East Asia and the Middle East Using interview observational and documentary data the book examines how multiculturalism is understood valued and lived in the town s two public high schools Schools are key sites for everyday interactions between people from diverse ethnic cultural language and religious backgrounds Drawing on critical theories of discourse space and race the book examines a host of anxieties in the town and its schools about recent demographic changes revealing how notions of rurality steeped in colonial narratives about European settlement productivity and racial superiority continue to shape how difference is perceived and experienced in regional communities

Out of Character Rogier van Reekum, 2023-12-28 This book offers a detailed and innovative study of the Dutch case of politics of citizenship and nationalism by focusing on public and political controversies in the crucial period of 1973 2015 By foregrounding the crucial role of performance and narration in public and political debates this book shows how discourses of citizenship and nationhood are deeply shaped by established repertoires and long lasting lines of disagreement about difference and belonging in the Netherlands While change did occur within the Dutch context during this period this book reveals that these transformations were not primarily driven by purportedly permissive and accommodating responses to immigration and cultural diversity Instead it unveils a Dutch landscape deeply marked by challenges related to race democracy and liberal exceptionalism In doing so the book contributes to ongoing debates in the study of citizenship nationalism and intellectual history around the merits and limitations of liberal politics of inclusion It critically extends concepts and arguments in cultural pragmatics and problematizes the common hope that public debate may progressively resolve antagonisms over difference With a focus on empirical research the book meticulously reconstructs the emergence of national identity debates in recent decades and vividly portrays the dynamics and tensions of these public performances while dissecting their role in shaping the nation s identity and its boundaries The book covers a crucial period of the European politics of citizenship and nationhood in which anti immigrant politics new modes of racism and the bordering of Europe took shape It locates the Dutch case within these developments and insists on the importance of historical continuity and narrative performance This book demonstrates that the Netherlands and Europe more broadly has not overcome the profound consequences of its past

Guérard de Latour, 2013-10-29 Multiculturalism has come under considerable attack in political practice yet the fact of diversity remains and with it the need to establish fair terms of integration This book defends multiculturalism as the most coherent and practicable approach to liberal integration but one that is not without the need for crucial reformulation

History and Hope in American Literature Benjamin Railton, 2016-11-10 Throughout history creative writers have often tackled topical subjects as a means to engage and influence public discourse American authors those born in the States and those who became naturalized citizens have consistently found ways to be critical of the more painful pieces of the country's past yet have done so with the patriotic purpose of strengthening the nation's community and future In History and Hope in American Literature Models of Critical Patriotism Ben Railton argues that it is only through an in depth engagement with history especially its darkest and most agonizing elements that one can come to a genuine form of patriotism that employs constructive criticism as a tool for civic engagement The author argues that it is through such critical patriotism that one can imagine and move toward a hopeful shared future for all Americans Railton highlights twelve works of American literature that focus on troubling periods in American history including John Steinbeck's The Grapes of Wrath David Bradley's The Chaneysville Incident Louise Erdrich's Love Medicine Tony Kushner's Angels in America Junot Diaz's The Brief Wondrous Life of Oscar Wao and Dave Eggers's What Is the What From African and Native American histories to the Depression and the AIDS epidemic Caribbean and Rwandan refugees and immigrants to global climate change these works help readers confront understand and transcend the most sorrowful histories and issues In so doing the authors of these books offer hard won hope that can help point people in the direction of a more perfect union History and Hope in American Literature will be of interest to students and practitioners of American literature and history

Civic Nationalisms in Global Perspective Jasper Trautsch, 2019-03-14 Recent events around the globe have cast doubt on the assumption that as a result of increasing cross border migrations and global interdependencies nation states are becoming more inclusive ethnic forms of identification more and more a thing of the past and processes of supranational integration progressively more acceptable Xenophobic forms of nationalism have once again been on the rise as became strikingly visible through the results of the Brexit referendum the election of Donald

Trump and the inclusion of the Lega Nord in the Italian government It is timely therefore to inquire how multiethnic forms of nationalism can be re promoted and for this purpose to re investigate the concept of civic nationalism This book assembles case studies that analyse the historical practices of civic or quasi civic nationalisms from around the world By allowing for global comparisons the collection of articles seeks to shed new light on pressing questions faced by nation states around the world today Are truly civic nationalisms even possible Which strategies have multiethnic nation states pursued in the past to foster national sentiment How can nation states generate social solidarity without resorting to primordialism Can the historical example of civic or quasi civic nation states offer useful lessons to contemporary nation states for successfully integrating immigrants

Becoming Australian Brian Galligan, Martina Boese, Melissa Phillips, 2014-06-16 The year 2013 is the 40th anniversary of the end of the White Australia policy In these four decades Australia's immigration policy has shifted from a primary concern with cultural homogeneity or Britishness to a focus on demand based skills through an increasingly fine tuned system of points tests occupation lists and employer sponsored visas Despite disproportionate politicisation of asylum seekers in recent public discourse the intake of refugees and humanitarian entrants has remained relatively small While Australia's contemporary migrant and refugee intake is truly multicultural and governments continue to adhere to an official multicultural policy integration into the Australian community and culture has been the dominant process especially for second and third generation Australians Australian identity and citizenship have changed in the last forty years making Australia and its people more pluralistic and richly diverse Becoming Australian focuses on the ways in which migrants and refugees meet the challenges of becoming Australian and the transformative process for Australia and its people as they incorporate the continuing influx of multicultural peoples

Kim Esther McIntosh Clive Pearson Scott Paeth Larry L Rasmussen Hilary Russell Nicholas Sagovsky Dirk J Smit William Storrar David Tombs Rudolf von Sinner Jenny Anne Wright and Yvonne Zimmerman Essays on Secularism and Multiculturalism Tariq Modood, 2019-04-25 Whether the recently settled religious minorities Muslims in particular can be accommodated as religious groups in European countries has become a central political question and threatens to create long term fault lines In this collection of essays Tariq Modood argues that to grasp the nature of the problem we have to see how Muslims have become a target of a cultural racism Islamophobia Yet the problem is not just one of anti racism but of an understanding of multicultural citizenship of how minority identities including those formed by race ethnicity and religion can be incorporated into national identities so all can have a sense of belonging together This means that the tendency amongst some to exclude religious identities from public institutions and the re making of national identities has to be challenged Modood suggests that this can be done in a principled yet pragmatic way by drawing on Western Europe s moderate political secularism and eschewing forms of secularism that offer religious groups a second class citizenship
