

The background of the entire cover is a photograph. In the foreground, a clear glass is filled with water, showing reflections and refractions. Behind it, a green plastic water bottle is visible but heavily blurred, creating a sense of depth. The lighting is soft, with a mix of warm and cool tones.

Unnatural Law David R. Boyd, 2011-11-01 While governments assert that Canada is a world leader in sustainability Unnatural Law provides extensive evidence to refute this claim A comprehensive assessment of the strengths and weaknesses of Canadian environmental law the book provides a balanced critical examination of Canada's record focusing on laws and policies intended to protect water air land and biodiversity Three decades of environmental laws have produced progress in a number of important areas such as ozone depletion protected areas and some kinds of air and water pollution However Canada's overall record remains poor In this vital and timely study David Boyd explores the reasons why some laws and policies foster progress while others fail He ultimately concludes that the root cause of environmental degradation in industrialized nations is excessive consumption of resources Unnatural Law outlines the innovative changes in laws and policies that Canada must implement in order to respond to the ecological imperative of living within the Earth's limits The struggle for a sustainable future is one of the most daunting challenges facing humanity in the 21st century Everyone academics lawyers students policy makers and concerned citizens interested in the health of the Canadian and global environments will find Unnatural Law an invaluable source of information and insight For more information on Unnatural Law visit David Boyd's site www.unnaturallaw.com Government's Greatest Achievements Paul C.

Light, 2010-12-01 In an era of promises to create smaller more limited government Americans often forget that the federal government has amassed an extraordinary record of successes over the past half century Despite seemingly insurmountable odds it helped rebuild Europe after World War II conquered polio and other life threatening diseases faced down communism attacked racial discrimination reduced poverty among the elderly and put men on the moon In Government's Greatest Achievements Paul C Light explores the federal government's most successful accomplishments over the previous five decades and anticipates the most significant challenges of the next half century While some successes have come through major legislation such as the 1965 Medicare Act or large scale efforts like the Apollo space program most have been achieved through collections of smaller often unheralded statutes Drawing on survey responses from 230 historians and 220 political scientists at colleges and universities nationwide Light ranks and summarizes the fifty greatest government achievements from 1944 to 1999 The achievements were ranked based on difficulty importance and degree of success Through a series of twenty vignettes he paints a vivid picture of the most intense government efforts to improve the quality of life both at home and abroad from enhancing health care and workplace safety to expanding home ownership to improving education to protecting endangered species to strengthening the national defense The book also examines how Americans perceive government's greatest achievements and reveals what they consider to be its most significant failures America is now calling on the government to resolve another complex difficult problem the defeat of terrorism Light concludes by discussing this enormous task as well as government's other greatest priorities for the next fifty years A Drinker's Guide to Pure Water
